TEST DICTATOR BILL TODAY

NOD FROM LEWIS FIXES PRICE FOR COAL, SAYS HOLT

Revoked Same Way, He Tells Senate.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 6.—[Special.]—Senator Rush D. Holt [D., W. Va.] charged in the senate today that the National Bituminous Coal commission neither fixed its minimum prices for coal nor revoked them after they had been declared illegal by the courts.

The prices were fixed, Senator Holt charged, by outsiders through John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers and C. I. O. dictator, and Senator Joseph F. Guffey [D., Pa.], author of the coal control act. They were ordered revoked, he said, at a secret meeting in the Mayflower hotel dominated by John L. Lewis.

In a speech assailing a committee amendment to the $130,998,050 interior department appropriation bill, which increased the coal commission's appropriation from $2,700,000 to $3,000,000, Senator Holt said the money was wanted "to put a few more hungry politicians on the pay roll" in order to "help carry the states of Pennsylvania, Indiana, and Kentucky."

Protests Voted Down.

The amendment was adopted in a roar of "ayes" and the senate passed the appropriation bill without further ado.

Holt said the coal commission was conceived in politics, born in politics, and would die in politics. He said the legislation creating the commission, which he called the "goofey act," was "passed in order to pay off a campaign contribution of half a million dollars donated by the miners through John L. Lewis to the Democratic campaign fund."

The official policies and activities of the commission are controled by the C. I. O. dictator, and the vast patronage machine is the perquisite of Senator Guffey, Pennsylvania Democratic boss, Holt charged.

Tells of Hotel Parley.

"It may interest you to know that the commission did not set the coal prices," Holt told the senate. "The coal prices were set, the commissioners were given a day or two to look them over, then they were given out to the country after great pressure by the senator from Pennsylvania [Guffey] and others to get the coal prices up.

"I will tell you how they were revoked. The prices of the coal industry of America were revoked at the Mayflower hotel; and I can give the exact suite number if any one desires it. I want to read the names to you. Representing the commission were Chairman Charles F. Hosford and Commissioners John C. Lewis, Thomas S. Haymond, and Percy Tetlow.

Comes to Oil Machine.

"Mr. Hosford would not have been there had it not been for the fact that the Pennsylvania political machine was squeaking a little and he came over in order that he might oil the thing up a little.

"John L. Lewis was represented by his brother, Denny Lewis. Denny, you know, looks after the federal workers.

"Judge Warrum, who wrote the bill for Senator Guffey, was present, as was Tom Kennedy, who now is trying to take over the Democratic party in the state of Pennsylvania."

Kennedy is lieutenant governor and candidate for governor of Pennsylvania and secretary treasurer of Lewis' United Mine Workers of America.

"We all know how the commission was named," Holt said. "Four United States senators got one each, 'Boss' Pendergast got another, and John L. Lewis got the remaining two."

Members and Backers Listed.

Holt referred to Mr. Hosford of Pennsylvania, Guffey's protégé, who recently resigned as chairman; Commissioner Pleas E. Greenlee of Indiana, protégé of Senator Sherman Minton [D., Ind.]; Commissioner Haymond of Kentucky, protégé of Senator Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.] the majority leader; Commissioner C. E. Smith of West Virginia, protégé of Senator Matthew W. Neely [D., W. Va.]; Commissioner Walter H. Maloney of Kansas City, representative of the Pendergast machine; Commissioner Percy Tetlow of Ohio, and Commissioner John C. Lewis of Iowa, the two labor members who were put on the board by John L. Lewis.

"Of course the commission was organized entirely upon a political basis and it was according to that

SUMNERS TELLS OF MEASURE'S GRAVE PORTENT

Representative Sumners.

Washington, D. C., April 6.—[Special.]—The congressional leader who is generally conceded to have administered last year the verbal death blow to President Roosevelt's court packing plan took the floor of the house today to urge the members to go slowly in their consideration of the government reorganization bill. The measure faces its first main test tomorrow when the house will vote on a motion to strike out the enacting clause.

Representative Hatton W. Sumners [D., Tex.], chairman of the house judiciary committee, whose views influence many members, told the house that the reorganization measure, popularly labeled the dictator bill, comes before the members in one of the most critical, possibly one of the most tragic, periods in all history.

Pleads for Responsibility.

He did not urge defeat of the bill nor did he advise its passage. In the calm, measured tones for which he is famous, he depicted the seriousness of the decision which the house must make and pleaded that the legislators remember their responsibility to the people.

Last year, when senate proponents of the measure to enlarge the Supreme court were still fighting furiously for the President's measure, Sumners made an address in the house which definitly determined the issue against the bill. It showed to the administration that even if it won the fight in the senate the house would not accept the bill.

Sumners' speech today was more restrained in character than that epochal address. He offered only one bit of advice. He told the members he did not believe they should automatically kill the reorganization bill tomorrow by upholding the motion of Representative John J. O'Connor [D., N. Y.] to strike out the enacting clause. General debate on the measure was completed today.

Aware of Grave Period.

"I believe," said Sumners, amid an attentive silence such as the house rarely gives a speaker, "that there are more members of congress in this house today who are perfectly willing to sacrifice their seats, who are willing to become political casualties, for the sake of what they believe than in any period in the last decade. The members assembled here this afternoon are conscious of the fact that they are in responsibility in a great age.

"Those of us who are familiar with the history of our country, who have read the stories of the period of the revolution, when great issues confronted the people, wished perhaps when we were children that we had lived in that age. We did not realize then that we ourselves were to live in an age equally great and in some respects greater.

"When we came to this congress, not many of us perhaps appreciated the fact that we would sit here in the council of the nation when the issues of perpetuity and of security would be involved."

Points to Trend Against Bill.

A year ago the reorganization bill would have passed the house without much discussion, Sumners remarked. Today, he said, the trend is against it.

"The why of this is one of the important things for us to consider," he continued. "When this administration came to governmental responsibility, it did so when this country confronted the possibility of economic collapse. We witnessed a recurrence of one of the most fascinating phenomena to be observed in the long history of Anglo-Saxon government.

"We are going to find out something about government in the next few years that we have not known before. We are going to learn that while government is the agent of the people, the people are the agents of government and have to do its work.

Sweitzer, Ex-County Official, Dies

Party Leader of Democrats for 25 Years

Robert M. Sweitzer.

Robert M. Sweitzer, who was a power in Cook county Democratic politics for 25 years, died last night in St. Anne's hospital. He was 69 years old.

Mr. Sweitzer, former county clerk and county treasurer, had been a patient in the hospital almost continuously since last September, suffering from diabetes and a foot infection. Although his condition had been grave for the last week, his death resulted from a sudden heart attack as relatives were becoming somewhat encouraged over prospects for improvement.

Son and Daughters in Hospital.

His son, Robert M. Sweitzer Jr., and his two daughters, Margaret Sweitzer and Mrs. Roger Scott Jr., were leaving the hospital after a visit with their father when they heard a physician being summoned to his room for emergency duty. They hurried back upstairs, but Mr. Sweitzer already was dead. Their mother, Mrs. Alice Jane Kevil Sweitzer, was at the family home, 3522 Jackson boulevard.

Sweitzer, a native of Chicago, was born May 10, 1868, the son of Martin J. and Sarah Lamping Sweitzer. He attended grammar school and St. Patrick's academy here, then went to the Christian Brothers' college of St. Louis, where he received the degree of master of arts.

Completing his education in 1884, Sweitzer became a salesman for the W. F. McLaughlin Tea and Coffee company, leaving this place for the J. H. Walker Dry Goods company. In 1893 he joined the John V. Farwell Dry Goods company, with which he remained for 17 years, until he became active in politics. In 1910 he was elected county clerk, largely through the influence of Roger Sullivan, old time Democratic boss of Illinois.

Popularity Aids Him.

But, once launched in politics, Sweitzer's personal popularity, which had stood him in good stead as a salesman, returned him again and again to the same office, generally as the leader of his ticket. In 1934, after 24 years as clerk, he ran for county treasurer and was elected, taking office Dec. 3, 1934.

It was in the early spring of 1935, with Sweitzer's popularity and influence at its peak, that there began the rumbles of the scandal which eventually ousted him from office and ended his long public career with disgrace. Michael J. Flynn, who had succeeded Sweitzer as county clerk, reported apparent discrepancies in the accounts of the office and asked an audit.

The audit, which went thoroughly

HEARS JULIANA'S MATE HAS HAD A QUARREL WITH MOTHER-IN-LAW

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, April 6.—Prince Bernhard, husband of Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands, is cruising off the south coast of Italy aboard the Jugo-Slav freighter Galeb, the Daily Mail's correspondent at The Hague said today. He is due to return to Holland on April 25.

"Minor" differences, which are said to have arisen between Queen Wilhelmina and Bernhard, the correspondent said, were chiefly caused by the fact that Juliana follows her "modern young husband" in many of his ideas.

"The question of Sunday observance caused a violent discussion, and the queen tried in vain to prevent the prince and princess from engaging in boating and other sports on Sundays," the dispatch said. "Another difference between the queen and princess occurred when Juliana wanted to accompany Bernhard on the cruise but the queen pointed out in strong terms that as the princess' child, Beatrix, was only a few weeks old it was impossible."

Judge Wears $14 Overcoat and Defendant Goes to Jail

Belvidere, Ill., April 6.—[Special.]—Circuit Judge Arthur E. Fisher of Rockford let it be known in court here today that he has worn an overcoat the last two years for which he paid $14. Frank Streeter, brought before the court for failure to pay his divorced wife, Hazel, alimony since last September was endeavoring to account for how he had expended $525 he had inherited. He listed $20 for an overcoat. "That's too much," said the judge. "I'm wearing one now I got two years ago for $14." The judge sentenced Streeter to 100 days in jail.

After the heaviest April snowfall in its history [9.1 inches had been recorded at 6:30 p. m.] Chicago had dug its principal trafic arteries out of the drifts and restored transportation services to normal last night. The fall ceased in the late afternoon.

The official forecast indicated that there would probably be more snow today, but not enough to cause great inconvenience. Temperatures are expected to remain below the seasonal normal at least until tomorrow.

Much of Nation Affected.

From all parts of the country east of the Rocky mountains came reports of unusually severe weather conditions. From Wyoming and Colorado eastward to New York there was a broad snow belt that reached into southern Illinois and southern Indiana. Farther south rains caused flood condition in many regions. Small tornadoes ripped through parts of Louisiana and Alabama, and Atlantic seaboard cities had minimum temperatures that threatened all-time records.

The storm swept into Chicago late Tuesday night on fresh northeast winds. With the mercury clinging close to the freezing point the snow quickly covered the streets, roofs, and yards with a heavy coating of white. By daybreak the drifts were sufficiently deep in the city and suburbs to delay surface lines and automotive transportation.

The work of clearing the streets and boulevards was organized at once. About 1,400 city workers took the snow from the loop and outlying boulevards. The surface lines put 80 plows into service and the bus lines sixty. The park district also sent out numerous crews, and by noon service was regular although slightly delayed. The elevated lines had only slight delays.

Plane Schedules Canceled.

Airplanes on the regular lines were kept in hangars, conditions being regarded as too hazardous for flying.

In the rural parts of the metropolitan area highways were drifted and many of them had not been opened late last night. There were complaints from some residents that highway workers, too busy with political campaigning, were neglecting their snow clearing duties.

In Lake county more than a hundred automobiles, according to Sherif Lawrence Doolittle, were stalled in the drifts on country roads. Patrols sent out by the sherif took many of the motorists to shelter.

The Chicago Motor club announced last night that practically all roads 50 miles north and south of the city, and from the Mississippi to a point 150 miles east, were virtually impassable. In southern Illinois and Indiana freezing rains were coating the roadways with ice. Motorists were advised to avoid all travel in the country, if possible.

Gravel Boat Rams Bridge.

During the heaviest snowfall the gravel boat Sumatra, bound up the Chicago river, crashed into the Lake street bridge. The rail, sidewalks, and steel braces of the structure, which failed to lift because of an ice coating, were damaged.

Gardening experts predicted that spring flowers and shrubs would be helped rather than hurt by the snow, which was a protection against the sub-freezing temperatures. Winter wheat also had benefited, they said. In the more southern districts, where fruit trees were already in bloom, an ice coating on the blossoms may result in shortened crops.

Tornado Area Small.

The southern tornadoes were confined to a small area near the gulf coast. At Mexia, Ala., northeast of Mobile, five persons were injured and eight homes were blown down. Damage also was reported at Mount Vernon, Ala., and Beaver Creek, La.

Telephone communication and electric lines were damaged in many Indiana cities, including Fort Wayne, Bluffton, Rochester, Decatur, Alexandria, and Muncie. At Peoria, Ill., the Illinois river was reported near flood stage.

OPERA SINGER LIKES MUSIC OF ZOO; STAYS FOR LENGTHY ENCORE

New York, April 6.—(AP)—The wolves howled, the hyenas laughed, and the monkeys chattered at the Bronx zoo, and Marjorie Lawrence, Metropolitan Opera soprano, enjoyed the music. She forgot to look at her watch and was locked in at closing time. She didn't get out for three hours.

BAN ON PRIMARY PARTY CHANGES STIRS NEW ROW

Courtney Says Order Is Illegal.

BY PARKE BROWN.

A new row between the warring Democratic factions in Cook county was started yesterday by County Clerk Michael J. Flynn's instruction to election judges and clerks in 527 precincts in the suburbs that a voter cannot change parties at this primary.

Under this ruling there are 190,422 that will be restricted on Tuesday to voting in the same party in which they voted two years ago. They include all the voters in the north shore towns from Evanston to the county line, all of the voters in Oak Park, River Forest, Maywood, Harvey, and scores of smaller municipalities.

The Chicago election board earlier had issued instructions to the precinct officials in its territory, which includes the 3,648 precincts in Chicago and 202 precincts in country towns, allowing party changes. Flynn's adherence to his previous position and the position of other election authorities was a shock to the Horner-Courtney forces who have urged Republican voters to go into the Democratic primary next Tuesday and vote for County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki.

Courtney Condemns Action.

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney immediately issued a public statement contending that Flynn is construing the law improperly and urging voters who wish to change parties and meet opposition from the precinct officials to vote by affidavit, a method which he said will be legal.

At the same time it was learned that the regular county committee has secretly been contemplating for some time an appeal to the courts to prohibit the changing of parties in the precincts controled by the election board.

The bone of contention in this matter is the provision of the state primary law which provides that a registered citizen may vote in the primary of any party provided he has not voted in another party within two years before that primary. The last Illinois primary was held on April 14, 1936—two days less than two years before the primary next Tuesday.

Instructions in Booklet.

The opposing instructions of the election authorities within Cook county are published in new booklets. The election board booklet, on the cover of which appears Judge Jarecki's name, says:

"It is the opinion of the board of election commissioners that the two year limitation upon the right to change primary voting means two political years, or the time between one state and county primary and the next state and county primary, and does not necessarily mean two calendar years or twice three hundred and sixty-five days."

May Not Shift Party.

"A person who voted a Republican primary ballot April 14, 1936, may not lawfully vote a Democratic ballot April 12, 1938. A person who voted a Democratic primary ballot April 14, 1936, may not lawfully vote a Republican primary ballot April 12, 1938."

Since this instruction did not include a statement of legal reasons upon which it was based, County Clerk Flynn was asked to state the basis for it.

"That always has been the ruling," he replied, "and since it is a very simple question of very simple law there is no excuse for departing from it at this time. It is true there never has been a court decision on the present primary statute, but the statutes are so plain that any layman can understand them."

He said that his legal adviser is Daniel A. Carey, attorney and chief clerk for the election department of the county clerk's office. He added that Attorney Charles Center Case and other election law experts had held in the same way.

Cites Illinois Law.

Carey, a veteran of twenty years' experience, said the whole controversy is settled by a reading of a paragraph from the Illinois statutes, a part of the act adopted specifically to cover the construction of all statutes.

The paragraph he pointed out [Illinois revised statutes, state bar association edition, chapter 131, article 1, tenth paragraph] reads as follows:

State's Attorney Courtney's typewritten statement to the press, however, said that Attorney General Kerner gave an opinion in 1934, reaffirmed since that time, that the basis for the reckoning of time under the primary law is not the calendar year.

Quotes from Statute.

He quoted two extracts from the Kerner opinion as follows:

"No power exists in the legislature to control the politics of the citizen or prevent him from changing his political affiliations or belief at any time he may choose to do so."

"The time fixed for holding the primary was the second Tuesday in April whenever that may fall. The legislature knew that this time would not be fixed as to the date of the month but would vary with the years."

After these quotations, State's Attorney Courtney proceeded:

"Under the circumstances it is my duty to inform every voter that any attempt to prevent his voting in this primary on the basis of whether or not he voted in any party in 1936 is an unlawful interference with his right of franchise. Therefore it is my duty to warn every judge and clerk of election and every other person who so interferes with a registered voter in Cook county that he will be performing an illegal act and must personally face the consequence of his action."

The state's attorney then suggested that if a Republican voter is challenged when he attempts to vote in the Democratic primary next Tuesday, or vice versa, he should present his own and a householder's affidavit which, the prosecutor said, would entitle him to vote despite the challenge.

Lawyers familiar with politics expressed doubt that this Courtney proposal will have any material effect. They said the 1936 Republican voter, for example, would think twice before he signed the affidavit required by statute if the prosecutor's suggestion were followed.

How Affidavit Reads.

That affidavit, set forth in the Illinois general primary law, reads in part as follows:

"I, John Doe, do solemnly swear . . . that I have not voted at a primary of another political party within a period of two years prior to this date."

The date of the affidavit would be April 12, 1938. The date of the last primary was April 14, 1936.

Section 64 of the same act reads:

"If any person whose vote is challenged, or any witness sworn under provisions of this act, shall knowingly, wilfully, and corruptly swear falsely, he shall be deemed guilty of perjury and on conviction thereof shall be punished accordingly."

The penalty for perjury is imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than fourteen years.

30 Ousted Deputy Bailifs Put on Special Pay Roll

The thirty deputies discharged by Albert J. Horan, bailif of the Municipal court, were placed on a special pay roll sent to City Controler Robert B. Upham yesterday by John J. Sonsteby, chief justice of the court. The men have been working in the courts on the order of thirty of the municipal judges who ordered them reinstated. Upham asked Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes for an opinion on whether he should pay the men ousted by Horan and whether he should pay men hired subsequently by Horan to take their places.

WAR OVER VOTE LISTS SPREADS TO NEW FRONTS

Democrats Wage Bitter Fight for Control.

Wholesale resignations of precinct election officials, gambling raids, charges and denials of vote frauds and a storm of smaller battles were included in yesterday's story of the primary election which is now only five days away.

It became apparent during the day that the primary, far from being the customary quiet struggle for intraparty control, has become a major campaign between the Democrats of the Nash-Kelly and Horner-Courtney forces, and that large sums of money are being spent to achieve success. Both groups were busy hurling charges and taking action designed to safeguard their interests at the polls.

Nash-Kelly Developments.

Among the developments on the Nash-Kelly front were:

1. Four hundred clerks and judges of election appointed by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki sent in letters similarly worded announcing they could not serve.

2. The board of election commissioners informed Michael L. Igoe and Judge John Prystalski, candidates for the senate and the county judgeship, that work on a check of the poll lists, which they had demanded, must cease. Chairman P. A. Nash of the regular Democratic organization retorted with a threat of legal action to "compel the board to perform its sworn duty."

3. County Clerk Michael J. Flynn issued instructions that judges and clerks of 527 country town precincts refuse Democratic ballots to persons who voted Republican in the 1936 primaries. Conversely, Republican ballots were ordered refused to those who voted Democratic within the past two years.

Horner-Courtney Developments.

Developments within the Horner-Courtney party included:

1. The Chez Paree, a north side night club, was raided by state's attorney's police force as a gambling place. One of the entertainers, Harry Richman, had sung the night before on a radio program for the Igoe-Prystalski group. Two other raids were made during the day.

2. It was disclosed that the state's attorney had in custody a man accused of registering in the 1st ward when his residence is in the 45th.

3. State's Attorney Courtney took issue with Flynn's order about ballots, asserting that the law was being wrongly interpreted with the intention of depriving citizens of their voting rights.

4. A Jarecki worker made public a letter in which he asserted he and his co-workers were being intimidated by city employés.

Quits, Then Denies Resignation.

Not the least sensational of the day's doings was the resignation of Harry A. Lipsky, one of the three election commissioners, and his later retraction and announcement that he was still a member.

During the morning he walked out of the board offices, saying grimly: "I quit; they're driving me nuts." In the afternoon he issued a statement in Judge Jarecki's office, in which he said:

"I have not resigned. Yielding to the severe strain under which we have all worked in the last few weeks, I walked out this morning, remarking, 'I quit. . . . I have told Judge Jarecki after a few hours of rest that I am back on the job to do my best to give Chicago an honest election next Tuesday."

Although the resigning 400 precinct election officers gave plausible reasons for their refusal to serve, it was assumed they had decided it was better not to antagonize the Nash-Kelly forces.

Reported on Horner Lists.

It was said these men were all on lists of proposed officials sent to Judge Jarecki by E. J. McAvoy and Martin Edelstein, Horner-Courtney leaders. In appointing them the county judge passed over recommendations of the Nash-Kelly ward leaders.

The three election commissioners, Alexander J. McKay, chairman; Mrs. Mabel G. Reinecke, and Lipsky, declared in their reply to Igoe and Prystalski that they were convinced no registration cards were lost and that no voter would lose his privileges next Tuesday.

Under arrest as an alleged fraudulent registrant is James O'Neil, 50 years old, of 2314 Sheffield avenue. He was taken into custody Monday by Eugene O'Connor, an investigator for Courtney. He was accused of getting his name on the poll list as a resident at 215 East 18th street. At the request of his attorney O'Neil was released by Judge Jarecki in bond of $1,000. He will be arraigned in the County court today.

Charge Intimidation.

The charge of intimidation was made by Edwin J. Stefan, 2720 Prairie avenue, a voter in the 16th precinct of the 1st ward. He said that representatives of the city electrical, health, fire, and police departments had all harassed him by visits to his home because he supported the Lucas-Jarecki ticket.

His letter, made public by Eugene O'Connor, added that he had been made a "generous offer" by Harold L. Fulsang, a Nash-Kelly precinct captain, if he would desist from his political work, and that he refused the proffered help. Thereafter, he said, he was assailed with threats as well as the annoyance of useless investigations about his home.

STORE MANAGER ROBBED OF $20.

Mrs. Effie Georgeson, manager of a chain dry goods store at 5345 North avenue, was robbed of $20 last night by a gunman who entered and asked to look at some silk stockings.

GENEVIEVE KOWAL.

John Kowal, owner of a handbook at 3455 North Clark street, where Joseph V. Berger, a telephone company employé, was killed Monday night, was booked yesterday by Town Hall police on charges of carrying concealed weapons and conspiracy to commit an unlawful act. He will be arraigned on April 22.

Jack Odens of 3434 Broadway, said to be Kowal's partner, also was to be charged with conspiracy, police said.

Berger was killed while working on the wires for a loudspeaker in the handbook. Kowal said a saw he was using had struck a gun on a shelf below; that the gun fell to the floor and was discharged. Kowal threw the gun in the river, where divers will seek it when the weather clears.

Kowal's wife, Genevieve, appeared in Superior court yesterday before Judge John J. Lupe, who granted dismissal of her divorce plea, which it was indicated last Monday would be granted.

BLAME FOR VOTE MUDDLE CHARGED TO JUDGE JARECKI

Prystalski Hits Record as Election Head.

Judge John Prystalski, Nash-Kelly Democratic organization candidate for county judge, last night charged his opponent, Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, the Horner candidate, with giving comfort to ballot box thieves and with encouraging frauds. At meetings in the west side wards and in Lyons, Prystalski accused Jarecki of "peddling the power of his office and his patronage as county judge to any political body or group that would help him to be reëlected.

Prystalski attributed the mixup in registration lists directly to Jarecki and the election board.

Assails Election Board.

"I charge," he said, "that the election commissioners are deliberately subordinating their official duties in order to campaign for the candidate responsible for their appointment.

"I charge that my opponent is guilty of disfranchising thousands of voters. I charge that he could have prevented fraud, but that he had failed to do so. I charge that he has never given Chicago honest elections.

"I charge that the present county judge has shown himself unworthy and unfit for further public office. Today the registration lists are in worse shape than ever before in the history of the election board.

"The purpose of printing the poll lists, precinct by precinct," Prystalski continued, "is to give all interested persons an opportunity to prevent fraud. How can registration lists be examined if the election authorities conceal 118,000 registrations until the last minute?

"Maybe my opponent and his staf of experts who have had charge of elections for sixteen years will do another Houdini act and pull some more hidden registrations from the magic hat.

"Last night's disclosure [of the 118,000 registrations] is definite and absolute proof of rank inefficiency. The only question remaining is, does it not prove something far worse?"

Igoe Hits Laborites.

Michael L. Igoe, the Nash-Kelly senatorial candidate, assailed two of Gov. Horner's laborite adherents, Martin J. Durkin, state director of labor, and John H. Walker, former president of the state federation of labor. Igoe said they are attempting to discredit the labor indorsements given him.

"They attempt," he added, "to controvert the decisions of the Chicago and Illinois federations, the United Mine Workers, Labor's Nonpartisan league, and a host of local and international union leaders who have indorsed my candidacy.

"I have no desire to hunt butterflies like these with cannon balls but their tactics are typical of the mentally dishonest means and methods which so-called leaders are using in an attempt to win a factional victory next Tuesday."

SENATOR LEWIS INDORSES IGOE FOR NOMINATION

Charlotte, N. C., April 6.—(AP)—James Hamilton Lewis, senior United States senator from Illinois, authorized a statement today saying, "I am for United States District Attorney Michael L. Igoe for nomination as my colleague in the senate."

Senator Lewis made the statement while here for treatment for a throat ailment. The indorsement gave another twist to the Democratic factional dispute in Illinois. Igoe is opposed for the Democratic senatorial nomination by Scott W. Lucas, backed by Gov. Horner. Senator Lewis said:

"As I could not get back to Washington until the first of the week and because the primary elections in Illinois are set for Tuesday, I have announced that I am for Mr. Igoe."

LUCAS DEMANDS IGOE CLARIFY HIS POLITICAL IDEALS

Charges Loyalty Shifts with Audiences.

Scott W. Lucas, Gov. Horner's Democratic senatorial candidate, told his campaign audiences last night that Michael L. Igoe, his Nash-Kelly opponent, is matching the color changes of the chameleon in an on-again, off-again loyalty to President Roosevelt.

"There's a story," Lucas told north side audiences, "of the chameleon which went crazy trying to match colors on a piece of Scotch plaid. That chameleon had an easy job compared with that of my opponent who is trying to convince the audience he happens to be with that he believes in the same things they do.

Charges Loyalty Is Flexible.

"There must have been some Liberty leaguers at that lawyers' luncheon for Igoe yesterday," Lucas declared, "for he suddenly changed his hymn of loyalty to Roosevelt and declared he hadn't said anything of the sort. It seems he was misquoted. That would make him the most widely misquoted man of our generation, because in all his previous campaign talks and in his literature, he has insisted he would be a perfect rubber stamp if he ever gets to the senate—which he won't.

"I think my opponent should let the people know just what he stands for before next Tuesday. We know that he stands for boss rule, because he sought and accepted the indorsement of the Kelly-Nash machine. We know that he is opposed to the return of capable, honest officials to office because he indorced the opponent of Judge Jarecki in the county judgeship fight.

"My opponent has dodged every issue just as he dodged issues in the state legislature and in the house of representatives. In six sessions of the legislature he dodged at least ten labor measures by not voting. Included in these were the anti-blacklist bill, amendments to the mothers' pension bill, and the old age pension bills.

Assails Past Record.

"In congress he found it expedient to be absent on numerous occasions, one of which was on the vote to override the President's veto of the bonus bill. He also dodged the Shephard-Hill bill to take the profits out of war.

"Perhaps he is dodging expressing any opinions now because it might be embarrassing when he gets his orders from Kelly and Nash to vote the other way."

County Judge Jarecki, whose fight for renomination against the Nash-Kelly candidate, Judge John Prystalski, is the leading county contest, spoke at the same meetings with Lucas and promised voters that all persons who are registered will be able to vote Tuesday.

"The campaign conducted against me," he said, "is composed of lies, slander and mud-slinging. Everything but the truth is being said. The sole issue is bossism. Your registration cards will be in their proper place on Tuesday and your votes will be counted."

Lyons Assails Evil of Hidden Taxes; Cheered in Evanston

Evanstonians who braved last night's storm to attend Richard J. Lyons' meeting in the North Shore hotel cheered the candidate for Republican nomination for United States senator in a vigorous attack on the Roosevelt administration.

"The United States government is the biggest corporation in the world," Lyons said. "We have put 17 billion dollars into it in the last five years, but we've had no dividends yet. Your board of directors has failed utterly.

"You and I will replace some of the directors next fall. And in 1940 we'll fire the president of the corporation and get a new one. We will put Republicans and common sense back into office."

Audience Cheers Speaker.

Cheers came from the 200 in the audience when Lyons said:

"There is an invisible guest who sits down at every family meal in this country and helps himself to part of the food—Mr. Roosevelt's tax collector."

Lyons defined the political liberals of the administration as those who take the public's money and spend it liberally.

"I charge," he said, "that the New Deal is deliberately trying to create a class of unemployed to keep millions of voters subservient to the Democratic party. The New Dealers plan to continue doing what they have already done—threaten these unfortunates with taking away their little basket of groceries unless they vote the right way.

Urges Cut in Taxes.

Lyons said business will never recover until the penalty taxes are removed from private enterprises.

From the Evanston meeting he went to the Lincoln Turner hall, where he addressed 400 voters of the 44th, 46th, and 48th wards. A return to Republican principles was demanded by the other speakers at the meetings. Among them were State Senator Simon E. Lantz and Frederick A. Virkus, candidates for nominations as congressmen at large, and William R. McCauley, who is seeking the nomination for state treasurer.

DETROIT STREET CAR, BUS LINES' STRIKE CALLED

Detroit, Mich., April 6.—(AP)—A strike which would tie up operations of Detroit's municipal street car and bus system was called tonight to begin at 4 a. m. tomorrow. The walkout was voted by Local 26 of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employés of America. The strike resulted from a prolonged dispute over seniority.

5,000 Expected to Attend Igoe Labor Club Luncheon

The climax of Michael L. Igoe's drive for the labor vote in his campaign for the Democratic nomination for United States senator will be reached Saturday at a luncheon meeting in the Stevens hotel. Leaders of the Igoe-Prystalski Labor club, expecting 5,000 persons to attend, said all tables in the grand ballroom and Boulevard room have been reserved. Joseph Kehoe, secretary of the Street Car Men's union, will be one of the speakers.

BLUM DICTATOR BILL PASSED BY FRENCH CHAMBER

Cabinet Faces Defeat in Hostile Senate.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 6.—Hopes that France would pull herself together in the near future faded today when the windup of the chamber of deputies' debate on Premier Leon Blum's dictatorial financial bill only increased the existing political confusion.

On paper the government won a victory, for the chamber approved the bill by a vote of 311 to 250, but the slender majority of 61 indicated beyond doubt that the government will be overthrown in the senate on Friday or Saturday.

Few Frenchmen regard this as a catastrophe, but what is serious is that no realignment of forces on which a stronger government can be based emerged from the debate in the chamber.

45,000 Men Out on Strike.

Meanwhile the necessity for a strong government became more urgent than ever when 10,000 more metal workers went on strike. Tonight there were 45,000 men on strike in the Paris region, most of them in aeronautical plants working for the French army.

Though France's war industries should work twenty-four hours, a dey seven days to a week for the next half year he cut down the German and Italian head start in military aviation, several of the country's most important airplane factories have not turned out a machine for the last two weeks.

The worst is that the strikes seem likely to spread further, crippling a still wider sector of the defense industries.

Already some factories not directly affected by the strikes are closing down because they have exhausted their stocks of parts furnished by factories which are occupied by workers.

Unions "Deplore" Strikes.

The reason for the spread of strikes remains obscure. They are deplored, but not officially condemned by union organizations and left wing parties, including the communists.

Now it seems extremely unlikely that Blum will be able to settle the strikes before he is forced to give up his office. His successor, probably Edouard Daladier, minister of defense, will find the job even harder. He could probably use the gendarmerie to evict sitdown strikers without bloodshed, but that would not solve the problem since spontaneous coöperation of the workers is necessary for the efficient execution of the armaments program.

Decide to Stick It Out.

Early this evening it was reported that Blum, discouraged by the slim majority he got in the chamber, was going to resign at once, but the Socialist ministers, after a consultation, decided it was better tactics to go before the senate and be overthrown.

In anticipation of defeat in the senate, the Socialists already are plastering the country with posters, attacking the "stubborn old men" of the senate. Over some of these posters have been pasted smaller ones saying: "Confiscate the Jews' money and give it back to Frenchmen."

NAZIS ASK POLES TO JOIN A PRESS TREATY OF PEACE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, April 6.—Methods of further gagging the press of Poland and Germany were discussed today by Wiktor Skiwski, press chief in the Polish foreign office; government officials connected with the press and a German delegation.

The conference adjourned until it can agree on a German proposal for a German-Polish press nonaggression pact enforced by the censorships of both countries.

Recent anti-Polish attacks in the German press because of alleged discrimination of Polish authorities in Upper Silesia and the Danzig corridor against the German minority there brought more bitter articles in the Polish press against Germany.

The German delegates were told that Poland's censorship was mild compared with the rigid regimentation of the press in Germany and that the Polish government is not willing to impose further restrictions on Polish newspapers.

NAZI DETECTIVES TAKE OVER GUARD OF SCHUSCHNIGG

VIENNA, April 6.—(AP)—It was officially announced today that Nazi Storm Troopers guarding former Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg in Belvedere palace had been withdrawn and replaced by detectives, who keep watch from nearby buildings. The announcement said Schuschnigg was being detained under a ruling he made as minister of justice during the régime of Engelbert Dollfuss. The ruling, based on old monarchial law, provided for "confinement." Hindering the subject's freedom but without a criminal stigma.

Marriage Profitable

MRS. JANE HYDE FENN.

Boston, Mass., April 6.—[Special.]—Because the Maine law provides that an individual becomes an adult immediately on marriage, Mrs. Jane Hyde Fenn, 19 years old, of Brighton, will soon be given the $750,000 fortune left her by her father instead of having to wait until she is 21.

The young woman was married on March 8 to Converse G. Fenn, 24 years old, a struggling young food broker who entered business after one year at Dartmouth. The $750,000 comes from the estate of $2,000,000 that was originally left by her grandfather, John S. Hyde, president of the Windlass company of Bath and also of the Bath Iron Works, a shipbuilding company.

When Mrs. Fenn's father died, the will was probated in Portland, Me. It provided that his daughters should each receive $750,000 when they attain majority.

FRANCE LINES UP ALLIES TO DEFEND CZECHOSLOVAKIA

PARIS, April 6.—(AP)—A plan for an alliance linking soviet Russia, Poland, Rumania, and Jugo-Slavia with France for defense of Czechoslovakia against possible attack from Germany was presented today by Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour.

The proposal was outlined to the French ambassadors to Moscow and Warsaw and the ministers to Prague and Bucharest who were summoned to Paris after Germany annexed Austria. The diplomats were instructed to sound the governments to which they are accredited regarding such a lineup. Similar instructions were sent the French minister to Jugo-Slavia.

Each was told to ask the four powers to state their exact position in case Czechoslovakia, half surrounded by Germany, is the victim of Nazi aggression. It was pointed out that Russia, Poland, Rumania, and Jugo-Slavia all are allied with France in varying degrees, but they have no common obligation at present to each other or to Czechoslovakia.

U. S. ASKS NAZIS TO TAKE OVER AUSTRIAN DEBTS

Washington, D. C., April 6.—(AP)—A note reluctantly recognizing the concrete fact that Germany has annexed Austria went from Washington to Berlin today, accompanied by a bill for $64,493,480. The bill took the form of a demand that Germany assume Austria's debts to the United States. The United States' note said:

"This government will expect that these obligations will continue to be fully recognized and that service will be continued by the German authorities which have succeeded in control of the means and machinery of payment in Austria. The welfare of numerous American citizens is directly affected.

"The government of the United States finds itself under the necessity, as a practical measure, of closing its legation at Vienna and of establishing a consulate general."

State department officials hastened to spread the word that the note did not mean recognition in the legal sense.

CATALAN POWER AND LIGHT LINES SEIZED BY REBELS

Take One End of Loyalist Main Defense System.

HENDAYE, France [At the Spanish frontier], April 6.—(AP)—Spanish rebel dispatches tonight announced that Gen. José Moscardo's rebel troops captured Balaguer, in northeast Spain, the town which controls all Catalan hydroelectric power lines.

Balaguer, fifteen miles northeast of Lerida, is at the northern end of the government's defense line which was thrown up to check the rebel sweep toward Barcelona and the Mediterranean sea. Loyalists continued to occupy the bank of the Segre river opposite Balaguer and dominate the long bridge spanning the stream.

Government forces also still retained control of the defense line's southern end at Borjas Blancas, but the capture of Balaguer would enable the rebels to circle around government fortifications to the main Barcelona highway.

Drive on Generating Plant.

A rebel force was driving north of Balaguer, through the Noguera-Pallaresa valley to attack the great hydroelectric plant at Tremp. Some units of the big generating station were believed to have been damaged by air attacks in view of the seven hour interruption of Barcelona's power yesterday. Tremp supplies Barcelona with at least 60 per cent of its current.

The rebels reported small advances east of Lerida on the 80 mile road to Barcelona. Gen. Juan Yague's forces were engaged mainly in mopping up operations and a consolidation of positions preparatory to a general offensive.

In the southern sector reinforced government troops streamed down from mountain fastnesses in flank attacks on the rebels hammering at Tortosa to reach the Mediterranean.

Loyalists Regain Positions.

While "suicide squads" of militiamen held approaches to the walled city, wave after wave of government troops struck from the heights which hemmed in Gen. Garcia Valino's salient. They drove the rebels out of several positions previously occupied in bitter hand to hand fighting.

[Dispatches from other sources said loyalists were in possession of Cherta, six miles north of Tortosa, and were "defending it well."]

The government rushed a number of artillery batteries to the area from both the Madrid and Catalan fronts.

The loyalists' three day resistance near Tortosa brought the fiercest fighting since Gen. Francisco Franco launched the "drive to the sea" on March 9.

Rebel long range guns hurled shells into the narrow, winding cobblestone streets of Tortosa and also along the coastal highway running south from Barcelona to the rest of government Spain.

Negrin Given Great Power.

In preparation for the final assault on Tortosa, the rebels sent new motorized divisions from Gandesa and Alcaniz. Caravans of artillery, munitions, and supplies rolled down the Ebro valley to the advance units attacking the city.

In Barcelona, the Spanish government which was revamped yesterday, declared it was determined to continue the war until "Spain is freed of invaders," and set about reorganization of the military command. The reorganization centered broad authority in Premier Juan Negrin's hands. He asked and received the ministers' consent to mobilize loyalist resources as "the gravity of the circumstances demands."

The government rushed fortification of towns near the French border to meet a new threat from rebels striking toward the eastern Pyrenees. The Catalonians planned their main stand at Seo de Urgel and Puigcerda. Catalonian officers also tightened the frontier watch to check any flight of militiamen before Gen. Franco's army. Assault guards searched mountain villages near the border in an effort to round up all deserters.

Gen. Franco addressed a rebel cabinet meeting at Burgos yesterday, asserting the end of the war could be expected within a short time. The key to all Catalonia, he said, had fallen into rebel hands with capture of Lerida.

The rebel cabinet approved a law setting aside the Catalonian autonomy statute and giving Catalonia equality in government with other sections of Spain.

Antonio Mola, a cousin of the late Gen. Emilio Mola who died in a plane crash on the Bilbao front last year, was appointed civil governor of Teruel and Louis Ventillo Berger was named civil governor of Lerida.

Madrid Launches Drive.

MADRID, April 6.—(AP)—Spanish government troops, maneuvering to relieve pressure on Catalonia, today launched a surprise offensive on the western front which carried them well up toward the Badajoz highway about 100 miles southwest of Madrid. Government forces, advancing from the south, captured La Calera and had surrounded the towns of Villar del Pedroso and Carrascalejo. It also reported the city of Puente del Arzobispo, 30 miles southwest of Talavera de la Reina, was being abandoned by the rebels. Puente del Arzobispo lies only eight miles south of the Badajoz railway.

President's Wife Flees.

[Companys is president and premier of the autonomous Catalonian government, not the Spanish Republican government which has its temporary capital at Barcelona.]

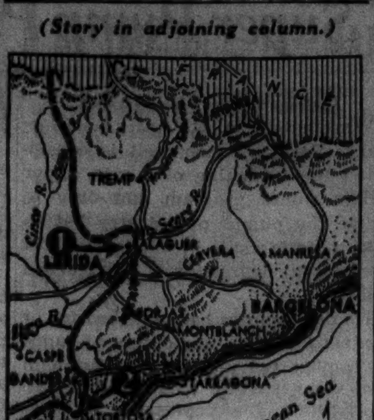
In Señora Company's party were Carlos Pi y Sunyer, Catalonian minister of education, and the wife of José Tarradellas, Catalan minister of finance. Relatives of other Spanish government leaders also reached Perpignan.

Twenty Russian technical experts who crossed into France from government Spain said they were returning to Moscow "for a vacation."

Peril Power Source

(Story in adjoining column.)



Spanish rebel forces yesterday captured Balaguer (1) which controls all Catalan hydroelectric power lines and is at the northern end of the loyalists' central defense line (indicated by crosses). In the southern sector (2) loyalists attacked the flanks of the rebels' Tortosa salient and claimed to have recaptured important positions. Rebels occupy territory to the left of the heavy dotted line.

King Farouk and Farida Expect Child in November

CAIRO, Egypt, April 6.—(AP)—Sources close to the royal family said today the boy king, Farouk, and his pretty bride, Farida, expect a child in mid-November. Farouk and Farida were married Jan. 20. He is 18 years old. She is 16.

CHAMBERLAIN'S FOREIGN POLICY BEATEN AT POLLS

Woman Laborite Defeats Tory Candidate.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 6.—A woman Labor candidate for parliament defeated the Conservative party's nominee today in what was described by Laborites as a protest against Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's policy of seeking agreements with dictator nations.

The contest was a by-election in West Fulham, London, a former Conservative constituency. It was the first by-election since Capt. Anthony Eden resigned as foreign secretary because he opposed Chamberlain's foreign policy. The Conservatives had made this policy the issue in the West Fulham campaign.

Dr. Edith Summerskill was the winner. She received 16,583 votes to 15,162 for C. J. Busby, the Conservative candidate, a majority of 1,421.

Demands Return to League.

"I won because the people of Fulham, speaking for the rest of the nation, have no faith in the foreign policy of the national [Chamberlain] government," said Dr. Summerskill. "The people have delivered their ultimatum—back to the League or get out. Chamberlain's child-like faith in the dictators is not shared by the people of the country."

The prime minister had entered the West Fulham campaign by writing a letter on foreign policy to Busby. The Conservatives used it in electioneering.

Sir Cyril Cobb, Conservative, whose death necessitated the by-election, won the West Fulham seat in the 1935 general election by a majority of 3,483.

Workers Urged to Aid Spain.

The executive council of the Amalgamated Engineeing union, which embraces 350,000 workers, tonight issued a manifesto appealing for voluntary overtime service on behalf of the Spanish republic.

The manifesto was published two days after the engineers' leaders met with Sir Thomas Inskip, minister for coördination of defense, and declined to promise him they would coöperate in speeding up British rearmament.

The manifesto said: "Your wages do not permit you to give money, but you can give time, work, and skill to make things for Spain."

Members of the general council of the trades' union congress called on Lord Halifax, foreign secretary, and urged the government to lift the ban on the export of arms to loyalist Spain. Halifax rejected the request.

NAZIS WITHDRAW JEWISH CHURCH TAX EXEMPTIONS

BERLIN, April 6.—(AP)—A decree depriving Jewish religious institutions of their corporate character and making them subject to real estate, corporation and other taxes from which hitherto they have been exempt was made public today.

It was signed March 30 by Reichsfuehrer Hitler, Church Minister Hans Kerrl and Interior Minister Wilhelm Frick. The decree is retroactive to Jan. 1, 1938, which means that back taxes for more than three months must be paid.

Julius Streicher, Germany's No. 1 Jew baiter, today issued his "First Reader," which, he said in his newspaper, Der Stuermer, was intended to instruct Germans in the Jewish question by pictures and stories easy to understand. The book, picking up where his anti-Semitic "Primer" left off, contains 17 stories and 17 color illustrations viciously attacking the Jews.

Cardinal Demands Nazis Keep Hands Off Austrian Church

VATICAN CITY, April 6.—(AP)—A new, four-point statement set forth the Roman Catholic church's position in Austria tonight as a sequel to Pope Pius' conference with Cardinal Theodore Innitzer, archbishop of Vienna.

The statement, drafted by Cardinal Innitzer and published in Osservatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper, said that for the future Austrian bishops demand:

"That in all questions contemplated under the Austrian concordat no modification shall be made without previous agreement with the Holy See.

"That in particular in the application of all rules regarding both schools and education as well as youth leadership the natural rights of parents and the religious and moral training of Catholic youths according to the fundamental principles of the Catholic faith shall be assured.

Fights Anti-Church Propaganda.

"That propaganda against religion and the church shall be prevented.

"That Catholics shall have the right to develop and defend the Catholic church and the fundamental principles of Christianity in every field of human life with every means at the disposal of contemporary civilization."

The statement opened by saying that "the solemn declaration of March 18 by the Austrian episcopate did not mean approval of that which was not and is not compatible with the laws of God and the liberty of the Catholic church."

[A declaration, drawn up March 18, was read in Austrian Catholic churches March 27. It was signed by Cardinal Innitzer and five Austrian bishops. In it the prelates said it was their duty to "declare our loyalty as Germans" to the German nation in next Sunday's plebiscite on union of Germany and Austria.]

Why Statement Was Made.

Osservatore Romano introduced the new declaration by saying Cardinal Innitzer "believed it necessary to publish" the declaration "to eliminate misunderstanding created in public opinion as a result of recent events."

After drafting the declaration, the cardinal hastened back to Vienna. He had come here last night to give the pope a first hand account of events in Austria. During his visit Cardinal Innitzer conferred three times with Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli, papal secretary of state.

JUDGE SUMMONS HUSBAND FROM CELL; KIN ARRIVES

Mrs. Florence Turner, who is 35 years old and lives at 6307 University avenue, waited yesterday in the court of Judge John J. Lupe to confront her ex-husband, Marshall, who she charges is $1,200 behind in his alimony payments. Just as the judge ordered that the prisoner be brought up from a cell at the rear of the court, Mrs. Turner was called to the phone.

Dewey Turner.

"This is odd," she said on her return. "My stepson, Marshall Jr., just called to say he had seen his father on the street."

"Who, then, is this?" inquired the judge, indicating the approaching prisoner.

"O that's Dewey Turner, his brother," said Mrs. Turner. Dewey explained that when Deputy Sherif Carl Tufo and the police visited his brother's home at 350 West 77th street, they took him in Marshall's stead.

"And now that you're here," snapped the judge, "you can stay. Lock him up." The court later ordered him released and directed that Tufo appear today to explain the error.

4 Scandinavian Nations Agree to Keep Out of War

OSLO, Norway, April 6.—(AP)—The four Scandinavian countries agreed tonight to stay aloof from "all groupings of powers which might be formed in Europe" and, in case of war between these groups, to do everything possible to keep out of the way. The foreign ministers of Norway, Sweden, Denmark, and Finland, concluding a two day conference, announced they had strengthened their coöperation in the hope of remaining neutral.

WAY IS CLEARED TO SEEK REBATES ON '34 TAX BILLS

Attorneys to Ask 5% Cut on Small Amounts.

A move to get a rebate of approximately 5 per cent on small 1934 tax bills which were paid in full and under protest two years ago, is planned by tax attorneys within the next day or two, it was learned yesterday.

The attorneys, proceeding under blanket objections to illegal 1934 taxes, will ask the County court to order a reduction for all taxpayers who complied with the terms of the objection suits.

It was estimated yesterday that more than half of the city's taxpayers, on the advice of County Judge Jarecki and the then country treasurer, Joseph L. Gill, recorded protests when paying their 1934 taxes and would be entitled to any reduction granted.

The blanket objection suits were filed two years ago by Attorneys William F. Struckmann and Roy C. Woods on behalf of the Chicago Real Estate board. The object of the suits was to gain for small taxpayers who could not afford to carry on rate litigation, the same reductions won by large taxpayers.

Last Objection Case Ends.

The way was cleared yesterday for proceeding under the blanket objections when the Illinois Supreme court finished the last case involving 1934 tax objections with the denial of a petition of the city of Chicago for rehearing of one of the 1934 cases. All other 1934 tax litigation previously had been cleared.

Attorney Woods could not be reached yesterday but it was said at his office that action would be taken at once, possibly today, to obtain an order reducing tax bills for the taxpayers represented. Struckmann said he was ready to proceed immediately on receiving instructions from Woods.

It was explained that although the suit has been pending for two years, it was not possible to take further steps until the 1934 rate litigation was completed.

The completion yesterday of this litigation resulted in a net reduction of more than $7,000,000 in 1934 taxes, or about 5 per cent of the $155,456,000 levied by the six major governments in Chicago for the year.

Total Bill Up from 1935.

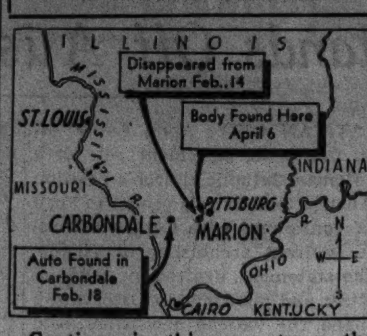
The Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency in an analysis of 1937 property taxes yesterday pointed out that while the 1937 tax bills will be 8 per cent under those of 1936, Chicago property owners will be billed for about $10,600,000 more than for 1935. A 1937 tax rate for Chicago of $8.73 per $100 of assessed valuation was announced Tuesday. The 1936 rate was $9.52.

The federation said that increased personal property valuations, the major factor in the rate reduction, were still open to attack. Many people, it added, can be expected to withhold part of their 1937 taxes and attempt to get a compromise on personalty valuations through court action.

"This, of course, will have a disturbing effect on the financing of the governments to such extent as it occurs," the statement continued.

"Another unfortunate by-product of the effort at a larger personal property assessment is the actual removal from this taxing jurisdiction of many large trusts and holding companies who felt that they were too heavily assessed."

Ex-Teacher Slain



Captions in this map trace the clews in the slaying of Arno Bratten, former Marion township high school teacher, who left his home on Feb. 14 and had been missing since.

Marion, Ill., April 6.—[Special.]—Authorities seeking the slayers of Arno Bratten, former Marion educator, whose body was found this morning, expressed interest tonight in a woman's diamond ring which the victim wore and a felt hat that lay near the body. Bratten's relatives said neither the ring nor the nat was his.

Arno Bratten.

Bratten, 58 years old, former Marion Township High school principal, had been missing since Feb. 14. Two fishermen came upon the body, half buried in sand and mud, about 100 feet from a highway bridge. It was believed the body had been thrown from an automobile on the bridge.

Physicians said Bratten's throat had been slashed, that he was stabbed in the chest several times, and his right jaw and nose broken by blows. Investigators said they were convinced robbery was not the motive for the slaying. Bratten's gold watch, 55 cents, and a promissory note for $300 made payable to him were in his pockets.

COL. R. H. MORSE IS SUED BY WIFE IN FLORIDA COURT

From court records at West Palm Beach, Fla., it was learned yesterday that Mrs. Rosalie Douglas Morse has filed suit for divorce from Col. Robert H. Morse, president of Fairbanks, Morse & Co. The Morses have maintained homes in Palm Beach and Lake Forest.

The petition was removed from the court files after the suit was started on Monday, and the nature of the allegations against Col. Morse were not disclosed. The couple, who were married in 1904, have three sons and two daughters.

Col. Morse is the son of Charles Hosmer Morse, who was the founder of the Fairbanks-Morse concern. During the world war he served as a lieutenant colonel of the signal corps. He has been connected with Fairbanks, Morse & Co. since 1895, and has been president since 1931.

Former Policeman Guilty in Slaying of Hospital Maid

New York, April 6.—(AP)—Arthur Chalmers, 34 years old, a former mounted policeman, was convicted of second degree murder tonight for the slaying of Irma Louise Pradier, 42 years old, a hospital domestic, on the Harlem River speedway last July 19. Chalmers, who testified the French-born maid became infatuated with him and suggested elopment, although he was married, will be sentenced April 19. The verdict carries a penalty of 20 years to life imprisonment.

Revoked by Same Method, He Charges in Senate.

need that they required 1,100 employés," Holt continued. "So I think it might be worth while to read to the senate the salaries of these employés.

"We find that seven [the commissioners] receive $10,000 a year; there are three employés at $9,000; there are four at $8,000; there is one at $7,500; there is one at $7,000; there are five at $6,800; there are four at $5,800; there are thirteen at $5,600; there is one at $5,200; there is one at $5,000; there are 51 at $4,600; there are four at $4,170; there are 39 at $3,800; there are thirteeen at $3,600; there is one at $3,500; there are five at $3,440; there are 41 at $3,200; there is one at $3,000; there are six at $2,500; there is one at $2,300; there are 36 at $2,028; there are 26 at $2,000; there are 56 at $1,800; there are 118 at $1,620; there are 157 at $1,440; there is one at $1,320; there are 20 at $1,260; there are 21 at $1,080. All these are employed in Washington.

"Employed in the field are eleven at $5,600; three at $4,933; ten at $4,600; eight at $4,500; three at $4,033; twelve at $3,600; 29 at $3,200; 21 at $2,600; twelve at $2,000; 70 at $1,800; 114 at $1,620; 110 at $1,440; and ten at $1,080."

Only Pay Rollers Benefit.

"There are only four classes that cauld be helped by the coal act," Holt said. "We know the miners are not working near the amount of time they worked last year, or the year before, or the year before that. The operator is making less profit. The consumer is paying a higher price for his coal.

"The only group that has benefited by the passage of the act is composed of the pay rollers. The act was set up to stabilize the industry, but instead it has stabilized the pay rollers.

"In the week ending March 19, the miners mined 11,228,000 tons of coal, while in the same week of 1938 the miners mined only 5,875,000 tons of coal, or approximately 45 per cent of the amount mined the year before.

"Up to March 19 of last year there were mined 115,237,000 tons of coal, and this year, so far, in the same period, there were mined 74,654,000 tons of coal, or a difference of 41,000,000 tons."

Reads Confidential Memo.

Holt read into the record a confidential memorandum presented to the commission by Commissioner John C. Lewis, labor representative, at a meeting on Nov. 5, 1937.

The memorandum implied that Chairman Hosford was serving in violation of the law because he had an interest in coal properties. Hosford wanted to resign at that time and urged that his resignation be accepted at once, explaining that he was in financial straits and that a company which would employ him would advance $25,000 on his salary, according to the memorandum. He needed the $25,000, the memorandum said, because he was in arrears on a $300,000 loan and wanted to save the investment on which he had borrowed the $300,000.

Assurances Demanded.

"I do not know whether the property to be saved by this transaction is a coal property, although rumors persist that it is a coal mine in Butler county, Pa.," said the Lewis memorandum. "If it is, we are of the opinion that his serving on the commission is in direct violation of the law.

"In any event, we should be assured that Mr. Hosford has not had such an investment while he was serving as chairman of the commission, and further, that he is not going to accept a position with any producer or distributor after his departure.

"We cannot prevent or object to his accepting such employment, but we do object to his continuing to remain as a member of this commission and as its chairman if he intends to be connected with the coal industry in the immediate future."

Roosevelt Toys with a New Super Pump Priming Scheme

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 6.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt is considering the launching of a new, super public works program, not only to prime the pumps of industry but to take up the slack in employment of the present depression, it was learned today.

No decision has been reached for or against another huge outlay of funds to combat the present depression in a manner similar to that employed in fighting the depression of 1933, which the administration attacked on its entry into power.

The decision is awaiting possible improvement in business within the next three months, when the present supply of relief money is to be spent. On July 1 the administration will have to determine how much it will ask for WPA relief or any pump priming plan for the coming fiscal year.

Gov. Earle Urges 3 Year Plan.

As Mr. Roosevelt was considering his problem today he was urged by Gov. George H. Earle of Pennsylvania to adopt "a planned, controled spending program" of 3 billion dollars a year for three years to "save the democratic form of government and the profits system."

"This is the only solution to present economic problems, and if it is not done we will be faced by an absolute collapse of our present form of government," Earle said. "I am convinced that people are not Fascists or communists because they like it, but because dictatorships move fast and have promoted efficiency.

"I feel very strongly about this. My views do not come from books, nor are they views of other people. They are my observations as governor of Pennsylvania."

Republican Theories Tried.

Earle said there is nothing ever suggested by the Republican leadership or the reactionary press that was not tried by President Hoover and proved worthless from 1929 to 1933.

Roosevelt saved the country on the point of revolution in 1933 by giving the mass of people purchasing power, Earle insisted.

"I told the President that in my opinion the only solution for the entire problem is a great constructive plan of spending," he said. "This will bring more revenue in taxes and save the government."

Asked if this plan had not been tried for five years of the present administration, at an outlay approaching 20 billion dollars, only to have the country confronted with another depression, Earle said that the depression had come because the spending stopped.

Assails Deficit Figures.

To a question if he proposed to continue the program of spending indefinitly, Earle replied by an attack on the figure of 38 billion dollars as the federal deficit. He said the deficit should be figured at 20 billion dollars because the administration spending should be looked upon as making capital improvements.

He advanced the economic theory that if the spending is carried far enough the budget will be balanced through the additional revenue that will come from capital improvements. In this statement the governor leaned on the economic theory of government fiscal experts, notably Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board.

The governor expounded his theory with all the fire of a campaign oration—he is a candidate for the United States senate—in the lobby of the executive offices.

WPA Has 500 Millions.

The WPA administration has about 500 million left of its 1 billion 500 million dollar appropriation for the present fiscal year and the recent deficiency allotment of 250 million dollars to carry its activities through June 30.

Against this sum the WPA has a roll of needy unemployed approaching the peak depression load of 3,035,853, which was reached in February of 1936. The relief load for the week ended last March 26 was 2,394,856 persons.

Mother, 81 Years Old, Dies Visiting Home of Her Son

Belvidere, Ill., April 6.—[Special.]—Mrs. Emma Greenhow, 81 years old, of Kirkland, died today at the home of her son, John, while on a visit. Funeral services will be held at Kirkland Saturday.

HOUSE WILL CAST TEST VOTE TODAY ON DICTATOR BILL

There are instincts of governmental self-preservation.

"We are going to have to learn, and learn pretty soon, those of us who try to operate the complex machinery of modern governments, that there are great natural laws which govern governments, which limit human discretion, and determine sound governmental policy instinctively.

"When this administration went into governmental responsibility, the people instinctively consented to the concentration of emergency powers to deal with an emergency situation. If we, the Anglo-Saxon peoples, had not developed that instinct we would today be operating under a dictator of the ordinary sort, because we confronted a condition that required a quicker pickup and a stronger power than Anglo-Saxon institutions functioning in the ordinary way are capable of giving.

"So we concentrated these powers to deal with an emergency.

Move in Other Direction.

"The fact is that just as Anglo-Saxon peoples instinctively concentrate powers of this sort to deal with an emergency situation. instinctively likewise after a while they begin to move in the other direction; and we are in the presence of that movement now. Let nobody misunderstand it. If it were not for the fact that we instinctively move in the other direction after a while, we would cease to be able to operate our system of government.

"It is no reflection upon anybody to say that during the past several years we have not had in the ordinary sense an independent legislature. That is not due to the man who happened to be in the White House. The fact that throughout the length and breadth of the country now there is an instinctive urge to turn in the other direction is not due to the man in the White House.

Finds Country Dissatisfied.

"The country is not satisfied with the existing distribution of governmental power, and that is the biggest thing that has been manifest in this country in many days," he declared. "No man in the White House, regardless of his power, who wants to preserve Anglo-Saxon institutions, is fit to be in the White House, and I assume that the present occupant is and I am glad to make that assumption, can fail to be gratified by the signs of the awakening of the American people demanding the right for a distributed government."

Sumners then advised, reluctantly, he said, against voting for the O'Connor motion tomorrow which would throttle the bill.

"In my humble opinion," he said, "that would be a mistaken thing to do. The country is uneasy. Whether unjustly uneasy or not, it is uneasy. We must show the people that we are not afraid to consider this bill calmly and in the best interests of the country. If we strike out the enacting clause that will end the matter. But is it the right sort of ending for this legislation?

"If, when we get through attempting to amend this bill we do not like it, then we can vote against it. This house is not going to pass this bill in its present shape."

O'Connor interrupted at this point.

"If I know anything," he said, "I know that the country wants no bill whatsoever. The expeditious way to deal with the matter is not to consider it further and not waste any more time on amendments, which, while they may be adopted here, may be entirely changed in conference."

SUDDEN BLIZZARD

AGAIN PROVES RELIABILITY OF "L" SERVICE

WHILE other traffic crawled along at a snail's pace or failed to move altogether, Chicago again has enjoyed another demonstration of the reliability of Elevated Rapid Transit Service.

As in every other similar emergency, Chicago citizens once more turned to the "L" to take them promptly and speedily to their destinations. Morning "rush hour" traffic on the "L" during the blizzard showed a big increase over normal. Trains moved as usual on all divisions, maintaining schedules with but few minor delays . . . and these occasioned not by the elements but by the unexpected influx of passengers to the "L" at practically all stations.

Yes, as usual the "L" was prepared . . . and, as usual, Chicago residents turned to the "L" in full appreciation of a service that is "weather-proof" day and night and on all occasions.

DRAFT NEW BILL FOR CONTROL OF HOURS AND PAY

Calls for Rule by Board of Five Members.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 6.—[Special.]—As a result of the pressure he has exerted for legislation on the subject at this session of congress, President Roosevelt was rewarded today with the emergence from a house subcommittee of a new bill for the political regulation of wages.

Under the terms of the revised version, minimum wages and maximum hours in enterprises engaged in interstate commerce would be fixed by a federal board of five members receiving $10,000 salaries.

Goal Is 40 Cent Minimum.

Started at a point slightly above the average present wage in each occupation affected, the minimum wage would be boosted annually until it reached the level of 40 cents an hour, which would be the top limit. Likewise maximum hours of labor would be lowered gradually from not more than forty-eight a week until they reached the low limit of forty hours a week. There would be no geographical differential.

The bill was drafted by a subcommittee of the house committee on labor. Representative Mary T. Norton [D., N. J.], chairman of the labor committee, called a meeting of the group for next Tuesday to consider the subcommittee draft.

Summary of Measure.

A summary of the bill follows:

A labor standards board of five members is created, to be appointed by the President. One member is to be appointed from the northeast, one from the southeast, one from the southwest, one from the northwest and one from the central part of the nation. Each will receive a salary of $10,000 a year. All appointments are subject to senate confirmation.

Having regard to the expressed policy of maintaining wage and hour standards, the board is authorized to declare minimum wages of not to exceed 40 cents an hour, and is urged to encourage higher wages fixed through collective bargaining.

The board is authorized to find the average wage for each industry, and fix a minimum wage for it not to exceed five cents per hour over the averaged, or "weighted" wage, provided that the fixed wage is not above 40 cents per hour. After fixing the minimum wage, the board thereafter could not raise the wage of an industry more than five cents per hour in any twelve month period, it being the objective to achieve a 40 cent minimum as rapidly as possible without serious injury to affected industries.

Wage Considerations.

In determining the minimum wage the board must take into consideration the following:

1. The cost of living.
2. The relative cost of transporting goods from points of production to consuming markets.
3. Local economic conditions.
4. Such considerations as would be relevant in a court in a suit for value of services rendered without contract.
5. The wages established for work of like or comparable character by collective bargaining agreements.
6. The wages paid for work of like or comparable character by employers who voluntarily maintain minimum wage standards.
7. Differences in unit costs of manufacturing occasioned by varying local natural resources, operating conditions, or other factors entering into the cost of production.

Maximum Week 48 Hours.

The hour provisions give the board the power to fix a maximum work week of not less than 40 nor more than 48 hours, but it is urged to encourage a shorter week through collective bargaining.

Specifically exempted from the hour provision are persons employed in canning or packing fish, sea foods, sponges, or picking, canning, or processing fruits and vegetables, or those engaged in processing beets, cane, and maple into sugar and sirup, when the services of such persons are of a seasonal nature. Persons employed by dairy coöperatives also are exempted.

In declaring a maximum work week, the board is required to take into consideration the following:

1. The relation of the work to the physical and economic health, efficiency and well being of employés.
2. The number of persons available for employment in the occupation.
3. The hours of employment established for work of like character by collective bargaining.
4. The hours of work of like character for employers who voluntarily maintain maximum work weeks.
5. Persons engaged in processing or packing perishable agricultural products during harvesting seasons are exempted.

Actions to enforce the act are required to be filed in federal district courts.

At Divorce Hearing

MRS. OLGA SMECK.

With his banjo, instead of his wife, on his knee, Roy Smeck, who used to make a living with the former for the latter, is now in California and will not be back to press the divorce suit he filed here two years ago, Judge Grover C. Niemeyer was told yesterday. His wife, Olga, who lives in New York, is in Chicago for the second time in a few months to answer her husband's charges of desertion, according to her attorney, Benjamin B. Davis, who asked that Smeck's suit be dismissed.

Judge Niemeyer, who has been clearing the docket of old divorce cases, ruled that Smeck must appear by tomorrow to prove he is a resident of Illinois and to press the suit. If he does not appear, the court will issue an attachment for Smeck, said Judge Niemeyer.

ASKS CONGRESS KEEP PLEDGE ON LAKE DIVERSION

Deal with Illinois for Canal Rights Is Recalled.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 6.—[Special.]—Congress was called upon today by counsel for six Mississippi valley states to meet what was termed the moral obligation defined in a 1930 act to maintain a navigable flow of water to the Illinois waterway.

The position of the six states was set forth before the house rivers and harbors committee by Special Assistant Attorney General Cornelius Lynde of Illinois. He spoke for Illinois, Missouri, Kentucky, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Mississippi.

The committee has under consideration the Parsons bill to permit diversion of 5,000 cubic feet of water per second at Chicago for the lakes to the gulf waterway. Unless this bill is passed, the diversion must be decreased next December to 1,500 second feet under a Supreme court decree.

Offers Forgotten Agreement.

Mr. Lynde presented to the committee a hitherto ignored phase of the controversy between the Mississippi valley states and the Great Lakes states, which oppose continuance of the present diversion of 5,000 second feet.

He pointed out that the rivers and harbors act of 1930, adopting the Illinois waterway as a federal project and authorizing the present diversion, recorded an agreement under which the 5,000 feet diversion was to be continued until a final engineering determination could be made of the average annual flow needed to meet the demands of a commercially useful waterway.

In return for this agreement, Mr. Lynde explained, Illinois gave up its property rights to the waterway and its constitutional right to collect tolls for the use of artificial canals.

Cites Supreme Court Stand.

"In the lake level litigation the Supreme court refused to consider the benefits to navigation on the Illinois and Mississippi rivers resulting from the diversion permitted by the secretary of war in 1925 because there was no federal project connecting Lake Michigan with the Mississippi river," Mr. Lynde told the committee.

"Failure to include the Illinois waterway as a federal project was due naturally to the fact that from Utica to Lockport the navigation of the Illinois river was being improved by the state of Illinois with the state bond issue put out for this purpose. But immediately after the final decision of the Supreme court in 1930 congress within a few months adopted the Illinois river item of the rivers and harbors act of that year as a compromise between the positions of the state of Illinois and those of the lake states.

State Makes an Offer.

"By 1930 it had become apparent that the funds of the state of Illinois would not be sufficient to complete the waterway. The state therefore offered to turn over what it had done and to expend the balance remaining unspent at that time for the purposes of the waterway if the federal government would appropriate $7,500,000 needed for completion."

The offer was accepted, Mr. Lynde declared, and the $7,500,000 federal appropriation carried in the rivers and harbor act of 1930. Included in the bill at the same time was an agreement, the essence of which, he explained, was as follows:

"The act provided that as soon as practicable after the waterway should have been completed, the secretary of war would cause a study to be made to determine the annual average flow needed to meet the demands of a commercially useful waterway.

"Obviously it was the belief of congress and of all parties concerned that construction of the project would be completed in ample time within this eight year period so war department engineers would have sufficient opportunity to determine the actual diversion needs, based upon experience under operating conditions.

"The state of Illinois has relied upon this agreement and has performed fully its share of the bargain. It now relies upon the promise of congress."

SEEK WOMAN FOR QUIZ IN 12 FLOOR PLUNGE OF DUBUQUE, IA., MAN

Isadore J. Olanosky.

Search was ordered yesterday for an unidentified young woman who was with Isadore J. Olanosky, 35 years old, son of a Dubuque, Ia., department store owner, shortly before he plunged to his death from a twelfth floor room of the Hotel Sherman Tuesday night. An inquest into Olanosky's death was continued until April 19.

According to a waiter who served dinner in the room, the woman is about 28 years old, with a southern accent. Olanosky in the afternoon called a north side hotel and an unlisted telephone number. His room, in which police found a partly filled liquor bottle, was locked from the inside with a key in the door.

Deputy Coroner Pasquale Venetucci said the present investigation did not warant acceptance of a suicide theory. Matthew Olanosky testified his brother had not been well and came here to see a dentist.

FORT PECK DAM BACKS UP RIVER; MARKET LACKING

Fort Peck, Mont., April 6.—[Special.]—The Fort Peck dam, largest earthen dam in the world, has started to back up the upper Missouri river into an 180 mile long reservoir, but with a population of less than three persons to the square mile in the area no market has appeared for the hydro-electric power phase of the 108 million dollar dream.

Work on the dam started Oct. 23 1933. The earth mound on the Montana prairies which stretches nearly four miles will not be finished until 1939. Maj. Clark Kittrell, army engineer in charge said today the dam so far has stored 70,000 acre feet of water. Peak capacity of the reservoir is 19,410,000 acre feet.

R. M. SWEITZER, POLITICAL POWER 25 YEARS, IS DEAD

Former County Treasurer Ill Since September.

Promises Full Payment.

When the figure was made public Sweitzer declared that he would pay in full, but asked time to check over the audit and his own accounts. "When I know how much I owe I will pay," he said. Sweitzer said he had lost part of the money in a scheme to manufacture synthetic fuel—coal briquettes.

On May 25 Flynn decided to make a formal demand for payment on the advice of State's Attorney Courtney.

On June 3 the county board ordered the treasurer to pay in full by noon June 5.

The treasurer appeared again before the county board at noon on June 5. He seemed weary and uneasy. "Give me a few days," he asked, "a few days or a week, then I will pay." The board gave him 24 hours.

At noon of Thursday, June 6, the county board gathered amid growing tension. Sweitzer went in briefly to state that at 4 p. m. he would pay the county $335,000, the amount he said he owed. Four o'clock came and went, but he did not appear. At 6:30 p. m. the board voted unanimously to oust Sweitzer as treasurer and to replace him with Joseph L. Gill, clerk of the Municipal court.

Sets Up Barricade in Office.

Hearing of this, Sweitzer summoned 30 private detectives of the Hargrave agency and barricaded himself in his office with his attorney, Harvey I. Levinson.

Acting on the orders of the county board, Sherif John Toman sent a delegation of deputies, headed by Joseph Lelivelt, to the treasurer's office. Sweitzer's guards ordered them away. When Lelivelt reported to Toman the aroused county board ordered the sherif to take any measure necessary to regain possession of the office.

In the early evening, then, the public became aware for the first time of the drama about to be enacted in the county building. Squad cars and patrol wagons careened into the four streets about the structure. Fifty police and an equal number of county peace officers, armed with machine guns and tear gas, took possession.

Machine Guns Break Deadlock.

Lelivelt and a machine gun squad hurried to the treasurer's office. The private detectives gave way at once and Lelivelt entered. Sweitzer handed him a statement which declared the county board's action was illegal and unconstitutional.

"I can't help it, Bob," said Lelivelt. "You must go, or I must use force."

"Use it, then!" snapped Sweitzer.

The deputy sherif seized him by the arms and shoved him through the door. With bowed head Sweitzer departed, but he had established the basis for a fight to regain office—that he had been ousted against his will and by force.

Developments came swiftly then. On the day following Gill was sworn in as treasurer. On June 11 the Sweitzer case went to the grand jury. On June 15 the ousted treasurer filed quo waranto proceedings before Judge Joseph Burke in the Circuit court challenging Gill to show by what right he held office.

Indicted Four Days Later.

Four days later the grand jury indicted Sweitzer on a charge of withholding $414,129 in public funds from his successor. He surrendered after technically being a fugitive two days and was released on $10,000 bond.

It was on July 3 that his quo waranto suit opened before Judge Joseph Burke in the Circuit court. Sweitzer was tearful as he heard himself portrayed alternately as a public servant and a public enemy, but on July 20 the court upheld his ouster on the ground that his admission of withholding $335,000 from his successor made him ineligible to hold office. He appealed.

Acquitted on Charges.

Pleading good intent and standing on his record, Sweitzer went on the stand on Nov. 8. There were many demonstrations in his behalf by the courtroom crowds. He was acquitted Nov. 12 after the jury had deliberated six hours.

Finis was written to Sweitzer's fight to regain office when the Illinois Appellate court on July 1, 1937, ruled that the county board was within its rights in ousting him as treasurer and dismissed the quo waranto action. The county's civil suit against him and his surety company, the United States Fidelity and Guaranty, is still pending.

He was a member of the South Shore, Butterfield, and Olympia Fields country clubs; Illinois Athletic and Chicago Yacht clubs; the Iroquois club, and many other prominent organizations.

INVESTIGATE FIRE FATAL TO GIRL IN MATCH FACTORY

A fire yesterday afternoon in the factory of the Match Corporation of America, 6041 Grand avenue, which took the life a girl employe was being investigated last night. Miss Sadie Palmer, 19 years old, 3510 Harlem avenue, was the victim.

Three other girls were seriously burned and were treated at the Lutheran Memorial hospital. They are Irene Lasky, 22 years old, 2143 North Austin boulevard; Julia Parebsky, 23, of 8811 45th street, and Christine Nicasio, 24, of 2107 North Mason avenue.

Benjamin Z. Posner, president of the corporation, said there had been no labor trouble, and that the company was fully covered by insurance. Earl Downes, assistant corporation counsel, said, however, that a thorough investigation would be made to make sure that some passerby could not have thrown an incendiary object through a window into the storeroom.

Flames Spread in a Sheet.

About forty girls and twenty-five men got safely out of the building after the flames spread in a sheet over the large room where the girls were dipping paper matches, cutting them, and fastening them into folders.

One witness said the fire seemed to emanate from the storeroom in the northwest corner of the room. In a moment the thousands of matches with which the girls were working were aflame. The Palmer girl's body was found in the large workroom.

Kenneth Phillipi, superintendent of the plant, was arrested when he rushed into a garage across the street after the fire and shouted to a number of girl employés who were being questioned there to keep their mouths shut if they wanted to keep on working for him.

Eighth Victim Dies.

The eighth victim of the fire earlier in the day at a transient hotel at 1426 Madison street, died last night. He was Frank Smialek, 43 years old. Three remained unidentified.

Policeman Hugh Gillespie of the Des Plaines street station rescued three old men from the flames, among them John Simpson, 86 years old, who said he was a civil war veteran.

Fire Marshal Michael J. Corrigan blamed a late alarm for the hotel fire deaths. He said the building was blazing for half an hour before the department was notified. The building was not a firetrap, officials said. The hotel occupied the upper three of four floors and had been inspected as late as Feb. 28 and found to comply with regulations. The victims all occupied small rooms in the northwest corner of the fourth floor where the flames apparently started.

COURT AFFIRMS 5 YEAR SENTENCE FOR MAIL FRAUD

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday affirmed the conviction of Waterman William Porter, former La Salle street investment broker, who was sentenced to five years in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth and fined $1,000 for using the mails to defraud. Convicted last June by a jury, Porter was accused of causing losses of $1,500,000 to 2,000 customers of several get rich quick enterprises which were stopped by the government in 1935.

GETS 30 DAYS FOR HIS PART IN FATAL SCUFFLE

For his part in a scuffle that resulted in the death of another inmate Friday night, Emanuel Faken, 63 years old, a patient at the Oak Forest infirmary, was sentenced yesterday to thirty days in the infirmary jail by Justice of the Peace Frank Kominski of Thornton township.

Faken and George De Buhr, 78 years old, scuffled for a chair near the radio to hear the Joe Louis-Harry Thomas fight broadcast. De Buhr died soon afterward. A coroner's jury exonerated Faken of blame, but recommended that he be charged with disorderly conduct.

GETS YEAR IN JAIL FOR LIQUOR SALE TO BOY KILLER, 16

Saloonkeeper Sentenced; Bartender Gets 60 Days.

A saloonkeeper who sold whisky and beer to a youth, 16 years old, shortly before the latter stabbed another boy to death was sentenced yesterday to serve one year in the Bridewell.

Judge Charles S. Dougherty of the Municipal jury court imposed the maximum sentence on the charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. It is believed this is one of the first times the maximum penalty has been inflicted in a case of its kind. The defendant, George Kappos was convicted by a jury last week. His bartender, George Vritis of 3456 West 23d street, also was convicted and sentenced to serve sixty days.

Judge Blames Kappos.

After the jury verdict and again yesterday, Judge Dougherty declared that Kappos was as responsible for the tragedy as the boy, Walter Pijanowski, 1905 South Kedzie avenue. On March 3 Pijanowski killed Frank Gawel, 17, 1922 South Troy street, after being served ten beers and five drinks of whisky in Kappos' tavern at 3541 Ogden avenue, which has since been closed by Mayor Kelly. Pijanowski was convicted of manslaughter and will be sentenced tomorrow.

"The punishment is not entirely adequate," declared Judge Dougherty, "nor does it pay the debt this man owes to society. I am not trying to make an example of any one, but I am going to do what I can to prevent a recurrence of this evil."

Attorney Joseph Hector, representing Kappos, was granted a thirty day stay when he indicated he would appeal. In lieu of a $5,000 bond Kappos was committed to jail. Vritis started serving his sentence.

Bartender Changes Story.

Vritis had testified he did not sell any intoxicants to Pijanowski. Yesterday Capt. Frank Malone told the court that the bartender had admitted previously that he sold the beer and whisky, but only after he had protested to Kappos, who told him to mind his own business.

Judge Gibson E. Gorman of the Boys' court held Edward Boyer, 18, of 2230 Geneva terrace, Malcolm Heaver, 18, of 3326 North Damen avenue, and Albert Dolan, 31, of 4040 Broadway, to the grand jury in total bonds of $110,000 on charges of burglary and receiving stolen property.

The three were members of a gang involved in nearly 300 burglaries on the north and northwest sides, police said.

PART OF HEART BALM STATUTE HELD ILLEGAL

Bloomington, Ill., April 6.—[Special.]—Judge Horace H. Baker of this district ruled in the Woodford county Circuit court at Eureka that the Illinois "heart balm act" is unconstitutional in so far as it prohibits the naming of a co-respondent in a divorce case.

The ruling was in the case of Alan Ioerger vs. Mabel Ioerger, in which the defendant filed a counter claim.

The court made it plain that the ruling related only to provisions of the act as to pleadings and evidence in divorce and separate maintenance cases.

WOMAN TRAPPED AS WRITER OF EXTORTION NOTES

When John Machnik of 5305 Henderson street began worrying about the extortion notes he was getting he told Sergt. Ray Venn of the Albany Park police. The notes said to put $200 in an ash can behind 3217 North Richmond street, the home of Mrs. Irene Skoczen, 24 years old. Sergt. Venn went over to watch the ash can.

Because he observed that Mrs. Skoczen came out frequently to look into it he took her to the station. She confessed writing the extortion notes. She said she didn't know why, since her husband earns enough to support her. The police held her for questioning by postal authorities.

FADS AND FASHIONS

By CALEB

THERE is a subtle distinction between fad and fashion. An important part of our business is judging and maintaining that distinction. It is our duty to protect our patrons from the former, and serve them with the latter.

This responsibility we accept happily. We not only accept it, we take measures always to deserve it. Modern fashion is a lively thing. It is born, and it flowers with speed and dispatch. And—unfortunately—the fads come through with the fashions. Neither is labeled in advance.

There is little on the surface to distinguish fad from fashion. Neither the price nor the size of an item is the determining factor. Sometimes very small items make important contributions to fashion. Small details are considered as carefully as larger ones so that their contributions to a finished effect will be sound and right.

In the end the decision is guided by good taste and good value for the patron. Fads are never good investments. They bring neither comfort nor utility to their possessor. They cannot yield a reasonable return on investment, nor can they impart the reputation for taste and prestige to which every patron of Field's is entitled.

Thus our responsibility is like the skilled artist's; we must classify and separate the spurious from the genuine on the basis of long experience, training, and judgment. Beyond that, a subtle sixth sense must be brought to bear in making the distinction. For years we have succeeded in bringing the early and salient points of fashion to the attention of Field patrons—without the attendant necessity for them to weigh the danger of a poor investment.

All this explains our never-lowered guard against fad, masquerading in the guise of fashion. It is an obligation we accepted decades ago—and to which we attend with growing care and insistence.

MARK ARMY DAY WITH PARADE ON CAPITAL AVENUE

Observe 21st Anniversary of World War Entry.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 6.—[Special.]—The tramping feet of armed men echoed in the capital today in Washington's celebration of Army day and the twenty-first anniversary of this country's entry into the world war

The President reviewed the parade from a stand on Constitution avenue in the rear of the White House. At his side were cabinet members, ranking officers of the army, navy, and marine corps, and the military attachés of foreign legations and embassies.

The parade formed near the capitol and marched a mile and a half down Constitution avenue to a point beyond the reviewing stand, where it broke up. Among the marchers were detachments of the army, navy, and marine corps, National Guardsmen, organized reserves, high school cadets, patriotic organizations, and bands, including a girls' drum and bugle corps.

Urges Adequate Defense.

Observance of the day ended in a banquet at which Assistant Secretary of War Louis A. Johnson stressed the need for an adequate national defense.

"A few nations pretend to see behind our growing determination to arm for our own protection, a menace to their safety," he said. "The only real menace is their unbridled economic and territorial ambitions. The governments of the 21 American republics never will permit them to extend to North and South America.

"Our friendly, peaceful neighbors have no such fears. They know we covet no one else's treasure. Yet only two weeks ago a nation that is trying desperately to consummate in Asia the greatest armed conquest of a defenseless people of modern times, accused us of harboring ambitions similar to their own. Surely, none of our people will be misled as to the real purpose of such groundless charges."

Army Bill Approved.

The senate also celebrated Army day by approving a 491 million dollar appropriation for the army, largest since 1921. The bill carries 1939 fiscal year appropriations $75,718,659 higher than those of the present year.

The measure now will be returned to the house for action on additions to the bill made by the senate since house passage. These include $16,790,747 for sea coast defenses and $13,694,225 for anti-aircraft guns and ammunition.

DELAY OF TROOPS PROLONGED WAR, PUBLISHER SAYS

Cincinnati, O., April 6.—(AP)—Col. Robert R. McCormick, Chicago publisher, declared in an Army day address today that "never sufficiently explained" delay in the arrival of American troops in France prolonged the world war by a year.

"As soon as our supply organization had been perfected," McCormick said, "the general staf in France began to look for the arrival of more American troops. The Germans were still occupied on the eastern front, so that a few hundred thousand American troops in the summer of 1917 might have proved decisive. The mobilization in Texas the year before [during the Mexican border trouble] had made the creation of such numbers possible, but they were not forthcoming.

"Why they did not come over that summer never has been sufficiently explained."

Brig. Gen. Peyton to Leave Fort Sheridan for Hawaii

Brig. Gen. Philip B. Peyton, commanding the 12th infantry brigade at Fort Sheridan, was notified yesterday by the war department that he has been assigned to command the Hawaiian coast artillery brigade. He will sail from New York on April 14. Brig Gen. Karl Truesdell, now commanding the 16th infantry at Fort Jay, New York, will succeed Gen. Peyton at Fort Sheridan.

Wounded in Holdup

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Bernie Weber (left), a porter, who grappled with bandit and took gun away from him, and Jean Neider, paymaster, who saved $5,000 by going back into her office and locking the door.

Four men got $7,500 in a holdup of the Goldblatt department store at 4722 Broadway yesterday. But they dropped $6,000 of their loot as they fled and missed a $5,000 pay roll. They shot Dillon Carlson, a watchman, in the left arm when he attempted to block their escape.

The bandits invaded the office of A H. Holschmaker, manager of the store, and forced him to order two girl cashiers to open the door of their cage. While the bandits were rifling the cage Miss Jean Neider, 25 years old, the paymaster for the store, stepped out of her office with the pay roll in a sack under her arm, but ducked back out of sight when she saw what was going on.

One of the bandits dropped a cap and another his gun when Bernie Weber, a porter, struggled with the men as they fled from the store.

GEN. DRUM URGES ARMY OF 300,000 FOR U. S. DEFENSE

Needed to Insure Against Invasion, He Says.

A regular army of 300,000 men should be provided by congress as a precautionary measure to insure that any war in which the United States may become involved will not be fought on American soil. A large army should be considered a defensive force that will deter other nations from attacking this country.

Maj. Gen. Hugh A. Drum voiced this view last night in an address before 700 persons gathered in the Lake Shore Athletic club to celebrate the twenty-first anniversary of the United States' entry into the world war. Gen. Drum is commander of the 2d army and 6th corps area. The dinner at which he spoke was sponsored by the Military Order of The World War as part of the Army day ceremonies.

"Knowing the destruction, demoralization and hardships that result from having one's homeland bombed or overrun by an invading army and being converted into a battlefield, it is our duty to insure at once, and for all time, that no war will ever be fought on the soil of the United States," Gen. Drum said.

Recalls Congressional Figures.

He recalled that congress in 1920, set forth that a regular army of 300,000 men, 430,000 national guard troops, and an indeterminate number of reserve officers were necessary to insure the adequate defense of the United States. In addition to these, he asserted, congress directed that we maintain equipment and supplies for an army of 1,000,000 men.

"Today we have less than half these numbers of men and in many respects and notwithstanding the old world war supplies we have far less than these quantities of materials," Gen. Drum continued. "With our defense forces in such a state, we can readily appreciate the wisdom of the President's recent message to congress.

Blizzard Curtails Celebration.

Yesterday's heavy snowfall forced curtailment of large scale exhibitions and maneuvers planned at Fort Sheridan. Displays of army power were given in the riding hall and the gymnasium at the fort. The bad weather forced cancelation of an air demonstration.

Col. Stephen A. Park was the speaker at a luncheon of the Army and Navy club. He, too, urged that the nation have strong naval, air, and military forces for defensive purposes.

At noon three posts of the American Legion participated in dedicating plaques bearing the names of men and women who served in the world war. The plaques were placed on the Mandel Brothers and Carson Pirie Scott buildings.

APPROVE 3 BUS EXTENSIONS OF SURFACE LINES

The city council's local transportation committee has approved three extensions of service by the Chicago Surface Lines, Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], chairman, said yesterday. The committee will recommend to the council at its next meeting that ordinances be adopted providing for the additional service, Quinn said.

The extensions would be gasoline bus routes. They are on Foster avenue, between Milwaukee and Nagle avenues; California avenue, from Fulton to 72d streets, and Peterson avenue, from Caldwell avenue east to Ridge avenue and continuing southeast in Ridge to Bryn Mawr avenue.

A GRAY CAT RIDES RODS TO ESCAPE WAUKEGAN STORM

As the wind whistled and screamed about the Edison court station of the North Shore lines in Waukegan early yesterday, the gray cat slunk deeper into the doorway and shivered. Throughout the wild snowstorm she crouched there like an icy ball.

At 6:24 a. m. the Chicago Limited pulled in. The gray cat noted that it was headed south. She noted also that the space above the motor housing, under the forward car, appeared warm and dry. When the Limited pulled out the gray cat was aboard. But it was a wild ride. The ice laden wind whipped her from all sides. She was blinded by snow and terrified by the roar of wheels. When the train reached the Roosevelt road station in Chicago the gray cat was too nearly frozen to move.

Motorman Howard Murphy of Highland Park and Conductor L. P. Jenkins of Zion found her. They carried her to the station tower and gave her warm milk to drink. Last night the gray cat was still there. She likes it here in the south.

New York Socialists Pick Chicagoan for Secretary

New York, April 6.—[Special.]—Arthur G. McDowell of Chicago, former national secretary of the Socialist party, has been named executive secretary for the party in this state. That was announced by Jack Altman, Socialist city chairman. Altman served as secretary from 1933 until recently. The new executive secretary is an active trade unionist, member of the Chicago local of the Teachers' union.

MICHIGAN TRIES NEW REFLECTORS TO LIGHT ROADS

Expect Better Vision Will Reduce Accidents.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lansing, Mich., April 6.—[Special.]—A new aid to rural night driving was unveiled tonight on U. S. 16 between here and Detroit. A dedicatory caravan of forty automobiles drove the eighty-five miles here from Detroit between two ribbons of light reflected from buttons mounted on both sides of the roadway.

In the party were officials of the United States bureau of public roads, engineers of six state highway departments, automobile manufacturers, motor clubs, and safety councils. They saw in this novel road equipment a low cost weapon against night time trafic fatalities which alone account for America's big increase in its motor mortality rate in the last fifteen years.

May Cut Trafic Deaths.

"Experience will tell us," said Michigan's highway commissioner, Murray D. Van Wagoner, "whether we have found substantial relief from night driving risks. If our hopes are realized, tonight will mark the beginning of a decline in night trafic deaths due to the adoption of this new safety equipment for all heavily traveled rural routes in the United States."

The equipment includes reflectors of synthetic resin, a recent du Pont invention, which are said to be ten times as powerful as the conventional reflector buttons commonly seen on highway guard rails marking curves. They are mounted on galvanized posts 100 feet apart, eight feet to the right and three feet above the right hand edge of the pavement.

In the drive here from Detroit tonight it was noticed that the white disks of reflected light blended into a solid band 400 feet ahead of a car. With headlights dimmed, as for city driving, this band of light extended ahead for a distance that Commissioner Van Wagoner has measured at 1,000 feet. With the headlights in the bright position, the reflectors marking the edge of the roadway could be seen a mile ahead.

Drivers Warned of Curves.

The ribbon of reflected light told of curves and of those deadly little crests not big enough to be noticed during fast night cruising, but big enough to hide an oncoming car. A break in the bands of reflected light gave forewarning to the driver that there was a pedestrian ahead, still too far ahead to be illuminated directly by the headlamps. In passing, drivers avoided the glare of oncoming headlamps by watching the reflectors on the right.

The installation here cost $346.63 per mile, and maintenance will be nominal. It may not be as desirable as illumination from electric lamps hanging over the pavements, but the Michigan commissioner pointed out that any extensive installation of that type would be prohibitive due to original costs of approximately $3,000 a mile and annual maintenance costs of approximately the same amount.

Drive Launched to Raise $100,000 for Boy Scouts

A ten day campaign to raise $100,000 for the Chicago council, Boy Scouts of America, was opened yesterday by 150 Chicago business and professional leaders meeting at the Chicago club. The funds are sought to finance the scouting program for 21,800 Chicago boys during the coming year. Stephen Y. Hord, campaign chairman, said the entire quota must be raised if scouting is to grow in Chicago, and if the council's nine summer scout camps are to be continued.

TRAIN STRIKES STALLED AUTO; 1 KILLED, 1 HURT

Crash Occurs During Snowstorm.

One man was killed and another seriously injured yesterday when a Wabash railroad passenger train struck their stalled automobile while they struggled frantically to push it from the 87th street crossing during the driving snowstorm.

John McGlinchy, 3943 West 61st place, was killed. He was pushing the car, and William Lichtenberger, 1740 North Menard avenue, was steering it. Both men, electricians, were placed in a baggage car of the train, taken to the 63d street station, transferred to an ambulance, and taken to St. Bernard's hospital, where McGlinchy died.

Four Fall from Street Car.

Four persons were injured, three seriously, when they fell from the rear platform of a crowded street car in front of 443 South Halsted street. Police sought to learn if the men were brushed off by a parked truck, or whether the street car was struck by a skidding truck. When the conductor jumped off to help the injured men, a passenger pulled the signal cord, and the street car went ahead for half a mile until the motorman realized he had no conductor.

Those seriously injured are Andrew Cismesja, 19, 1328 West 18th street; Nick Poulos, 53, 1005 Polk street, and John Bergeron, 16, 7000 South Leavitt street. All were taken to the County hospital.

Woman Struck by Auto.

Mrs. Eva Kessel, 69, 858 Wrightwood avenue, was struck and injured yesterday by an automobile at Halsted street and Wrightwood avenue. With an umbrella open against the snow, she failed to see the car. Francis Blodgett of Ottawa, Ill., the driver, took her to the North Chicago hospital.

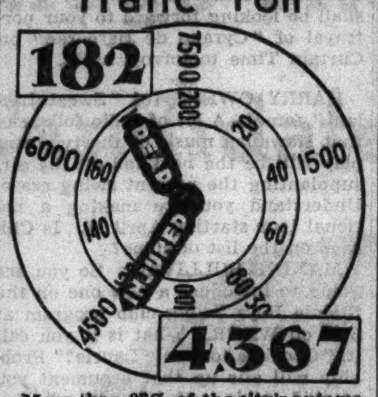
Mrs. Mary Moran, 62, of 3145 West 15th street, died in the Mount Sinai hospital of injuries received on March 18 when she was struck by an automobile at Kedzie avenue and 15th street. The driver was Jack Lazoff, 1575 South Kedzie avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 225 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 182 were killed in Chicago where 4,367 were injured in the same period.

Singer Taken for Ride, Coroner Says; Body Found

Burgettstown, Pa., April 6.—(AP)—Police of three states joined today in the investigation of the death of Arthur C. Rowland, 29 years old. Coroner James Jones expressed the opinion that Rowland, of Hollidays Cove, W. Va., an actor and singer, had been taken for a ride. The body was found in a field near here. He had been shot. Rowland was a bachelor and lived with his parents. He was employed as a clerk by the Wierton Steel company at Wierton, W. Va.

THE MASSACRE Chicago's 1938 Trafic Toll



More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

DRIVER SAMPLES BIRTHDAY WINE; ORDERED TO JAIL

John Zic got in his automobile and drove from his home at 2813 South Troy street Tuesday to buy half a gallon of wine for a party yesterday to celebrate his wife's birthday. On the way home Zic decided to sample the wine.

By the time he reached Roosevelt road and Halsted street the birthday guests were out of luck, if they expected any wine. And there the police found Zic. Trafic was paralyzed by his car. Zic, in police parlance, was also paralyzed by the wine. And yesterday Judge J. M. Braude in the Safety court sentenced him to five days in the county jail. The party was postponed.

Other defendants and their punishments were:

Judge Gibson E. Gorman sentenced Stephen Huchman, 4459 West 55th street, to nine months in the Bridewell for leaving the scene of a fatal accident.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD
Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew poorly—your stomach pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion.

CAUSE OF PANDA SU-LIN'S DEATH STILL MYSTERY

After a preliminary post mortem at the Field Museum of Natural History, the reason for the death of Su-Lin, baby giant panda at the Chicago Zoölogical park in Brookfield, was as much of a mystery as ever yesterday. The examination will require several days.

Inspection of vital organs revealed no unusual complication or sign of disease, Robert Bean, assistant director of the Brookfield zoo, reported. Parts of the organs were taken for microscopic examination by Dr. Francis D. Gunn, professor of pathology at the Northwestern university medical school.

"We haven't learned anything," said Mr. Bean, who, with Dr. Wilfred H. Osgood, chief curator of zoölogy at the Field museum, supervised the post mortem.

NOTED SHANGHAI EDUCATOR SLAIN; U. OF C. GRADUATE

Anti-Jap Work Blamed; Wife from N. U.

SHANGHAI, April 7 [Thursday].—(AP)—Dr. Herman Liu, president of the American supported Shanghai college, was shot to death today by unidentified gunmen as he walked along an international settlement street with his wife.

Settlement police arrested a Chinese who told them he was "hired to kill Liu because he was a traitor to China." A second alleged participant escaped after shooting a British policeman in the leg.

Friends of the college president, who was a graduate of the University of Chicago and Columbia university, had feared for his safety because of his Chinese patriotic activities in backing the war against Japan. The killing was believed to have been inspired by anti-Chinese elements.

Dr. Liu was one of China's leading educators. He had been president of the Baptist supported college since 1930. His wife was a graduate of Northwestern university.

American Firm Quits.

Business reports emphasized today the cumulative effects of the undeclared war upon Chinese trade as Japanese continued their push in Shantung province toward the Lunghai railway.

The Timmonsville Leaf Tobacco company, of Richmond, Va., became the first company to file notice of suspension of business in China with the registrar of the China Trade act, a United States federal statute concerning American firms operating in China.

The American owned William Hunt & Co. announced at Hongkong that it was taking over the Chinese government owned China Merchants' Steam Navigation company fleet. The company also is taking over the Nanyang Brothers' tobacco factories, one of the four largest Chinese owned tobacco companies in North China. Holding companies are to be formed, it was said, to be incorporated in Delaware and to seek American ship registry.

Many Factories Destroyed.

Business of most American tobacco companies is described as seriously impaired by destruction of factories, warehouses, and stocks, inability to trade with the interior, and limiting by the central Chinese government of the amount of foreign exchange made available to Shanghai.

The oil business also has dwindled and is faced, besides, with a possible Japanese government oil monopoly such as took over the business in Manchukuo.

Silk and cotton industries were extremely hard hit by destruction of many factories and an almost complete breakdown of transportation. Throughout China but 375,000 cotton spindles and 4,000 looms were reported operating. In 1935 5,527,000 Chinese and Japanese spindles and 52,009 looms were operating.

American cotton dealers estimate China's cotton consumption has been cut to half the normal 200,000 bales monthly through destruction of mills.

On the war front, Gen. Li Tsung-jen reported from Suchow that he was launching an assault from all sides to wipe out a Japanese force that stormed the south gate of Taierchwang on April 4.

Lift Missionary Restriction.

HANKOW, China, April 6.—(AP)—A decade-old Chinese restriction on the teaching of Christianity has been rescinded by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in recognition of the wartime bravery of foreign missionaries in China.

Chiang's American educated wife announced today he had voided the old law which forbade compulsory religious education in Christian schools.

URGES REVOLT TO LIBERALIZE MEDICAL ASSN.

Assails 'Standpatism'; Raps Leadership.

New York, April 6.—[Special.]—Prof. James H. Means of the Harvard medical school, in his presidential address tonight at the annual convocation of the American College of Physicians, called on all those physicians "who believe in popular government to bestir themselves" and organize "an effective opposition party" to the American Medical association.

This was the first time in the annals of American medical history that open revolt against the leadership of the most powerful body in American medicine was advocated by any one of Dr. Means' standing under similar circumstances.

Opening Gun in Revolt.

For this reason it was regarded by many distinguished physicians present as the opening gun in a "medical revolution" following the signing a few months ago by 770 leading physicians of a "medical declaration of independence."

"The behavior of the American Medical association," Prof. Means said, "is political. It is partisan behavior. It champions a cause. At the present time the cause is something close to stand-patism.

"The electorate of the American Medical association is apathetic and inarticulate because it has no issues.

Need Men of Courage.

"We are in great need of medical statesmen—men of intellectual honesty, breadth of vision, courage, nobility of purpose, and the qualities of leadership—who can find a way to the solution of some of the problems of medical service which now baffle both the profession and the public."

Dr. Means' talk was the most direct attack yet made on the parent association since differences of opinion started a year ago in the medical profession about state and federal aid for medical care. He charged that the "official spokesmen" of the association were like "Jove on Olympus" hurling "thunderbolts of wrath at all who differ with orthodox doctrin."

News of Radio

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Personal postcards to:

SUNDA LOVE: So, at last you are playing a part that fits your name: The extra-curricular LOVE interest in A Tale of Today broadcast on SUNDAY afternoons.

ADRIANA CASELOTTI [The Voice of Snow White]—Too bad you started for New York on Tuesday. If you had remained in Chicago one more day you would have learned the true meaning of "snow white." But, then, listeners will benefit through your appearance on We, the People tonight from New York.

JAN GARBER: As a stooge for George Burns and Gracie Allen you are a good musician. Stick to your baton on the air; leave the talk to others.

FANNIE BRICE: Though you are announced for appearance on Good News tonight, a friend spotted you in a loop store early this week. Did you fly back to Hollywood or will you be on from New York? Well, we shall listen and learn.

HUGH STUDEBAKER: From Springfield comes word that the chamber of commerce is paying you a special tribute for your portrayal of Dr. Bob Graham in the W-G-N Bachelor's Children show. . . . We shall be looking forward to your portrayal of "Cyrano de Bergerac" on Curtain Time tomorrow night.

* * *

HARRY OWENS [of "Sweet Laelani" fame]—A lot of radio folks say that Hawaiian music of the type you play will be the next fad on the air, supplanting the present swing craze. Understand you are making a national tour starting April 17. Is Chicago on the list of stops?

MAXINE SULLIVAN: So you are going to introduce a new one on the Steinie Boys Swing club program at 6:45 on WENR. What is it you call it, "Goodbye to Annie Laurie?" Probably will stir up that argument you started with swinging "Loch Lomond," all over again.

BOB BURNS: Story told about you here is that your sponsor permits you four outside guest appearances a year, that you did one free for a Los Angeles commentator the other day and that sponsor is now counting that as one of the four. So that guest shot is costing you several thousand dollars. Well, can't you deduct from your income tax next year under the gambling losses division?

* * *

BARBARA LUDDY AND LES TREMAYNE: Congratulations on landing another long term contract. Listeners says it's good news, too, that First Nighter plans to stay on the air all summer.

PHIL WRIGLEY: Since you decided to change the name of your program from Sing and Swing to Just Entertainment, why not let Jack Fulton go back to singing in the melodic style to which he was so long accustomed instead of the present swingy, rhythmic stuff. Listeners tell us they prefer the other style.

FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN: Is it true that you wired Bushman, the Lincoln park chimp, congrats on his birthday? The extremes some press agents will go to!

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER. Reported here that the coffee maker who is paying for your show Good News is folding in mid-June for the summer.

JESSICA DRAGONETTE: Your admission that you expect to be back on the air in a couple of months is good news for your many followers.

MAREK WEBER: There seems to be nothing else quite like your gay, sparkling, and yet melodic music. Like Andre Kostelanetz's music, yours is distinguished by unusual arrangements and interpretation.

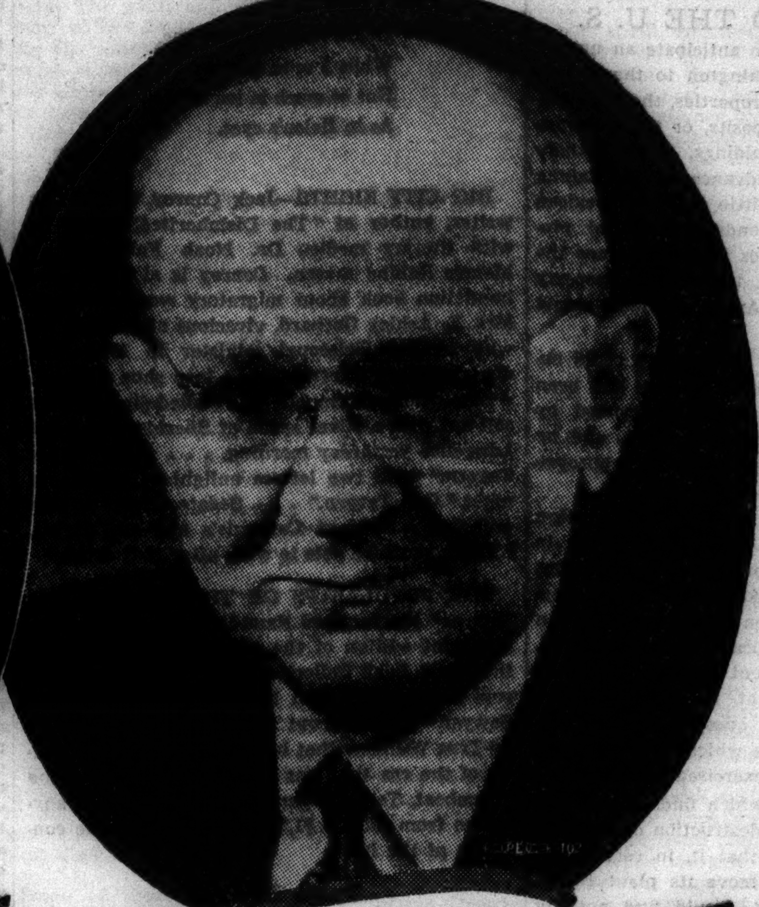
MICHAEL L. IGOE FOR U.S. SENATOR ☒



JOHN PRYSTALSKI FOR COUNTY JUDGE ☒

PRECEDING HIS APPOINTMENT by President Roosevelt as United States District Attorney for the Northern District of Illinois, Igoe served 16 years as Representative in the Illinois General Assembly and almost a year as Congressman-at-Large. Highlights from his record: Voted for Woman Suffrage Act; floor leader for Governor Dunne and served under four Governors; sponsored Illinois Waterway Bill; voted for Illinois teachers' pension and tenure bill; voted for anti-injunction bill to restrain courts from issuing blanket injunctions against labor; voted for mothers' pensions; voted for 8-hour day for women; voted for bill to furnish free textbooks in public schools; voted for bill prohibiting child labor; voted against state income tax; voted for firemen's pension; voted to repeal state prohibition act; led fight against state gasoline tax; voted and led fight for Illinois unemployment emergency relief measure.

BORN OF POOR PARENTS, one of twelve children, John Prystalski started his legal career as secretary to the late General Milton J. Foreman; was appointed assistant city prosecutor by Carter H. Harrison; next distinguished himself as prosecuting "ace" of the State's Attorney's office under Maclay Hoyne for eight years. Entered private practice from which he was recalled to public service in 1930 when he was elected Circuit Court Judge and re-elected in 1936; chosen Chief Justice of the Criminal Court in 1933 where he cleaned up dockets of cases that had been pending for years, turned back the crime wave that had been engulfing Chicago and won universal acclaim for the feat from law enforcement advocates and newspapers alike. His record is assurance that all vote fraud and tax cases will be expeditiously and fearlessly disposed of by him as County Judge. Nominate Igoe and Prystalski Primary Day!

Their Records are an Unqualified Answer to All the False Issues of the Campaign!

Igoe and Prystalski will win because the career of each of them is an open book of capable, unselfish, honest devotion to the best interests of city, county, state and nation! Challenge the self-seeking destroyers and defamers who would deny you the needed service of good officials! Vote for ability!

FRANK J. LOESCH PRAISES PRYSTALSKI'S RECORD! Famed crime fighter Frank J. Loesch has gone on record commending Judge Prystalski's conduct of the office of Chief Justice of the Criminal Court. And in a statement published in the Chicago Herald-Examiner, Mr. Loesch further said: "My estimate of Judge Prystalski's judicial record makes me confident that he is fully qualified and equipped to handle the work of the County Court." Nominate Igoe and Prystalski!

LABOR WITH IGOE AND PRYSTALSKI In the Chicago Daily News, John Fitzpatrick of the Chicago Federation of Labor recently said: "I endorse Judge John Prystalski wholeheartedly for County Judge. I recommend him to the ranks of organized labor, not only as a proven friend but as a public official . . ." Michael L. Igoe is also endorsed by the Chicago Federation of Labor, the State Federation of Labor at Springfield and Labor's Non-Partisan League. The United Mine Workers of America and other mining organizations downstate are militantly behind Igoe. Fair and square, Igoe deserves your vote.

WOMEN'S ORGANIZATION CONDEMNS PRYSTALSKI'S OPPONENT In last Sunday's Chicago Tribune, Mrs. Harriet M. Robertson, president of the Women's Civic Council, made known a 66-page report on election frauds. In her letter to Prystalski's opponent, the present County Judge, Mrs. Robertson wrote: "In view of the facts and circumstances we have on file, we conclude that failure to enforce the election laws is largely the reason for your failure to provide honest elections." Numerous other women's organizations commend Prystalski.

WELL QUALIFIED FOR THE OFFICE, SAYS CHICAGO BAR ASSOCIATION The Chicago Bar Association has published a report which says of Judge Prystalski: "His public service of eight years in the State's Attorney's office and his judicial service for the past eight years in the Circuit and Superior Courts were and are highly commendable. He is well qualified for the office of County Judge." Business men, lawyers, home-owners, and citizens in every walk of life have confidence in the ability, integrity and earnestness of Judge Prystalski.

CHICAGO TRIBUNE LAUDS IGOE On February 15 the Chicago Tribune said editorially of Michael L. Igoe's candidacy: ". . . long and creditable record in public office . . . has won the respect of citizens by his ability and integrity and force of character . . . formidable critic and opponent of the malodorous Small-Thompson regime and a sponsor of important legislation, notably the Illinois waterway act and measures for the betterment and protection of the public service. No scandal has touched him." Nominate Igoe and keep Illinois on top.

THE FAMOUS "WILTED LILY" EDITORIAL OF 1934 On October 25, 1934, the Chicago Daily News said editorially: "The once good reputation of Judge Jarecki as a champion of honest elections has become a wilted lily in the weedy backyard of crooked politics. Gone are the days when good citizens looked upon him as a doughty knight of civic righteousness, carrying a stout lance against the plunderers of the ballot box. Then they took seriously his stirring drama, 'A Day at the Polls.' Today it is a farce . . ." Has Jarecki improved since? No!

FORMER STATE'S ATTORNEY HOYNE BACKS PRYSTALSKI Maclay Hoyne, under whom Prystalski served for eight years as a brilliant, fearless prosecutor, says: "The office of County Judge entails duties which require the guidance of a man of wide legal experience and the highest degree of efficiency, vision and courage. Judge Prystalski is well fitted to ably discharge all the duties of the office. He is honest, capable, independent and worthy of the support of all intelligent voters." The County Court needs the kind of efficiency Prystalski is famed for.

A CHICAGO UNIVERSITY PROFESSOR COMMENTS ON THE COUNTY JUDGE Professor K. C. Sears of the University of Chicago Law School, widely known as an authority on election law, states: "I was anxious to see Judge Jarecki elected in 1926; I was puzzled and doubtful of him in 1930 . . . Now I am convinced from a two-year study that Judge Jarecki cannot be trusted. He is a man, whatever his instincts may be, who lacks the courage to uphold consistently his profession." There is no choice but to nominate fearless Prystalski.

A MUCH IMPROVED TAX BILL.

Senator Pat Harrison calls the revenue bill submitted by the finance committee of which he is chairman a "business recovery bill." His committee, as its report attests, has done two things which warant the use of this phrase. The destructive tax on undistributed profits has been abandoned and the taxes on capital gains have been reduced.

In the finance committee's report, as well as in Mr. Harrison's recent radio address, there were tactful references to the "uncertainties and confusion" which resulted from the levy on undistributed profits. In fact, these are the least of its faults. The primary objection to it was found in its effect on all kinds of business. It discouraged investment and enterprise. It prevented corporations from accumulating funds for their own expansion, and because it did that it gave a knockout blow to heavy industry and promoted unemployment. The undistributed profits tax was devised by men who didn't know and didn't care to know how industry has grown in this country and how jobs are created. Its consequences in destroying prosperity were predicted when it was enacted and the predictions have been proved correct.

The capital gains tax hastened the onset of the new depression by discouraging men who had made investments from taking their profits in the rising market and encouraging them to sell in the declining market which followed. By taking a major share of any profits obtained, without sharing any losses which might be incurred, the capital gains tax, of course, increased the reluctance of capital to take any risks As the essence of all business activity is the voluntary taking of risks, the effect of this tax has been to procure stagnation. A lowering of the rates, as proposed by Mr. Harrison and his committee, should prove to some extent a corrective.

Beyond all question the senate committee's bill is an improvement over the present revenue law and over the house bill; but when this has been said, and full credit has been given the committee for its courage and independence, the question remains whether the committee can justly claim to have produced a "business recovery bill." The nature of the levies has been improved but their gross weight remains unaltered and it is crushing. This administration is committed in principle to a normal annual federal revenue in the neighborhood of 7 billion dollars. The senate bill is intended to extort between 5 and 6 billions from the American people each year. Taxation at that rate is ruinous. It cannot be distributed in a fashion which will avoid injury to business and the loss of employment. The minor injustices which are unavoidable in taxation are elevated to major wrongs.

As a substitute for the undistributed profits tax this bill imposes a flat 18 per cent levy on all corporations, with some adjustment for the smallest companies. That is a crushing impost upon business and is certain to retard it. The corporation tax is also a major injustice to small stockholders. It taxes the small investor as if he had an income of $50,000 a year.

There can be no real business recovery tax bill in this country until government expenditures are reduced to a point which will permit moderate taxation.

STORMY DAY AND STORMY TIMES.

Army day was celebrated in these parts in unfavorable circumstances so far as Mother Nature was concerned. But the army is used to difficulties and can take them philosophically. The civilian public is not so spartan and many missed an interesting and inspiring show. It is a good thing for all of us to be reminded that the national defense has always had tough going.

It is natural on the day chosen this year as Army day, the day on which the United States declared itself in on the great European war, to think first of the experiences of that conflict, but we ought not allow them to overshadow the prelude. There was, for example, June of 1916 when President Carranza of Mexico ordered Gen. Obregon to cross the Rio Grande, capture San Antonio and restore Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona to the Mexican estate.

That was not so impossible a task—as a military proposition—as it should have been, considering the relative size and power of the two countries, for Obregon had a force experienced in fighting and well equipped according to the standards of the day while the United States had available on the frontier to oppose invasion a woefully inferior number of American troops lacking modern artillery and machine guns. The threat was so serious that the entire National Guard of the United States was called out. Hastily assembled at their respective state headquarters and subsequently transmitted efficiently to Texas by the American railroads and adequately supplied as to provisions by the packing companies in anticipation of the demands of the quartermaster general, the American army was ill-prepared for battle. Their great asset was their native gallantry and devotion, but after two years of the great war with its persistent threats of involvement and two years of undeclared war with Mexico, the American forces had no training and no equipment adequate to their needs and responsibilities. It was characteristic that one group of amateur soldiers supplied themselves with equipment and weapons superior to those which the government had furnished the regular army and Guard, such as rolling kitchens, machine guns and even field artillery.

We ought to recall that spontaneous movement of patriotism, the campaign for preparedness. It was not paralleled by any corresponding official action, for the administration that was to put us into the world conflict was politically pacifistic and blind to the logic of its own tendencies. But, through American initiative, the preparedness campaign was turning the American people to the realities of war and to the urgent need of practical measures. The government was doing nothing, but the people were beginning to think of responsibilities. Out of this came Gen. Wood's training camp at Plattsburg in the summer of 1915, the forerunner and model of the training camps which were to give to the American Expeditionary Force its vital character of a crusade. The American government did not meet the responsibilities of that crucial time. It was the American people and its patriotic leaders who first faced responsibility and sought to prepare for it.

Every Army day should bring to Americans the poignant lessons of those days as the nation was moving toward the ordeal of the great war. They are as full of meaning as the harsher lessons that followed and we ought not to have to learn them all over.

PRIVATE PROPERTY IN MEXICO AND THE U. S.

Mexico had no reason to anticipate an unsympathetic response in Washington to the seizure of the foreign owned oil properties, the impounding of American bank deposits, or the expropriation of American land holdings. Even if there were no assurances in advance of the taking over of the properties, a little study by Mexican authorities of current trends and official programs in the United States would convince the Mexican government that in treating property rights as it has done the American model would only be imitated.

President Cardenas and his advisers could observe that American property owners had been dispossessed by sitdown strikes supported by the government, by confiscatory taxes, and by socialistic competition supported by appropriations.

What Cardenas did by decree to the foreign owned oil companies TVA has been doing to the private utility enterprises in its territory. The Mexican promise of compensation for properties seized may be even more reliable than the prospects of the American utilities investors. When our state department tells the Mexican government that its right to take over the private properties is not questioned, it grants Mexico the same privilege which, in a different manner, is asserted and exercised here.

An American company which finds that it has no protection against the destruction of its property by the government, that it, in certain circumstances, cannot even move its plant to another location or close it, would find nothing strange in the indorsement of expropriatory measures in Mexico directed against other American companies which have been doing business there.

COMES THE CLIMATE.

Can a jonquil take it? In a day or so, after the impending January thaw, we'll know better. Only a few yesterdays ago he was standing tall and all dressed up in his best yellow, making a good deal of himself. Hepaticæ were in bloom and the white petaled bloodroot had been up and open for at least two weeks. Bluebells were well advanced in bud and the wild plum was on the point of breaking out in white. Another warm day would have nearly turned that trick. Now there's a foot of snow.

Where the meadow lark is may be better forgotten. The robin looks like the ninth earl of Blessington going home in a barrel. When this fellow views his surroundings with disgust he swells up in the middle. You never notice what his waistline is until he squats down and turns a tory eye on a world in which everything is wrong, when everything is too utter for expression. If he opened up he'd make Donald Duck seem nonprofane. The cardinal can take it. A foot of snow will not stop his spring song.

We saw this spell of weather cooking up over a month ago. If you listen you can hear the hot days of March calling back: "We planned it that way."

Editorial of the Day

BIASED CONGRESSIONAL INQUIRY.

[Milwaukee Journal.]

Congressman Hoffman of Michigan in unbridled terms denounces Senator La Follette for his management of the senate civil liberties committee which has been investigating spying and other activities in the industrial field.

The immoderate language of Mr. Hoffman is to be regretted as immoderate language is nearly always something to be apologized for. It is not the way to approach public discussions. But when Mr. Hoffman gets down to more measured speaking he does make pertinent comment about the civil liberties committee.

That committee had the opportunity to do a useful work, to go into the violations of rights that have occurred on both sides in the labor-industrial struggle. There have been cases of spying and illegal acts on the part of employers. They ought to be exposed. But there have also been cases of grave injustice to employers through violence and intimidation on the part of labor leaders. It is as bad a violation of civil liberty to destroy the business of an employer who has put in a lifetime building it up as it is to destroy a worker's job.

But the civil liberties committee, as has been shown time and again, has not been interested in how the employer fared. It has been keenly interested in every scrap of information or gossip about injustice to workers. This attitude gave it the color of bias which was the real basis of the Hoffman comment. And, of course, this bias makes the committee's work less useful than it ought to be.

It seems that now when somebody wants something investigated in congress he wants things stacked his way beforehand. That is short-sighted. And if it is persisted in it will destroy the value of congressional investigations.

GOV. HORNER was accompanied to the 12th street station by several newspaper friends when he left for Springfield night before last.

"I'd like a root beer before I get on the train," he said, and the little group stopped at the soda fountain and ordered refreshments. The governor pulled out a dollar bill in payment.

"And there'll be a penny for that fellow Horner," said the soda jerk as he made change. At the laughter his comment aroused he took a look at his patron and recognized him.

THE BUS, overcrowded and moving slowly, joggled through the snow-packed streets toward Grand avenue, and Augusta Wallace of the "Room Service" cast moved toward the front. "Isn't this Grand?" she asked the bus driver. "Yes, isn't it?" he answered sarcastically, trying to see through a frosting windshield.

TEA TIME.

Tea time in our house,

Yellow Spode on damask
Set out daintily.

Old colonial silver
Laid in nice array;
Buds of flowery Pekoe
Brewing choice bouquet.

Fortune lies in tea cups;
Tea leaves tell a tale.
Helen plays a Sibyl
The future to unveil.

Helen reads her fortune,
While I mine surmise
Not so much in tea leaves
As in Helen's eyes.

By the Last Post.

I wouldn't want to spoil a good story, but your anecdote about the two Russians, Nabokoff and Sokoloff, might give your readers a slightly erroneous impression.

Nikolai Sokoloff, now national director of the Federal Music Project, was born in Kieff, South Russia, and brought to this country by his parents when twelve years old. He was the youngest student ever admitted to the Yale University School of Music, where a special scholarship was created for him shortly after his arrival here.

Perhaps Nabokoff is a Harvard man and his description of Sokoloff's "dramatic broken English" can just be set down as a Harvard man's opinion of a Yale accent. Certainly, no reflection can justly be cast on Sokoloff's desire to promote American music. He was known as an outstanding friend of American composers during his fifteen years as conductor of the Cleveland Symphony orchestra and since he became connected with the Federal Music Project in October, 1935, that organization has publicly performed 4,915 compositions written by 1,481 musicians residing in the United States. Nothing like that has ever happened in American music before.

Evidently, if American music is to get anywhere, what we need is more "foreigners" educated in this country and fewer Americans educated abroad. Sincerely yours, Merle Macbain.

Thinking it over, the mistake may have been ours. Nabokoff's imitation of Sokoloff's foreignness was perhaps one of mannerism and gutturals rather than broken English.

SINCE RUMORS of Leopold Stokowski's marriage to Greta Garbo have been rife, the report that the noted conductor is English, not Polish, and that his name originally was Leonard Stokes have been cropping up again. Stokowski was born in England, but his parents were Polish; his father was named Antoni Stanislaw Boleslowoicz Stokowski, and his great-grandfather, who was one of Napoleon's officers, had the same name with Leopold in front of it. . . . Elsie Gullberg, daughter of Elsie Gullberg, noted Swedish designer of textiles, is in town this week. A dark-eyed girl with a charming accent, she tells how her mother started the modern trend in textiles in Europe, doing her first weaving with the Swedish peasants.

WHEN VINCENT STARRETT was indulging his passion for old books by rummaging through the counters of them displayed at a loop department store after it had bought the stock of an old New York bookshop, he encountered a book with his own name on the half-title page. The book was Elia Peattie's "How Jacques Came to the Forest of Arden." It was a book he had once owned. What Author Starrett was looking for particularly—and is always looking for—was a little book he wrote and that he and Rare Bookman Walter Hill gave friends for Christmas in 1920 called "The Unique Hamlet." The book was a burlesque on Sherlock Holmes, and is in demand among collectors of Sherlock Holmes.

THE NICEST INSCRIPTION Starrett has found in years of old book rummaging was that on a copy of Browning's poems. The inscription read "Abelard from Héloise." Somewhere in the world there probably is a book Abelard did give to Héloise, and Starrett once served notice that it rightfully belongs to him, if such a treasure be found.

HOW SYPHILIS DIMS EYESIGHT.

SYPHILIS — which punishes the human body in so many different ways—produces a comparable chain of disorders affecting the eyes. All too often we think of this scourge as responsible for skin lesions or possibly alterations in the bones. The fact is, that not a single structure is exempt from its attack.

There is, first of all, the damage occasioned by congenital syphilis. This is very likely to bring about a progressive inflammation of the clear part of both eyes [cornea] in boys and girls between the ages of 5 and 15. These organs become red and inflamed and a cloudy film spreads through the central portion. One optic is usually affected first, followed by a similar condition in the other after an interval of weeks or months. Children who suffer from this complaint—known as interstitial keratitis—generally have other signs of the primary disease, including changes in the teeth, sinking of the bridge of the nose, or characteristic wrinkling about the lips.

When the situation is recognized and treatment is begun promptly, the ocular symptoms clear up considerably in many instances. There is danger, however, that some scarring will remain, leaving the victim partially blind.

Congenital syphilis also ushers in a disorder of the inner coats of the eye—which control vision. This difficulty [choroiditis] may be present when the child is born or develop soon thereafter. It may not be observed until the youngster goes to school, when it is discovered that he cannot see very well.

The unfortunate part of it all is that these handicaps could be prevented easily if a blood test were performed on every woman during pregnancy. If positive, steps may be taken before the birth of the baby which will insure a healthy infant.

In the acquired type of syphilis, inflammation of the eyes [iritis] occurs commonly. This is an acute and painful affliction in which the pupil may become filled with a membrane which interferes seriously with sight. If a correct diagnosis is made at once, response to medical care is immediate as a rule.

Involvement of the inner coats of the eye—the choroid and the retina—also takes place quite frequently. Here there is no acute inflammation, but only a gradual loss of vision which sends the patient to the physician. Whereupon—if the source is syphilis—spots will be detected in the choroid and the retina as well as in the clear jelly which fills the ball of the eye. The acute condition is amenable to treatment, but injured areas of retina are left which deprive the individual of visual power.

Paralysis of the muscles which move the eye also appears in the acquired form of the disease. The typical manifestation is a sudden drooping of one upper lid, the ball turning outward. Examination will then show that the eye can scarcely be moved in any manner and that the lid cannot be raised. While this failure of function may be ascribed to other ailments, it is always advisable to test for syphilis.

The most serious complication is optic atrophy. This is found in late cases, in which the central nervous system has been stricken. It may or may not be accompanied by paralysis of other parts of the body. The patient is aware of but one thing—namely, the slow progressive loss of sight. The examining physician finds that the nerves of both eyes are pale and that the pupils fail to react in the proper manner. There is often a history of treatment for syphilis for only a brief and insufficient period. While the blood tests may be negative an investigation of the spinal fluid will show positive findings.

It is especially important that optic atrophy be identified promptly, as this is the only stage when treatment offers hope of success.

FULL EXAMINATION URGED.

Mrs. W. W. S. writes: 1. My husband has had several attacks of indigestion, at which time gas has pressed on the heart, causing great distress. What procedure should be followed to give relief?

2. What is the cause of his having severe leg cramps and what can be done? He becomes faint after these attacks and usually has a chill. He is 55 years old.

REPLY.

1. A careful examination should be conducted to determine whether acute gastritis, angina pectoris, or spasm of the coronary arteries of the heart is responsible. Many so-called stomach attacks originate in the heart itself. I would suggest an electrocardiogram, which your physician can arrange for, as well as certain stomach tests which he can conduct. Treatment should be directed toward the cause. If it is true indigestion, correction of the diet may be all that is needed.
2. Probably deficient circulation to the extremities. Hardening of the arteries should be considered. Heat will dilate the skin capillaries and give relief.

STOMACH SPASM EXPLAINED.

Mrs. E. writes: I have a baby 8 months old. An X-ray picture taken at 4 months showed a spasm at the upper end of the stomach. As it was not very large it was decided to treat it by medication.

1. What is a spasm?
2. Is it a growth?
3. How will it finally disappear? Will it dissolve?
4. Is it harmful to give eight to ten drops of paregoric for pain?
5. If so, what is the danger?

REPLY.

1. A firm contraction of the muscles controlling the stomach outlet.
2. No.
3. In many of these cases the nervous stimulation causing the contraction decreases through the use of proper feeding.
4. Probably not. However, you should follow your physician's directions.
5. Opium poisoning.

AFFECTS SPLEEN, LIVER.

C. H. writes: What are the symptoms of Hodgkin's disease?

REPLY.

Slowly developing anemia with enlargement of the lymphatic glands. The temperature is irregular. Diffuse browning of the skin with itching may occur. Both the spleen and the liver are usually swollen.

SHADE BABY'S EYES.

Mrs. S. writes: Is it harmful to allow the sun to shine directly into a baby's eyes?

REPLY.

Yes. Keep the baby's eyes shaded at all times.

UNEMPLOYMENT BENEFITS.

Chicago, April 2.—Although I have been a dyed in the wool southern Democrat all my life, having been reared in the best traditions of the old Virginia Democrats, I think that I am beginning to see a lifetime mistake.

I have been out of work for nigh onto one year, so yesterday I just ambled down to the social security department, more out of curiosity than anything else, to find out something about the unemployment benefits that will accrue under this plan.

After casually talking with one of the supposed know-alls in the department [and there are so many that they are in each other's way] I asked when the benefits would accrue and what becomes of the money that we pay into the fund, when we do have steady employment, and the moneys exacted from employers.

The reply was that the benefits would not accrue for another "three or four years, maybe five or six, if they ever do." I asked what was meant by "if they ever do," and with a contemptuous shrug of the shoulders, he replied, "Your guess is as good as mine, brother," and continued to busy himself with sorting out some leaflets and other propaganda, printed, no doubt, at the expense of the contributing companies and workmen. H. D. KING.

POLL ERRORS.

Chicago, April 3.—Your story of poll errors is astounding. Perhaps, though, these errors may be due to the sin of ignorance rather than treachery. Upon registration day, if somebody's wife's cousin's friend must be given a job, why are not such people trained for it? There might have been an excuse for the woman in our ward being ignorant of her work in the early hours, but when I registered at noon there wasn't any justification whatever for her fumbling, and a neighbor told me she registered at night and the poor worker was still dumb. At least they should be taught the difference between a ward and precinct and a few more rudiments. If that woman could turn in a report without countless errors, then I am fooled. R. E. L.

A PLATFORM RE-EXAMINED.

Chicago, April 4.—Would some one please present the New Deal platform of 1936? I have one in front of me now, but it doesn't mention anything about packing the Supreme court, reorganizing the United States government, allowing the communist C. I. O. to do whatever they want, with a government agency set up to see that no one interfered with it. It does not contain any clause saying that Corcoran & Cohen will write the laws for our country. It does say something about belief in private enterprise, the American form of government, and a lot of other inviting promises. W. SIMS.

VITTORIO VENETO.

Chicago, April 1.—If Andre Crapaud wasn't so ignorant and stupid, he would have learned in world war history that at Vittorio Veneto there wasn't any French general to make the battle plan or French officer to lead the troops. Instead we won the war for ourselves and for everybody else, too. ITALO.

NAME AND SLOGAN.

Chicago, March 29.—Some people call it the Roosevelt recession; others call it the Roosevelt depression; but it ought to be called by its right name, the Roosevelt oppression, and all liberty loving citizens should adopt a slogan, "Defeat the Roosevelt Oppression." A. PECK.

Test Your Facts

Below each of the following questions are listed three answers. Make your choice, turn to page 28 in the Want Ad section for the correct answers, and mark your score:

1. What building now stands on the site of Fort Dearborn as established in 1803?
2. Who was the first woman to swim the English channel?
   [a] Eleanor Holm, [b] Gertrude Ederle, [c] Betty Robinson.
3. Who wrote the famous "Ode to a Grecian Urn"?
   [a] Burns, [b] Moore, [c] Keats.
4. Which of the three coinage mints of the United States was first established?
   [a] Philadelphia, [b] San Francisco, [c] Denver.

BARROOM CHARACTER.

Chicago, April 3.—Much is being said about delinquent boys, but what about the fathers who cannot behave themselves? I know a man who never takes his pay check home, but stops in the saloon before he goes home and stays there till he is so full of drink that he is mean and miserable and unfit to be near children. He tries to make everybody think that he is good to his family, but the fact is he keeps them living in a shack that should be reported to the health department. It is said he has a very good wife, who looks about half worried to death, and some grand children, credit for which surely goes to the mother and not to him.

Could this man be reported without bringing more grief on the family? The man is a WPA worker and not earning much as it is. There are rumors that on more than one occasion he has gone home with his entire pay gone, and that he not only drinks on pay day but often enough in between.

Why is nothing done about these men who deprive their families of the bare necessities of life? SEVERAL ONLOOKERS.

THE JUNIOR COLLEGES.

Chicago, April 4.—In response to Morton Robbins' criticism of the educational polic yat Wilson Junior college that appeared in this column last week I wish to state that any person who has no more respect for a free college education than he has should be restricted from all privileges.

In the short time that the junior colleges have been in existence they have done remarkable work toward educating those who were and are unable to pay a regular college tuition. High school graduates who would otherwise not have the opportunity of securing two years of college education free take advantage of the offer and occasionally a few win scholarships to a university, showing that good students come from the junior colleges.

I suggest that Mr. Robbins apply himself to the numerous adjustments he has to make every day of his life so he can fully enjoy it. FRANK L. TOURANGEAU.

GESTURE OF FRIENDSHIP.

Chicago, April 2.—If one forgotten man may speak of another, may I suggest that you make some editorial comment on Mr. Hoover's plan, made in his radio address of March 31, for using the debts incurred after the war by twelve European nations to the United States as a fund to provide scholarship exchanges between us and these debtor nations. Seems to me to be a good idea. L. DE SWARTE.

MAYBE IT'S ARTISTIC.

Chicago, April 2.—The outside of the Art institute building is certainly a disgrace to the city. The north end especially looks like the inside of a chimney as it is thickly covered with soot. If public funds cannot be found for a cleaning job, why not solicit private contributions from those who feel some pride in their city? CONSTANT READER.

HE DID.

In disclaiming any aspirations to become a dictator, the President must think we have short memories. Did he not say that during his first term all those opposing him had met their match and during his second term they would meet their master? CARL A. ROSS.

SU-LIN.

Chicago, April 4.—Having read very sad accounts of the panda's death, I wonder just why two M. D. throat specialists were called on this case instead of veterinarians who specialize on animals.

A thoroughly trained veterinarian can see, feel, or smell symptoms in a sick animal much quicker than any well trained M. D. ever could. The day of the so-called horse doctor has passed for many years, but to talk to some M. D.'s one would think that their profession was above all others. Just ask any M. D. what profession produces all serums, bacterins, and vaccines for their use on their human patients; if they know the right answer they will say veterinarians. If the medical profession can trust veterinarians for this accurate and scientific work, why don't they leave the treating of animals to them?

I am sure any veterinarian could have made a better diagnosis than the throat specialists when they were treating Su-Lin, even though the panda is a rare animal. DOROTHY J. EDWARDS.

THE MEDAL HAS TWO FACES.

Chicago, March 28.—Elmer R. Flory in his Teachers day letter gives the teachers credit for "shaping the lives of men and governing the destiny of the world." I wonder if he wants to give teachers credit for all the school boy bandits and criminals, too. If teachers are to be given all the credit for all the good in this world, who is to take credit for all the school boy bandits? C. S.

THE CARS WHIZ BY.

Chicago, March 29.—Isn't there something that can be done to stop the high-handed attitude of street car motormen? Apparently to make up for lost time, they just skip stopping points. Especially is this true of westward bound Irving Park cars. MRS. E. K.

NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS.

Chicago, April 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. On Jan. 11 I made the last payment on my car and [2] have been trying ever since to recover my original note. I have been informed three times, after calling the finance company on the telephone, that I would receive the paper in a few days. The fourth time I called [3] I was told that these papers are held by the state until the final payment is made and that there was some delay in getting them back, so I would have to wait indefinitly.

4. Can you advise me if this is true and [5] about how long I will have to wait? On a previous car purchase from a different company I did not have this trouble. J. J. S.

1. In general, a person who is indebted on a negotiable instrument should see the instrument at the time of making his payments and should ascertain that part payments are indorsed on the instrument and that the instrument is surrendered to him at the time of his final payment.
2. Since you neglected proper precautions at the time of your payment, your position to enforce matters is weaker now and we doubt if it is worth your while for you to follow it up.
3. This is not true.
4. See 3.
5. We are not in a position to say.

Nancy Doering Will Be Bride of Hollander

BY JUDITH CASS.

INTERESTING romantic news is the announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Edmund J. Doering of the engagement of their youngest daughter, Nancy, to Harold Hartog of The Hague, Holland.

The announcement will come as a surprise to all of Miss Doering's friends, for her romance with Mr. Hartog has flourished in Paris, where he is engaged in business, and where she has been spending the winter with a French family studying French. The wedding is to take place abroad, probably in Paris or in Holland, some time this summer, and Mr. Hartog and his bride will continue to live in Paris.

The Doerings' future son-in-law is no stranger to them, for they have known him and his family for several years. Having a daughter who lives abroad will be no new experience for the Doerings, either, for their second daughter, Edna, and her husband, Capt. Ambrogio Cassinerio, live in Florence, Italy. Mrs. Cassinerio is in Paris just now with her sister, who makes her home with Mme. Poirson at 18 Boulevard Malesherbes. Next winter Miss Doering and Mr. Hartog will occupy his apartment in the Boulevard Beau Sejour, and later they plan to take a house in the country.

Miss Doering, who was educated at the Foxhollow school in New York and at Miss Weaver's in Munich, made her debut here in the 1934 season. Mrs. R. Martin Stevenson, the former Virginia Doering, is her other sister, and Edmund J. Doering II. is their only brother. Mr. and Mrs. Doering will go abroad for the wedding.

Casino to Hold Easter Luncheon.

For the first time in its history the Casino is planning to provide a special destination for its members who stroll in the Easter parade after church services, for the club will give an Easter luncheon and musical at 1:30 o'clock. Mrs. Frank Hibbard is president of the club.

The Chicago Drama league will start the post-lenten season merrily with a tea for Burgess Meredith and Lillian Gish and others of the "Star Wagon" company on Monday, April 18.

The party will be given in the crystal ballroom of the Blackstone hotel. William D. Saltiel will talk on "What Hope the Road" at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Townsend McKeever, program chairman, will introduce the speaker and Mrs. Paul Steinbrecher, the president, will introduce the theatrical guests.

The league is giving two theater parties for "Star Wagon," a matinée and an evening one, both next Wednesday.

Italy America Society to Visit Art Exhibit.

The Italy America society has cards out for a view of the exhibition of contemporary Italian paintings now hanging in the galleries of the Arts club. The meeting will be held next Tuesday morning at 11:30 o'clock. Ivo and Francesca Meucci will speak informally of the artists, among whom are Carra, Casorati, De Chirico, De Pisis, Severini, and Tosi. Luncheon will be served following the talks.

The Chicago women who went to Miss Hall's school in Pittsfield, Mass., will gather for luncheon at the Blackstone hotel next Tuesday to meet Miss Margaret Hall, president of the school. Miss Hall is a niece of the late Miss Mira Hall, who founded the school. Mrs. Robert Critchell is in charge of the luncheon.

The wedding of Miss Mary Wood,

Actors' Equity Drops Liberal Leadership After Brief Trial

New York, April 6.—[Special.]—Actors' Equity, its brief trial with liberal leadership at an end, prepared today to elect Arthur Byron, veteran actor with no publicized social philosophy, as its president.

The nomination of Byron, 66 years old, was announced at Equity headquarters here. He is unopposed. Also unopposed is Bert Lytell, another veteran of the stage and the movies, for vice-president.

Byron will succeed Burgess Meredith, who resigned. Meredith, at the time he assumed the presidency, announced he would not retain the office unless a clean majority of the members supported his fight for "liberalization in the theater."

Meredith's program called for elaboration of the federal theater projects and an increased personnel in art projects.

A test of this program took place when there was an election of council members.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

The other day a fashion expert told the State Street council—in one of the best fashion talks we've ever heard—that the high hair style is of such importance that it cannot be overlooked by fashion coördinators. The clothes, she said, demand the coiffure that swooshes high in a carefully casual effect.

Like dizzy hats, amusing jewelry, full skirts, and prints that tell a story in pictures, the hair brushed high is typical of 1938, according to this authority. She even went so far as to say that 1938 clothes look like 1936 clothes if the suggestion of the new high style isn't present in the coiffure.

We ourselves have been having fun playing with the upswept coiffure. The models who pose for pictures have been willing guinea pigs. And it's perfectly true that in most cases, especially with evening clothes, the brushed up hairdress adds piquance to the picture. With hats it is something of a different story—but here the combination coiffure is useful.

Women have been beseiging us with inquiries about this hair style. To them we can only say that they must put themselves in the hands of an expert. It takes an expert to execute a coiffure that can be gay and gaga for evening and conservative enough for day. It takes expert shaping and even more expert permanent waving.

But if you're young and sprightly, with a pretty neckline in the back, by all means try the high style for evening at least—especially if your evening gowns are the picturesque kind.

Fashion Group Indulges Color Whims at Show

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

If you always have had a sneaking desire to wear a large brimmed, sky blue hat, long vermilion gloves, and an enormous mustard yellow bag with a new spring dress of black, this is the year to indulge in that suppressed desire.

That costume is what one of the models wore in the Fashion Group's fashion show yesterday. The show, brilliant in more ways than one, was given during luncheon in the ballroom of the Drake hotel before a fashionable audience that filled the room to overflowing.

Dozens, who had tried too late to get tickets, watched the display of spectacular fashions from the balcony, and as far as could be judged, not one person who had planned to attend the affair was kept away by the severe weather. Nor were those in the audience kept from wearing their newest spring hats by the snow. The guest enjoyed a veritable show of the latest hat styles watching the lunchers arrive. Not as extreme styles, to be sure, as those we saw later on the models, but interesting ones none the less.

Hats with wide brims and low or no crowns, tilted at unbelievable angles, were worn by most of the models, but the women in the audience wore close fitting peaked caps or perky little sailors, out of deference to the wind and snow. But they all were colorful, for this is a season of riotous color.

There were a few amateur models, among them Mrs. George S. Chappell Jr., who was as lovely a bride as ever walked down an aile or a runway. Tall and dark haired and eyed, the former Caroline Byron Smith was a picture in pale pink marganza with a veil of the same sheer material held to her head by a wee cluster of pink roses. She wore short marganza gloves edged with double ruching and she carried a little bouquet of pink roses. Walking just ahead of her was a very little flower girl all in pink, too, from tiny pink kid slippers that peeped from beneath lace pantalettes to the bonnet that partially covered her long brown curls.

The maid of honor, Miss Charlotte Hubbart, and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams III., Mrs. William K Meyers, Miss Madeline Shannon, and Miss Peggy Leinert, were in pink, also.

Some of those who watched the show and applauded enthusiastically when it was finished were Mrs. Frank Hibbard and her nieces, Mrs. Charles S. Dewey Jr. and Miss Kay Goodman; Mrs. Bruce Borland, Mrs. Edward Byron Smith, Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams Jr., Mrs. John L. Cochran, Mrs. Harold Beacom, Mrs. Potter Palmer III., Mrs. John M. Simpson, Mrs. George A. Ranney and her daughter, Mrs. Gaylord Donnelley and her daughter-in-law-to-be, Miss Nancy Ryerson; Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, Mrs. Charles W. Dempster, Mrs. John Crerar, Mrs. Edward J. White and her daughter, Mrs. George Bates, Mrs. Townsend McKeever, Mrs. Stuart Logan, Mrs. Eugene Howard, Mrs. John Merrell and her daughter, Miss Honor Merrell.

Also Miss Martha Carr, who will be married to Peter Moon on the 30th of this month; Mrs. John C. Murphy, Mrs. John L. Cochran, Mrs. Thomas Heed, Mrs. Ralph Chapman, Mrs. Marshall Sampsell, Mrs. Marjorie Letts, Mrs. John B. Allen, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. Byron S. Harvey, Mrs. Hubert Burnham, Mrs. John Wentworth, Miss Eleanor Janney, Mrs. Ralph Shaw, Mrs. Samuel T. Chase, Miss Helen Drake, Mrs. Kenath Sponsel, Mrs. Herbert McLaughlin, Mrs. Frank M. Gordon and her daughter, Mrs. Edmond Sullivan.

The Fashion group, composed of women whose business is fashion, made its debut as a fashion show producer with this show. Previously the only shows it has given have been small, informal affairs just for the members and their invited friends. This show undoubtedly will not be the last the group will give, however, and we predict that before long the Chicago Fashion group will rival the older and larger New York Fashion group as a fashion show impresario!

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

The Observation Post.

Hollywood, Cal., April 6. — Saw a midget walking along Hollywood boulevard last night and every time I see one of the little people I'm reminded of a story that Dave Crowley, then attorney general of Michigan, told of a famous Detroit auto tycoon who attended a party at a Detroit hotel, drank too much, and went upstairs to sleep it off. His friends, among whom was a theater manager, decided to startle their friend and in the process of it roused from slumber fourteen midgets who were playing the theater managed by the theatrical man.

The midgets arrived at the party, and their capacity being notoriously minute, the little men soon were very drunk. So they proceeded to the hotel room of the auto tycoon, who was sleeping uneasily. "Get undressed," the theatrical man told the midgets, "go into his room and sit on the bed and the dresser. When he awakes you will all start singing and he will be very surprised."

Smothering their shrill snickers, the disrobed midgets invaded the room of the auto tycoon. Two of them sat on the foot of his bed. Two of them adopted poses plastiques on his chifforobe. One of them, hoisted by the others, climbed up on the chandelier. One of them folded his arms on his tiny chest and stood in the washbasin. The eight others, in the nude, formed a circle preparatory to dancing, the stage all set, the auto tycoon's friends signaled the switchboard operator to ring his room, and turned on the lights.

The auto magnate came out of a head throbbing sleep to find a horrifying sight. Midgets were all over the room, and the eight dancing nudes were singing shrilly, "Ring Around the Rosie."

His friends out in the hallway heard the auto magnate's shriek of terror, and then in a spree of nerves he started breaking up every bit of furniture. Midgets came streaming out of the room, running hell bent for election. By the time the hotel detectives had grabbed the auto tycoon the room was a shambles.

The hotel cops, of course, refused to believe his fantastic story that when he awakened fourteen bare little men were sitting around his room and dancing and singing "Ring Around the Rosie." The hotel had decided to sue the auto manufacturer, despite his famous name, for malicious destruction when the practical jokers hurriedly got hold of Dave Crowley, told him the story, said they'd make good for all the damage, and got him to call off the threatened suit. They also had to pay for the clothes of the midgets, who did not stop to pick them up.

I can sympathize with the auto magnate. In New York, a long time ago, your reporter used to live at the Hotel Claridge. One night, coming into the lobby, late, I saw ten little men standing at the desk, and the shock was so profound that the revolving door almost knocked me down.

Darryl Zanuck's first bow in pictures was playing the part of an Indian. The old Kalem company had arrived at Edendale, Cal., to make a western picture, and Zanuck and a group of neighborhood children were hired to impersonate a crowd of Indian kids. The wardrobe man passed out black wigs to the youngsters.

Nine year old Zanuck was cheated out of his big chance. Bessie Barriscale, playing the lead, did not look kosher as a blonde haired Indian, so the director reached out indiscriminately to retrieve a black wig, and yanked it off Zanuck's head. He says he can't recall so keen a disappointment as that one.

Gary Cooper had better luck, although his debut was hardly more distinguished. Cooper broke into pictures as an extra in a Tom Mix picture, "The Lucky Horseshoe."

For the dream sequence in which Mix dreamed he was Robin Hood they needed extras to fill up Sherwood forest, so Cooper got a day's work and a wardrobe consisting of long green tights, a lether jacket, a feathered cap, a sheath of arrows, and a long bow. He and the other extras jumped up and down to express excitement and joy when the queen rode in on a white charger. The queen, by the way, was Billy Dove.

My mother always told me that a sure sign of the Irish was that they turned first invariably in a newspaper to the obituary columns. Guess she was right, because I always do, reading columns upon columns of deaths of people who were strangers to me in life.

Most unusual obit I ever read was in Variety, the trade paper. It read something like this: "In memory of our dearly beloved brother," and was signed "The Three Happy Bolivars."

London's famous agony column carries a lot of unusual appeals to husbands, wives, and children. Nothing ever appeared in that space, however, to compare with the bitterness of a two line classified ad that appeared three years ago in the New York Times. "Dog lost, yellow, male, old, and feeble. Finder may keep him. No reward."

It was an elderly man's sardonic description of himself. I wrote something about it, and he sent me a letter, without any address: "Thanks. I'll be a suicide within twenty-four hours."

Good Morning!

KIND: Prison drama from the pen of Warden Lawes.

ACTING: Just splendid! The piece marks Dick Foran's first essay in other lines than "horse opry." Speaking of opry—how the chap can sing! To me Mr. Foran is aptly described when I say he has everything Nelson Eddy has—and hasn't. Of course his voice isn't a highly trained one, but there's personality and feeling behind it. John Litel, as a prison chaplain, gives a magnificent performance. There's a scene stealer if ever one breathed! . . . You'll love June Travis. . . .

DIRECTION: Aces.

DIALOG: Convincing.

STORY: Interesting chronicle of a convict imprisoned for a murder he didn't commit. He fights the whole prison system till he meets his match in a chaplain who can battle with fists as well as brains. . . . The tale has suspense, heart throbs, and some laughter.

SETS, SOUND, PHOTOGRAPHY, ETC.: Okeh.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: A lot!

The Housewife

Time was when all window shades were white, dark green, or ecru. But this isn't true any more. There's a lovely larkspur blue roller shade that is beautiful in a summer bedroom or a cottage living or dining room.

A new color, called azure, really is a light turquoise. It, too, is used for roller shades and brings a charming decorative note into your room's furnishings.

If you wish you can order these light shades double faced, with black or a deep green on one side to keep out the bright sunshine on summer mornings. Of course, they cost more this way.

SYNOPSIS.

Karen Gilbert meets Gordon Stone returning to Barranca after eight years in prison. Gordon was framed by Karen's ruthless uncle and guardian, Lyn Gilbert, owner of Bar B B ranch, and his foreman, Curt Ford. Because Karen has a friend take her to the hideout of Gordon and Jack Turnbull and warn them in time to save them from a posse of Gilbert's riders her uncle imprisons her at his ranch. Gordon and Jack start a campaign against Gilbert. The affidavit of Linc Conway, who was kept by threats from coming to Gordon's aid, is published in the Courier. It accuses Gilbert and Ford. Gilbert hires his rider, Cheyenne, to rub Linc out. Gordon rescues Karen from the ranch. Driving back he discovers a band of Gilbert's men rustling cattle for Curt Ford. He captures one of them. The cattle belong to Gordon's uncle, John Fleming, owner of the J F ranch. Gordon leaves Karen and his prisoner with his uncle. Then, heading a band of men, he rounds up the other rustlers.

INSTALMENT XXVIII.

HIS ENEMIES GETTING TOGETHER.

"I have a fine bunch of lunkheads working for me, or rather for themselves. This convict shows you up proper. First he lams the tar outa you, Curt, when your foot slipped, as you was so particular to explain to me, with all the cackling gossips of the town having grandstand seats. Then when you send out a posse to arrest him, Cheyenne bungles it so he gets captured instead and one of my riders goes to the hospital and runs up a bill on me."

"I didn't hear anything about arresting him," Cheyenne said hardily. "My instructions were to bump him off."

"Not so loud," Gilbert urged. "Firkins or my stenographer is liable to hear. . . . Then you comb the hills for two-three weeks and all the satisfaction I get is a lot of excuses about how you just missed getting this scoundrel. Meanwhile he digs up an affidavit from Linc Conway that is liable to blow both of you sky high."

Cheyenne leaned back in his chair, chewing a tobacco cud comfortably. "Not me," he differed. "I'm sitting pretty."

"On top of all that he traps a bunch of my hired boobs while they are rustling his uncle's stock. That puts me in bad and fixes him up with old John Fleming and all the other cattlemen who spend their time hating me and figuring out ways to cripple my interests. Read the stories in the Courier. Every fool in Barranca is laughing his head off at the way this fellow makes a sucker out of me."

"They've been waiting a long time for that belly laugh, Lyn, and you hadn't ought to grudge them a deep one," Cheyenne said, with mock sympathy. "But it sure looks like you and Curt were unlucky when you picked this guy Stone for an enemy. Too bad the hanging didn't go through as scheduled when you framed him for the Brock killing. You ask for a hundred per cent success from yore hired hands, but you weren't very thorough that time your own self, I notice."

"Too much sentimental pity for him on account of his youth. The governor weakened and commuted his sentence. Not my fault." Gilbert leaned forward, lowering his voice still more. "Boys, you've got to get him, before he gets you."

"That's right," assented Ford sourly.

"You mean before he gets you two," corrected Cheyenne. "I told you onct before, Lyn, that I'm one of these here innocent bystanders looking on." He added, maliciously: "Enjoying the fun, as the fellow said when his mother-in-law was bit by a rattler. Looks like Stone has the Indian sign hung on you. Well, you've had a long run of luck for yore money, Lyn. It can't last always."

"Don't fool yourself, Cheyenne," his employer rasped in a whisper, shaking a fat forefinger at the rider. "I'll mop up this two-spot like I always have done those who tried to fight me."

"Will you do this mopping up personal?" asked the saturnine puncher, a bit of irony in his murmured question. "Or by deputy?"

Gilbert did not answer. He turned to his foreman. "That beef buyer is staying down at the Kenworthy hotel. Go talk with him about that bunch we have in the north pasture. Don't let him rim you. I'll want to okay it before you close with him."

Ford rose. "Might as well be drifting, Cheyenne. Keep me informed how things go, Lyn."

"Cheyenne is staying," Gilbert said. "I want a little talk with him."

"Exactly," his employer answered.

Cheyenne was looking out of the window. He laughed, shortly.

"Talk of the devil," he drawled.

The gazes of the other two men slanted through the window to the street below. Three men and a woman were getting out of a car. The men were John Fleming, Dave Landers of the Scissors ranch, and Gordon Stone. The woman was Karen Gilbert.

The cowpuncher made derisive comment, pointed at his two companions. "Coupla days ago he was on the dodge—holed up in the hills and dassent show his nose in town. Now he's straddlin' down the street, easy to find as a bell-mare. I'd say his stock is lookin' up. See what respectable company he keeps. Old John must have killed the fatted doggie after his nephew rounded up a passle of Bar B B rustlers. And there's Dave Landers stickin' closer than a cockelburr. Seems like I've seen the young lady somewheres." His sardonic grin slid over his employer and back to the street. "Why, I'll be dad blamed if it isn't Miss Gilbert. We'll all be one nice happy family soon."

Gilbert did not answer. His enemies were getting together and coming out into the open. He must move fast—and against Gordon Stone, who was the spearhead of the opposition.

"Sure you could," jeered Cheyenne. "Hop to it, Curt."

The foreman looked at him angrily. "I ain't scared of him, and I've heard plenty from you, Cheyenne."

"That'll do, boys," the man at the desk interrupted. "Thought you were on the way to the Kenworthy, Curt."

"You're the doctor," snapped the major-domo.

After Ford had stamped out of the room Gilbert hitched his chair a little nearer the desk. "Come closer, Cheyenne," he said.

The cowpuncher's reply was derisively frank. "I see you've picked me as the deputy to do this mopping. Much obliged for the compliment, but I wouldn't choose to accept. Don't forget I'm on another job right now."

"We'll forget that little scoundrel Conway for the present. I have other business for you, Cheyenne."

Cheyenne sat down close to the desk. "I'm listening," he mentioned.

Gilbert waited a long time before he spoke, his gimlet eyes fastened on the blank wall face of the other.

"This is big money for you, Cheyenne," he said at last. "I'm going to show you a way to make a stake in the country so you'll be fixed for life."

On Cheyenne's dark face there was a skeptical smile. "Fixed in the penitentiary?" he asked. "How can you be sure of that, Lyn? They might hang me."

Gilbert waved that aside as persiflage. He appeared to study the cowboy, as if he were appraising his quality. "You're not such a bad looking fellow, Cheyenne. You have that reckless devil-may-care look women are supposed to like. And you're old enough to have some sense. How would you like to marry my niece?"

"Did she ask you to propose to me?" he inquired with drawling sarcasm.

"She's like a colt that needs to be ridden with a firm hand. You're the man who can do it. The L B is a good ranch. Of course that would go with her, since she owns it."

Care of Hands Will Help Cure the Nail Biter

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Yesterday I had a manicure. That may not seem worth mentioning to you, but it's a great event in my life! I seem to have little time for beauty salons—the doing of hair, fingernails, and other grooming rituals has to be tucked in between other things at home.

But, to get back to the manicure. It was the best I've ever had, done with gentle, deft fingers—a smooth job—and a "smooth" job! Coming after a session of doing chores about the house that were hard on the hands, fingernails and cuticle, the treatment and soft groomed effect were soothing and pleasing, and much more so than if I had done them myself.

Yes, all this is leading up to something—it's not just the story of my life! It's being told because it came along at a time when I was reading some letters about children biting their nails.

And it made me realize once again how important care of the nails is when a mother is trying to help a child who is a chronic nail biter. You yourself know how annoying even one broken or rough nail is, or a hang nail, or that dry, rough condition the ends of your fingers get in from being in water too much. Think how uncomfortable some of these little fingers [or bigger ones] must be when the nails have been bitten for a long time, with the consequent discomfort of dryness and rough cuticle.

One of the first steps in curing nail biting is to give regular attention to your child's hands; probably twice a day at first. Softening cream or oil must be used, and you might induce a little or big girl [but scarcely a boy] to wear gloves at night.

Orange-wood stick and emery boards, or a manicure set are needed, too, and arouse interest and pride. If it's a boy, get implements that look masculine to him, and perhaps call them manicure "tools."

For the rest of the cure—well, sometimes it's superficial; sometimes it must go deep. A happy, active, busy, well-rounded day must be planned. Look for anything that interferes with this and correct it. Emotions or tension creating nervousness must be cleared up. Physical conditions creating nervousness or fatigue must be cleared up, also. We have reading matter on the nervous child, in case you are interested.

"Biting the Finger Nails—How to Check the Habit" is a leaflet helpful to parents. It will be sent on receipt of a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Lily Pond.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

This charming pieced design derived its inspiration from a tranquil lily pond on the outskirts of a densely wooded tract in southern Illinois. The charming 96 year old woman who gave me this design had received it from her mother, who pieced it as a little girl, and the pattern was one of the favorites of the mother and daughter. The block is average in size, measuring 14 inches, and the entire coverlet is composed of 42 pieced designs set together. A three inch border and a half inch bias binding complete the coverlet. A combination of printed and plain materials should be used to obtain the most effective results.

daughter of Mrs. Kay Wood, to Albert de Wolfe Erskine Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert de Wolfe Erskine, will take place at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the home of the bride's mother. The Rev. Wilfred Rowell of Hinsdale will read the service, to which only the immediate families have been invited.

The bride, who will wear the wedding veil Mrs. Mahlon Ogden West [Ruth Elting] wore at her wedding, will not be attended. John Erskine will be his brother's best man. Their sister and brother-in-law, the Paul Fenimore Coopers, have come from Cooperstown, N. Y., for the wedding, and their aunt, Mrs. Margaret E. Evans, is here from her home in Buffalo.

Edward Weeks will lecture at 11:30 o'clock this morning at the Woman's Athletic club. Mr. Weeks' topic will be "What Makes a Novel." Luncheon will be served following the lecture.

Mrs. Dwight Orcutt will serve luncheon at a meeting today of her committee for the sale of tickets to the Evanston Music festival May 17, 19, and 21. The festival will be held at the Patten gymnasium at Northwestern university.

Miss Anna Fitzu Will Entertain.

Miss Anna Fitzu, who returned from Palm Beach several weeks ago and took an apartment at the Congress hotel, is entertaining at luncheon and bridge next Monday for Mrs. Paul Walker, who is sailing next Thursday for Europe. Miss Fitzu is entertaining at luncheon again on Tuesday. The two parties are the first of a series that she is planning for the spring.

Miss Fitzu's sister, Mrs. Ernest R. Graham, and their niece, Miss Edna Kellogg, are remaining in Palm Beach until summer. It is unlikely that Mrs. Graham will open her Banks street house this summer, for she, too, plans to go abroad.

Mrs. Frank Hixon and her mother, Mrs. M. A. Green, of Lake Forest, are leaving next Tuesday for Williamsburg, Va., where they will spend Easter with some New York friends.

Mrs. Hixon and Mrs. Cyrus Bentley, Mrs. W. W. Ramsey and Mrs. T. Lloyd Kelly are leaving on April 23 to motor to St. Louis to attend the national convention of the League of Women Voters.

Betty Mead Returns From European School.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Bennett of Lake Forest canceled their plans to go abroad to bring Mrs. Bennett's daughter, Betty Mead, home from the Brillantmont school in Lausanne. Instead they met Miss Mead last Monday as she landed in New York on the Queen Mary and took her to Tryon, N. C., where the Bennetts have been for the last month. They expect to return to Lake Forest about May 1.

Mrs. Volney Foster has returned to Lake Forest from a trip to England. The Joseph N. Fields have returned from a six weeks' western trip.

The James H. Douglases and Mrs. Douglas Sr. are returning at the end of this week from Florida.

Miss Marjorie and Miss Harriett Street have returned from a month's holiday at the Diamond W ranch, near Tucson, Ariz. Miss Harriett Street was ill all winter and went west to recuperate.

According to CULBERTSON

PERCENTAGE PLAY.

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

The often mentioned but seldom understood law of averages is not immutable, as is the law of gravity, for example. If just one apple were to fall upward from a tree we might well prepare for the sudden disintegration of our universe. "Probabilities" upon which are based our knowledge of "percentages" do not work along such narrow lines. It is by no means impossible for a coin tossed into the air to fall heads twenty times in a row. Such an event, however, is so rare that any individual who wagers even money on its occurrence should be locked up for observation. To a lesser degree this also applies to the bridge player who selects a line of play that has one chance, instead of another line that has three or four chances. Consider the "percentage" play involved in the following hand:

Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠Q 6
♥8 7 5
♦J 9 8 6 2
♣A J 9

WEST
♠8 7 5 4 3 2
♥A 10 3
♦None

EAST
♠K J 9
♥K Q 4 2
♦K 10 4

SOUTH
♠A 10
♥J 9 6
♣K Q 10

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

The bidding was identical at seven tables in a recent duplicate game, and in every case West opened the fourth best spade. Some declarers went up with dummy's queen, others let the lead ride to the A-10. But, since East had both the king and jack, this was immaterial. South lost his only spade stopper immediately. With the heart suit wide open it was apparent that the only hope of fulfilling the contract depended on running the diamond suit without losing the lead. No other consideration was involved. The K-10-4 of diamonds were outstanding. As we know, with only ten of a suit, missing the king, the proper play is to finesse, not to play for a drop. Hence, if the diamond king is in West's hand, whether guarded or unguarded, it will make, since there is no reason to violate this rule of play. All right, we must finesse, but in precisely what manner? Entering dummy with a club, should we lead a low diamond and finesse to the queen, or lead the jack and, if it is not covered, let it ride?

The answer to this is simple when we consider the possible distributions of the missing diamonds. If East has the king blank, the K-10 or the K-4, it does not matter what diamond we lead from dummy. We are perfectly safe. There is a possibility, however, that East holds all three of the missing diamonds, and in that case it will be fatal to lead low to the queen. East, of course, will not split his honors. He will put the four on the deuce. The queen holds but, when West fails to follow, our doom becomes plain. East still has the K-10 and no manner of play can shut out his trick.

Had we played properly and led dummy's diamond jack, the doom would be transferred to East. If he covered, our ace would win and, since West would show out, another finesse would be established against the ten spot. If East ducked, the jack would hold. Thus, since there is nothing to lose in any case by leading the jack, and something to gain in one case, this selection becomes the "percentage" play.

I regret to report that, of the seven declarers, only two led the jack instead of a low diamond through East and, hence, only two fulfilled their contracts.

Fur Necklines Available at Modest Prices

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Soft comforts for a sunshiny day with a few nippy breezes are the spring furs which have arrived just in time to perform the double duty of keeping shoulders warm and serving as the decorative flattery for smart spring coats, suits, and dresses. Stunning twin foxes of new penny copper color are exceptionally flattering with eel gray outfits, with sleek black coats, and high harmony for beige or copper toned clothes.

Smoke gray foxes, for some unknown reason completely misnamed blue fox, are the loveliest and most subtle fur contrast to be found, unless you sink all your bank balance in sables. Cross fox is another gorgeous buy and it comes in dark as well as the effective lighter shades with the unusual golden tones.

All these run a good race with silver fox for popularity and the prices are within reason, worth every penny it costs to get them. Nothing makes the luxury line on a simple suit or coat with better emphasis than fox furs.

If you shiver more than the usual amount you can tuck yourself inside the furry outlines of high fashion boleros or waist length jackets. And feel very practical when you buy these boleros and jackets for they will be just as smart, just as sleek, and comfortable next fall with wool dresses.

Caracul in gray, beige, or shiny black can be found in either short sleeve or long sleeve models, the black ones being especially dashing with brilliantly colored sashes and pencil slim black dresses.

For evening wear, see the fox skin boleros or jackets. White fox dyed a blue fox tone or the lovely all whites and the newest excitement—the guanaco jackets—dyed the luscious color of blue fox and costing a fraction of the price of blue fox. Shop now for spring furs.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hamilton Eberle of Oak Park announce the engagement of their daughter, Doris Knapp, to Bryant Rich Burton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin G. Burton of Chicago. Miss Eberle will be graduated from Northwestern university in June. Mr. Burton was graduated from Northwestern university and will receive his degree from the Northwestern University Law school in June.

Spectator Sports Dress

FROCK IN JUNIOR SIZES.

This smart spectator sports dress is practical because it is so nicely tailored one can wear it to business. This year's crop of summer brides also will like it for their hours at home. Its lines are princess, and there are two ways of styling it. The neckline may have a brief collar and a short slide fastener, or it may be left collarless and use two buttons for dashing accent. The belt may be omitted and the sleeves extended to the wrists.

The model at the right shows how pretty the dress is in a cotton or wash silk print, with the collar and cuffs of contrasting in a plain shade. The version sketched at the left uses crêpe or sheer woolen, and tucks a kerchief into the yoke.

This is an extraordinarily easy frock to sew and to cut, since there are only the paneling seams to consider, no intricate styling to present dressmaking problems.

Style No. 2071 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17, and 19 years. Size 15 requires 2¾ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅝ yard of 39 inch contrasting.

These Spring Dishes Adopt Rhubarb's Tang

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Rhubarb contains so much water that it's a mistake to add more in cooking it, even for sauce. The best procedure is to add sugar to the cut rhubarb [about ½ to ¾ cup per 2 cups rhubarb] and heat gently in a covered pan until a sirup is formed. Then the cover may be removed while the rhubarb cooks until tender, about 20 minutes or so.

Or the cooking may be done in the oven in the same way. A slice or two of orange or lemon sometimes is added to accent the flavor.

Rhubarb Pie.

3¼ cups rhubarb, cut in pieces
1¼ cups sugar
1½ tablespoons tapioca, or 1½ tablespoons cornstarch, or
3 tablespoons flour for thickening
1 egg
Few grains salt
1 tablespoon melted butter
Plain pastry

Combine sugar, thickening agent, beaten egg, salt, and melted butter and add to rhubarb. Let stand together while pastry is being mixed. Line a pie plate with pastry and turn the mixture into it. Cover with a top crust or with strips of pastry arranged lattice fashion. Bake at 425 degrees for 15 minutes and reduce heat to 375 to finish baking, about 20 minutes longer.

The egg and butter may be omitted from this recipe, but they add a pleasing richness of flavor.

Rhubarb Brown Betty.

[Serves Four.]

2 cups bread or graham cracker crums
¼ cup butter
2 cups cut rhubarb
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
½ cup sugar [or more]
⅓ cup orange juice

Brown coarse bread or graham cracker crums very lightly in the butter, melted. Add lemon juice, rind, and sugar to rhubarb. Arrange buttered crums and fruit in layers in a greased baking dish and moisten the top layer of crums with orange juice [water may be used instead]. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, until rhubarb is tender, 35 minutes or slightly longer. Serve with coffee cream, whipped cream, or orange sauce. The pudding should be served warm.

Rhubarb and Strawberry Jam.

1 quart [4 cups] cut rhubarb
1 quart hulled strawberries
6 cups sugar

Heat berries and rhubarb gently together without adding water. Crush the fruit as it heats. When the mixture comes to a boil add sugar. Boil rapidly and stir the mixture until it thickens. Pour into clean, hot jars and seal.

Rhubarb Conserve.

2 cups rhubarb, cut fine
2 cups sugar
Juice and grated rind of 1 orange
Juice of 1 lemon
½ cup nuts, blanched and cut into pieces

Combine all ingredients except nuts, stirring over heat until the sugar is dissolved. Boil rapidly until the mixture is clear. Remove from heat and add nuts. Mix well and pour into clean, hot glasses. Seal with paraffin.

A Joint Recital Makes a Critic Think of April

BY EDWARD BARRY.

In Kimball hall last night you would have thought it was April. Enough people had climbed through the snowdrifts and reached the loop to produce an audience whose size would have done credit to the blandest evening of spring. And the place was fragrant with congratulatory flowers, waiting in big bouquets for the ushers to lug them up the aile.

The attraction was a joint recital by Ada Belle Files, contralto, and Leonard Sorkin, violinist. The former sang Italian, French, and Russian music of yesterday and today [as well as one antique piece] and added a group in English at the end. The latter offered Kreisler, Veracini, Fioco, Tschaikowsky, and De Falla.

Miss Files has a generous sized voice capable of fine smoking passion in such things as Delilah's "Amour Viens Aider," and of a persuasively beautiful piano in purely lyrical songs. Her work is marred by causeless and violent accents, by a too restricted range [early in her upper octave the tone becomes wavery], and by a lack of appreciation of the expressive power of the suavely textured, perfectly aligned phrase.

Mr. Sorkin has a majestic delivery, tremendous verve, and a technic which is so perfect that you do not think of it any more. Among the strings to his bow is a ravishing rubato. Tone is big and shining where the music demands it, searching or pungent when the musical idea to be communicated can best be served by such an effect. If this sounds like extravagant praise, a reader may take what comfort he can in the reflection that it is so intended.

The sixty-six words in the Lord's prayer comprise sufficient creed for all Christendom, said Dr. Albert W. Palmer, president of the Chicago Church federation, in his noonday address yesterday at the Chicago temple.

"Everything necessary for salvation is in the Lord's Prayer," said Dr. Palmer. "Faith in God is there—the God of the universe and the loving Father of our souls. Obedience to the will of God is there, reverence and worship.

"And the social gospel is there, even in this most personal of all prayers. Note that it does not say, 'Give me this day my daily bread,' but rather, with a mighty plural, 'Give us this day our daily bread'; you cannot use this prayer without praying for daily bread for your brother. The need for forgiveness and for deliverance from evil is there also."

Vocal Defects May Be Cured with Practice

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

We came upon a young woman the other day going through spectacular gum-chewing motions. She explained laughingly that she'd been told her speaking voice was rigid and tight, and that she should loosen up her jaws. This was why she was doing her "mouthings," as she called them.

We read a story the other day, by a radio personage on the general inadequacy of the average woman's voice on those programs for which amateurs are dragged in for responses to queries. One of the faults named was just this rigid, tense, stiff quality our girl was trying to overcome. Talking too fast and slurring words in consequence were stressed as common liabilities. A suggestion has been made that around home, or whenever we happen to be alone, we should repeat a sentence several times aloud, listening with keen ear to see if we DO run our words together and watch for other vocal defects.

Radio Announcer Ralph Edwards says that none knows better than a radio announcer that having a fine voice requires eternal vigilance, for lazy speaking habits are easily fallen into.

"Radio teaches the importance of timing and emphasis," says this authority. "One who speaks hurriedly almost always is just wasting his breath. By speaking slowly one allows the voice to reach its maximum clarity, and a clear voice gives you greater control over those words which you wish to emphasize.

"The body never must be tense, but always in a state of relaxation, to allow the voice to flow easily."

"Most things wrong with the voice are simply bad habits, which can be corrected by attentive listening and a desire to improve," he says. "Listening is very important and very easy, since we all can listen to the radio."

Gigli, Famous Tenor, Will Take 3 Roles in City Opera Season

Beniamino Gigli, for many years one of the world's foremost Italian tenors, has been engaged for three performances with the Chicago City Opera company in the 1938 fall season. Although Mr. Gigli was one of the leading tenors at the Metropolitan Opera house for over a decade, he has never sung in opera in Chicago, and has made only two concert appearances here.

Mr. Gigli will make his debut in "Martha" on Nov. 18. He will also be heard in the revival of Meyerbeer's "L'Africana," not given here since the 1923-'24 season, and probably in either Verdi's "Masked Ball" or Giordano's "Andrea Chenier."

Paul Longone, general manager of the opera company, sails for Europe Saturday. While on the continent he will discuss rôles with Mr. Gigli, and will scout for new talent for the 1938 and 1939 seasons.

Applaud Good Cheer Theme at Art Exhibition

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The annual spring exhibition by artist members of the Northwest Art league has opened at the Edgewater Beach hotel to continue to April 17. It is a refreshingly simple show. The paintings are not crowded and each seems to have been chosen for its pleasing qualities.

The pictures are excellently hung. They are diversified in subject, but seem closely allied in the impression they give of summer and cheer.

Ted Vognild has two of the most spirited canvases in her "Tiny," the portrait of an alert fox terrier, and "Scotties," three black heads with shining muzzles and glowing eyes. Jessie Field shows a brilliant composition, "Zinnias," a rich and decorative arrangement of flowers and fruit.

Kenneth Brown Ransley shows a charming portrait of a little girl seated in a chair with a book in her hands, "Day Dreams." Julia Sulzer Griffith is responsible for three stunning paintings with boats. Robert Kilbert offers a magnificent winter landscape, beautifully handled.

Olan Iverson, Margaret Selleck, Josephine J. Eastman, Cecelia T. Brooks, Grace W. Kindig, Sadie H. Lowes, and Viola C. Michel are among those to whom credit must go for the excellence of the exhibition.

Paintings and water colors by a group of modern artists is the April exhibit in the Katharine Kuh gallery. The most amusing and the most attractive of the paintings are those by Chagall, whose imagination works along much the same lines as didi that of Lewis Carrol. He creates an impossible world with such fervor that the impossible almost becomes the possible.

Kandinsky shows himself as keenly interested in geometrics and the problem of form in space. Clear color is a commendable factor in his arrangements of cone, egg, pyramid, and dart. The single example of Rouault is entertaining, the portrait of a chubby man in a bowler hat.

Beckmann, Grosz, Klee, Kopman, Leger, and Nolde are the other modernists contributing to this show.

Paintings and water colors by Lois Whitney are on exhibit in the Tudor gallery, Chicago Woman's club, to next Wednesday.

COST AND RATE FIGURES REMAIN A TVA MYSTERY

Twin Questions Awaiting Congress Inquiry.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Knoxville, Tenn., April 6.—[Special.]—How much the kilowatts actually cost the Tennessee Valley authority to produce and deliver is one line of inquiry deemed worthy of study by the congressional committee set up to investigate TVA. A twin question is whether TVA customers are buying electric current at rates that are less than actual cost, or, in essence, at rates subsidized at the expense of the American taxpayer.

Thus far no one seems to have the answers. As yet TVA has not said how much of the cost of the half billion dollar experiment in a planned economy is to be chalked up to hydro-electric power and how much is to be ascribed to navigation, flood control, fertilizer production, and other items. It is here that critics see a fertile field for fancy bookkeeping.

Expenditures Total $211,155,081.

Up to last Feb. 28 TVA expenditures were $211,155,081. This is the official TVA figure. It includes 31 millions for Wilson dam, which was turned over to TVA at its inception, and it also includes about 7 millions of contract obligations signed up.

This 211 million dollar present investment is less than half the total estimated cost of the entire TVA project. With the federal treasury as golden angel the expense has been skyriding.

When TVA was a year old, in 1934, it estimated its total cost would be about $310,000,000. This was to build six dams, plants, and transmission lines. Wilson dam already had been constructed at a cost of about 47 millions. Thus the TVA of those days was a seven dam project at a cost of about 357 million dollars.

Later Estimates Go Up.

Later the seven dam project bloomed into an eleven dam proposal. In 1936 TVA estimated the cost of the eleven dam project at $479,150,000. Last April TVA jumped this estimate to $520,600,338. Last December TVA knocked off a few millions and figured the cost at $505,307,622. All these figures were submitted by TVA at congressional hearings.

Three of the dams are now in operation—Norris, Wilson, and Wheeler—but as yet TVA has not made known how much of the cost of these is to be allocated to power production.

Law Requires Statement.

The TVA act says that before Jan. 1, 1937, TVA should file with congress a statement allocating the value of the Muscle Shoals property which was turned over to TVA.

The act says that thereafter the authority, in its annual report to congress, shall file an allocation of the value of such properties as have been completed during the preceding fiscal year. The allocation is to show how much of the cost is to be charged up to each of five purposes, namely, flood control, navigation, fertilizer, national defense, and development of power.

Critics have charged TVA with stalling on the allocation. Last December in the congressional hearings, TVA was asked for a breakdown of figures showing how much of the half billion dollar cost of the experiment would go toward power, what part to navigation, and what part to flood control. TVA's answer was that the allocation study is complex and that it expected to make a report on cost allocation this spring.

Dr. Morgan's Figures Given.

One year ago Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, deposed chairman, submitted his own estimate of how much should be chalked up to power, to navigation, and to flood control in the case of Norris, Wilson, and Wheeler dams. This was one cause of the explosion in the board. Dr. Morgan, in his recent demand for a congressional inquiry, declared TVA had not made public a power policy. He had been saying also that as far as yardstick operations are concerned, there should be no hidden subsidies. His expressed view has been that the full actual cost of service should be publicly disclosed and if there is government subsidy it should be in the open.

In the White House conference of President Roosevelt with the TVA directors, Director David E. Lilienthal accused Dr. Arthur Morgan of interference with the allocation and asserted the chairman's statement in the congressional hearing last April was not approved by the board but operated as a commitment of the board.

Cost Left in Doubt.

Until it is known what part of the cost of the dams is to be earmarked as for hydro-electric development, the question in these parts is how can anybody tell what is the actual cost of the kilowatts TVA is now selling to its customers, municipalities, co-operatives, and industries.

Meanwhile, a change has come over the propaganda of the authority. When TVA started off in 1933, power development was the chief word. In the valley of the Tennessee was to be fought a great battle between private ownership and public ownership. A yardstick was to be set up for measurement of just rates for electric current. In Washington in 1934, a TVA spokesman before a hearing said power was the major purpose.

In Knoxville there is a strong hunch that when the allocation of costs is finally made, navigation and flood control will be headliners. A wide suspicion is that in these items, and in fertilizer, the bookkeepers may pull something out of the hat that will cover hidden costs of the hydro-electric energy and the kilowatt subsidy which taxpayers all over America may pay in interest on public debt.

INFECTION FROM CUT FATAL.

GARNER NAMES 2 MORE SENATORS FOR TVA INQUIRY

One Expected to Decline; Other in Doubt.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 6.—[Special.]—Vice President John N. Garner today named two decidedly unorthodox Republicans, Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas and Senator Lynn J. Frazier of North Dakota, to fill the vacancies on the Tennessee Valley authority investigating committee.

Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon and Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, Garner's first Republican appointees, had refused to serve. Senator Capper indicated after the announcement of his appointment today that he also would refuse to serve, and Senator Frazier said he hadn't made up his mind. It is believed, however, that Frazier will accept.

Davis and Nye Considered.

It was reported that Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania and Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota would be the next minority appointees in line should one or both of the Republicans named today refuse to serve.

This it is apparent that Mr. Garner, who was aggrieved when Senators Borah and McNary spurned their appointments, intends to name no aggressive-orthodox Republican who has avowed his opposition to the half billion experiment in social and economic planning. Senator H. Styles Bridges [R., N. H.], author of the first senate resolution calling for an investigation of the TVA scandals, has been conspicuously ignored.

Two other able, aggressive Republicans who have been passed over are Senators Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. of Massachusetts and Warren R. Austin of Vermont. Mr. Garner removed Senator Austin from the TVA picture yesterday by appointing him on a civil service investigating committee.

Expect Donahey to Accept.

Meanwhile it became known that Senator Vic Donahey of Ohio, the most conservative member of the Democratic trio appointed to the investigating committee, will announce his acceptance of the appointment tomorrow. Senator Donahey is a friend of Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, whom President Roosevelt removed as chairman of the TVA, and he let it be known today that he would not tolerate any whitewashing efforts if he went on the committee. He is slated to be chairman.

The other senate members are Fred H. Brown of New Hampshire, who has opposed the utilities, and H. H. Schwartz of Wyoming, an undeviating supporter of the administration.

The house members of the 10 man joint investigating committee are James M. Mead of New York R. E. Thomason of Texas, and William J. Driver of Arkansas, all Democrats; Thomas A. Jenkins of Ohio and Charles A. Wolverton of New Jersey, Republicans.

Fly AMERICAN to NEW YORK

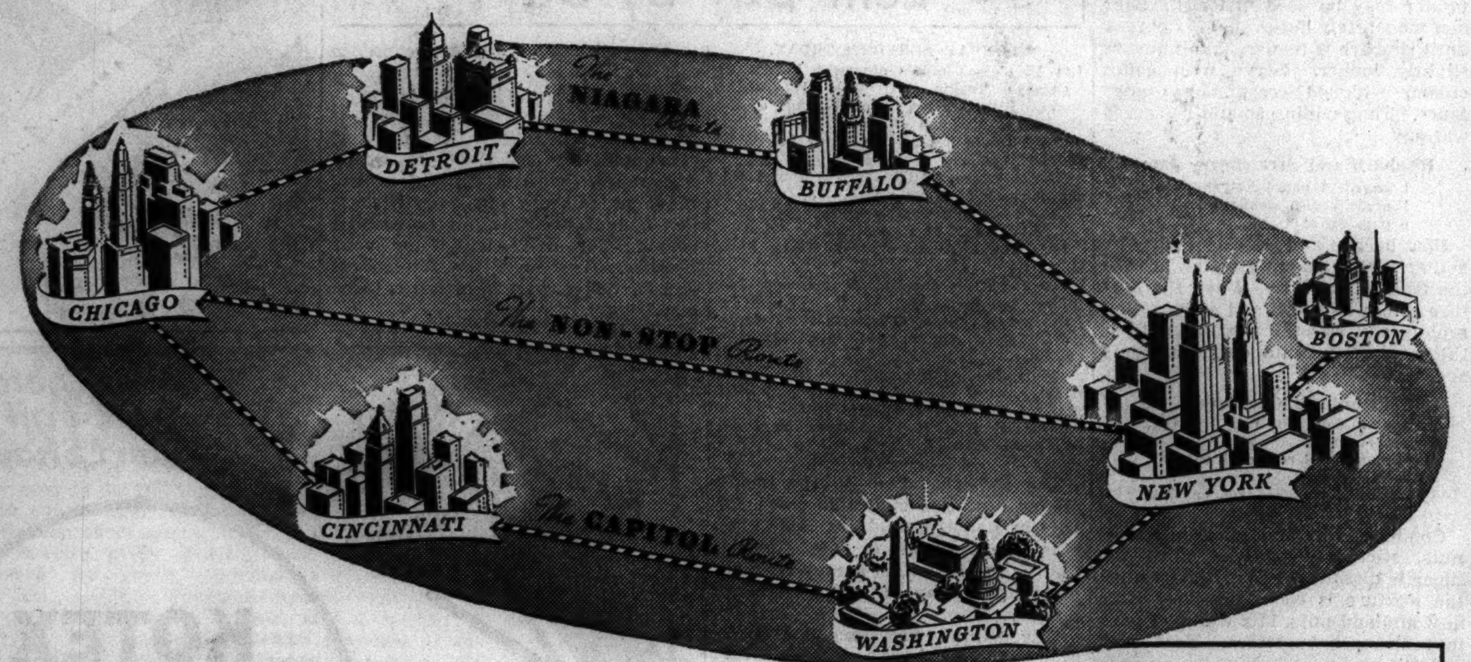
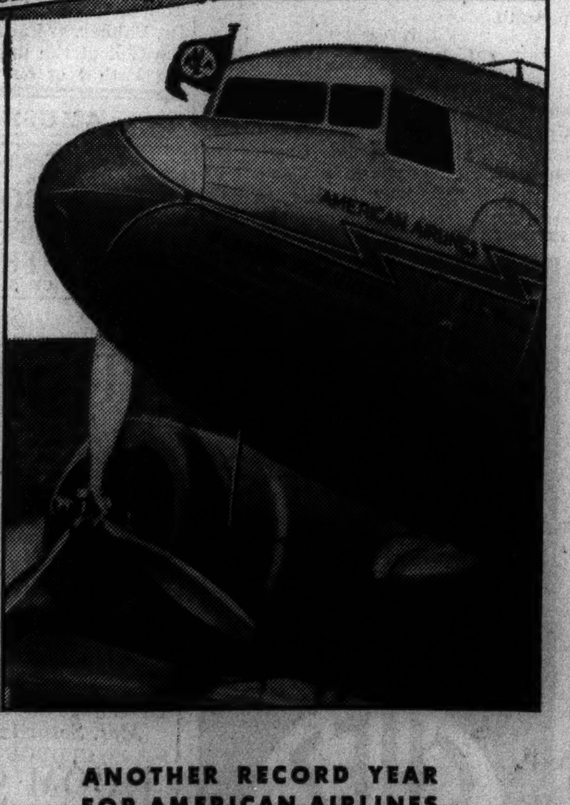
Go One Of These Three Ways . . . Return Another

Stop Over Anywhere . . . at The Regular Round Trip Fare





ONLY AMERICAN
Offers this choice of three routes

TAKE the non-stop American EAGLE at 12:00 noon or the ARROW at 5:00 pm. There are no faster flights between Chicago and New York.

And, if your itinerary calls for a stop at Cincinnati or Washington—at Detroit or Buffalo—then all the more reason for flying American. You can stop at any of these cities—and then continue on your way at the regular one-way fare of $44.95. And Boston may be included for only slightly more. A round trip ticket will save you 10%.

And whether you take the non-stop EAGLE or ARROW—the scenic Niagara route via Detroit and Buffalo—or the Capitol route through Washington—you'll make the trip on one of American's big Flagship Club Planes. Luxuriously appointed . . . restfully quiet . . . club-like in comfort . . . these Flagships are the finest, most modern planes in the sky today!

American . . . the air line that carries the most passengers in the world . . . also carries the most passengers between Chicago and New York! Fly American!

ANOTHER RECORD YEAR FOR AMERICAN AIRLINES

In 1937 American Airlines broke its own previous world's passenger record by carrying 300,571 people over 123 million passenger miles . . . or nearly one-third of all the passengers carried by all air lines in the United States combined.

IT SEEMS IT'S A CAR FOLKS WON'T DO WITHOUT!

WE WERE pretty sure we had a great car when some months ago we checked the final blueprints on the 1938 Buick.

It had the new and mighty DYNAFLASH engine for sparkling action—the sensationally desirable TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING for a lullaby of a ride.

Looking ahead in that promising day, we figured we had every chance of getting our sales share by reason of what this car gave the buyer for his money.

Now, when times are sterner, it appears we built better than we knew—we've got a car folks just won't do without!

This great new Buick was first introduced to the public last fall. Through September, October, November, it sold in steadily increasing volume.

In a period when sales of other cars were sliding off it went ahead, in one month actually outselling one of the Big Three of the lowest-priced field.

BUYER'S DIGEST OF THE 1938 BUICK

★ NEW DYNAFLASH VALVE-IN-HEAD STRAIGHT-EIGHT ENGINE ★ NEW TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING ★ TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE IN SEALED CHASSIS ★ NEW QUIET ZONE BODY MOUNTING ★ ANOLITE PISTONS ★ AEROBAT CARBURETOR ★ NEW BULL'S-EYE STEERING ★ TIPTOE HYDRAULIC BRAKES ★ KNEE-ACTION FRONT SPRINGING ★ UNISTEEL BODY BY FISHER ★ BUILT-IN DEFROSTER CONNECTIONS ★ AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION OPTIONAL ON SERIES 40

NO OTHER CAR IN THE WORLD HAS ALL THESE FEATURES

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

It's still going ahead—not car Number Seven or Eight, as one might expect by its price-class, but one of the season's Four Best Sellers!

There is only one explanation of such a record when made by a car in the thousand-dollar bracket.

Such a car is so good—has so much of value in it—people just won't do without it!

They buy it not only in preference to other cars—they buy in preference to waiting for easier times and readier money-to-spend!

That's the convincing sort of car you're about to drive when you first take the wheel of a 1938 Buick.

If you haven't yet handled a new Buick, you ought to—just to see what such a car is like!

NEW TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING . . . gentles every jar and jolt . . . reduces skid-risks . . . makes rear tires last longer. →

HAWKS AND MOORE BATTLE LEAFS TONIGHT

CUBS BEAT WHITE SOX, 10-9; LEAD CITY SERIES, 8-5

SCORE WINNING RUN IN NINTH ON BERGER'S ERROR

South Siders Need Three Straight.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

El Paso, Tex., April 6.—Manager Charley Grimm this afternoon became chilled and frightened by reports of the Chicago blizzard and before the game sent the Cub regulars to a steam heated hotel to be wrapped in blankets. But his second and third stringers were able to whip Manager Jim Dykes' assortment of White Sox regulars, second, third, and fourth stringers, 10 to 9.

The winning run and some which preceded it were traceable to errors by the current regular Sox shortstop, Boze Berger, who committed two of the four Sox misplays, the last of which came on what should have been the third out in the ninth to keep the score a tie.

The outcome of the thirteenth game of the spring series left the Cubs in possession of an 8 to 5 advantage, with three games scheduled for Chicago April 15, 16, and 17. The Cubs thus are assured of no worse than a tie and one victory in Chicago would give them the series.

Cubs Score in First.

The Cubs got a run and loaded the bases after the Sox had retired the first two batsmen. Collins beat out a grounder to Berger and Triplett walked. Asbell lined a single to left center, scoring Collins. A pass to Mesner loaded the bases but the inning ended with Stainback's tap to Lyons.

Garbark opened the second inning with a single past Berger and, after Shoun had popped out in an attempt to sacrifice, Mattick singled to center. The runners advanced on a wild pitch. Then Garbark scored and Mattick reached third on York's fly to Walker. One of Lyons' pitches got away from Rensa and Mattick tried to score. He was sunk at the plate, Rensa to Lyons.

Lack of skill at second base was all the encouragement the Sox needed to go out for four unearned runs in their second inning. Owen opened the session with a single to right, but Rensa flied to Stainback and Berger fanned. Lyons rolled a grounder straight at York, but the rookie let it bob between his heels, Owen reaching third. Hayes lined a double to right center, scoring Owen and Lyons and when the play was made at the plate Hayes proceeded to third, whence he scored on Kreevich's single to right. Walker doubled to left center, scoring Kreevich. York fumbled Radcliff's grounder, Walker reaching third and Radcliff first. Then Kuhel popped to York.

Landrum Drives in Run.

The Sox got busy in the third again after two were out. Berger beat out a grounder to deep short and went to third on Sewell's pinch single. Landrum batted for Hayes and doubled to left, scoring Berger. Kreevich popped to Collins.

The seventh Sox run was the result of some strange pitching. Ro-

Plays Tonight

ELLSWORTH VINES.

Perry, Vines Will Clash in Amphitheater

The Fred Perry-Ellsworth Vines tennis troupe will move into Chicago today for two performances. The first will be given tonight in the International Amphitheater and the second tomorrow night in the Chicago Arena.

The Chicago stand is one of many on a nation-wide barnstorming tour which began on the Pacific coast early in January and will wind up in the east next month.

The Perry-Vines match will be supported by another singles match, between Berkeley Bell and Walter Senior, and a doubles engagement in which Bell and Perry will team up against the other two.

Donald Budge, a member of the American Davis cup team, who is ranked as the world's best amateur, will be one of the officials. It is generally understood that the professional tennis interests will offer Budge a chance to go on tour next winter against the winner of the Perry-Vines series in case the amateur star should decide to turn pro at the end of the 1938 season.

Perry, who was recognized as world amateur champion before he joined the pros, has beaten Vines on both of their previous Chicago appearances.

M'MILLEN PINS STRONGBERG IN FRONTON MATCH

Jim McMillen, Antioch heavyweight wrestler, pinned Rudy Strongberg of Germany in 46 minutes last night in the Rainbo Fronton. McMillen clamped on a double arm scissors grip to gain his victory.

Fred Grubmier of Iowa and Firpo Wilcox of Washington wrestled to a 30 minute draw. Jerry Meeker was held to a 30 minute draw by Buck O'Neill. Ken Fenlon threw Jack Zeravich in 17:20, and Milt Olson downed Ed Van Herrick in 16:02.

LAWRIN READY TO BEGIN DRILLS FOR KENTUCKY DERBY

Louisville, Ky., April 6.—(AP)—Lawrin, H. W. Woolf's Kentucky Derby hope, arrived at Churchill Downs today to begin preparing for the classic May 7.

Only two Derby candidates were given tests todays over the Downs' oval. Co-Sport, owned by Bert Friend, ran the half in :52 and the five-eighths in 1:05 3-5. J. S. Jenkins' Pepper was clocked in :24 1-5 for the quarter, but the clock registered :50 3-5 for the half.

RULES MAKERS APPLY BRAKES TO BASKETBALL

Five Timeouts, Play by Quarters Approved.

The rules committee of the National Association of Basketball coaches yesterday applied two brakes to last season's race horse game.

The committee, meeting at the Sherman hotel, increased to five the permissible number of timeouts for the college game and provided for optional use four 10 minute quarters instead of the usual twenty minute halves.

The three-second rule, used last season by national A. A. U. teams and recommended unanimously by the coaches on Tuesday, also was adopted.

Other rule changes approved included optional use of a four foot instead of a two foot out of bounds margin behind the face of backboards and barring of substitutions after a goal is made until the ball is back in play.

Exemption Is Made.

The outer half of the foul circle was exempted from present provisions of the three second rule in the case of a player who does not have possession of the ball, bringing the collegiate regulations into accord with those of the A. A. U. The change eliminates last season's penalty for lingering in the area by players without the ball. The rule remains unchanged in regard to players having the ball.

For high school games, next season's rules on ties will make the overtime period a sudden death session. The first team to score two points, either by a field goal or two foul throws, will be the winner.

However, should the team play through the three minute extra period with only one point being scored, the team making the point will be the winner. In addition, the time between the close of regulation time and the start of the overtime will be increased from one to two minutes. Officials also will be instructed to take a time out in the second and fourth quarters provided no time out has been called by either team during the first four minutes of play.

The practice of making substitutions during the brief interval between the scoring of a goal and putting the ball back in play will be banned next year. Unless one team has taken time out, substitutes and the scorer's horn must wait until play is resumed.

Discover No Harmful Effects.

Oswald Tower of Andover, Mass., editor of the National Basketball Committee of the United States and Canada, who announced the changes, said the brakes were applied to allay the apprehension of so many that the game's increased speed was detrimental to the athletes.

"All our reports, however," Tower said, "and our studies and research showed that no harm had developed from the present speed of the game."

The additional time out had been added, he said, to provide any necessary extra rest for the players.

The same object brought insertion of optional play by quarters for the colleges. Under the new rule, games played by quarters must have two minute rest periods between the first and second and between the third and fourth periods. The fifteen minute halftime intermission was unchanged.

Krieger Scores Technical Knockout Over Jannazzo

New York, April 6.—(AP)—Solly Krieger, stolid Brooklyn slugger, tonight scored an eleven round technical knockout over Izzy Jannazzo, New York east sider, in the Hippodrome. Krieger outweighed his rival 161 pounds to 157½ and did all the heavy punching, but he let Jannazzo set his own pace all the way and score consistently with a left jab.

PARIS, April 6.—Jeff Dickson, promoter of professional sports in Europe for twenty years, doubts whether Max Schmeling ever will meet Joe Louis in the United States. . . . He says Schmeling positively will not go through with the match unless he is convinced he has a fair chance to win. . . . If the bout is held Dickson picks Philadelphia as the probable site. . . . Schmeling has all the money he needs. . . . His movie actress wife makes approximately $100,000 annually. . . . Max is interested only in the prestige which the heavyweight title would bring to Germany. . . . The Detroit Red Wings and the Montreal Canadiens will play at the Palais des Sports, which has seating capacity of 24,000 for hocky, April 25, 26, and 27. . . . The Red Wings are billed as world champions, which will be interesting news to American sport fans. . . .

French horse racing fans conduct themselves like Chicago billiard patrons. . . . You could have heard a pin drop at the opening card at Longchamps, the Arlington Park of Paris, last Sunday. . . . More than 100,000 were in attendance, but there was no shouting when the barrier was lifted, and there was no cheering at the finish. . . . However, holders of winning tickets rush to the payoff windows much the same as they do at Chicago tracks. . . . Longchamps, located in a public park only ten minutes' ride from the heart of the city, is one of the world's most beautiful courses. . . . Admisson prices and mutuel tickets are arranged to suit every customer's pocketbook. . . . Fans can get standing room for as low as 20 cents and can place as little as 15 cents on a race. . . . The French government collects 12 per cent of the mutuel handle. . . . Betting totaled nearly $400,000 Sunday. . . . Among American stables represented is J. E. Widener's, whose Victrix won the main event at odds of 13 to 1. . . .

Joe Savoldi, the former Notre Dame football star and now a professional wrestler, who has been visiting in Italy with his wife and family, has returned to the United States. . . . The moving picture, "In Old Chicago," is doing big business both in London and Paris. . . . The United States defeated Mexico in the first round of the Davis cup play.

Arlington Seeks Match Race; Lincoln Fields Doubles Stakes

BY FRENCH LANE.

Racegoers in blizzard swept Chicago found something to be happy about yesterday even though the elements in no way smacked of "Boots and Saddles."

There came an announcement from the Arlington Park Jocky club that already 716 of the 1,250 stalls have been allotted for the July meeting there. These horses will come from every part of the country, Arlington representatives having put in most of the winter lining up the best horses in each section.

Purses Are Increased.

At about the same time Col. Matt J. Winn announced that the value of all stake races to be run during the June meeting at Lincoln Fields will be doubled for this year's meeting. He also made public the dates for the running of these stake races, then shook the snow off his hat and heavy overcoat and departed for Churchill Downs at Louisville where he will get everything in ship shape for the running of the Kentucky Derby on May 7.

In a third announcement it was revealed that Warren Wright's big Calumet farm stable of forty-two horses will reach Chicago late in May and will campaign continuously here for two months at Lincoln Fields and Arlington Park before heading east for its annual campaign at Saratoga in August.

Twenty of Mr. Wright's fashionably bred horses will race at Keeneland and Churchill Downs before coming to Chicago. The other twenty-two will be shipped here direct from Calumet farm near Lexington.

List $5,000 Stakes.

Last year the added money prizes in all stake races run at Lincoln Fields was $2,500. This year a $5,000 prize will be offered in each of the races. The complete schedule of Lincoln Fields stake races follows:

May 30—Crete Handicap, 6 furlongs, 3 year olds and upward.
June 4—Steger Handicap, 7 furlongs, 3 year olds and upward.
June 11—Joliet Handicap, 5 furlongs, 2 year olds.
June 18—Lincoln Handicap, 1⅛ miles, 3 year olds and upward.
June 25—Francis S. Peabody Memorial handicap, 1¼ miles, 3 year olds and upward.

Aurora Horses Arrive.

At Aurora 90 horses that came in from the winter race tracks snorted and shivered as they did a double time swing march from the railroad unloading platform to their stalls which had been thickly bedded with straw.

It was their way of registering disgust at arriving from the southland in such weather.

Hertz Makes Offer

NEW YORK, April 6.—Samuel D. Riddle's War Admiral and the California champion Seabiscuit will have two opportunities to race for a prize of $100,000 this year, it developed here today.

Belmont Park made plans yesterday to offer a $100,000 prize to the winner of a match race between the pair next autumn. Today John Hertz, speaking for the Arlington Park Jocky club of Chicago, put forward a definite offer of a purse of $100,000 for a meeting of the two champions at Arlington Park in July.

The Chicago offer specified that Col. Maxwell Howard's Stagehand, victor by a nose over Seabiscuit in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap, would be invited to participate and thus make it a three cornered test.

Mr. Hertz proposed a mile and a quarter race with War Admiral and Seabiscuit each carrying 126 pounds and Stagehand 114.

O'MALLEY STOPS FOE IN 2D; WINS A. A. U. RING TITLE

3 Other Chicago Golden Glovers Triumph.

Boston, Mass., April 6.—[Special.]—Jimmy O'Malley, 18 year old Chicago Golden Glove champion, tonight won the National A. A. U. welterweight championship before 10,000 spectators in the Boston Garden. He gained the title by stopping John Santiago of Honolulu in the second round. Earlier in the evening he had eliminated Al Avila of Stockton, Cal., in the semi-finals.

Besides winning the Chicago Golden Gloves championship, O'Malley also was victor in the inter-city bouts in New York and is a member of the squad which will meet the champions of Europe in Chicago May 18.

Although O'Malley dropped Santiago twice in the first round and twice again in the second, the brown skinned islander three times had O'Malley groggy. When the end came, the crowd thundered down a tremendous ovation for both boys.

Against Avila, O'Malley employed a ripping left hand attack, keeping the swarthy Pacific coast representative off balance continually. In the third round he shook Avila with right crosses.

The evening was complete with satisfaction for O'Malley. After the finals thirty newspaper men selected him as the outstanding boxer of the tournament and he was presented the Sir Charles F. Higham cup, sent from London.

Expression of Good Will.

The cup, offered as an expression of good will between English and American amateur boxers, carries with it a free trip to London for O'Malley this summer. He will meet the best English boxer of his weight in the Sporting club there. Capt. Roy E. Davis of Chicago, chairman of the national A. A. U. boxing committee, presented the trophy to O'Malley.

Besides O'Malley, three other Chicago Golden Glove boxers fought their way to championships. Speary and Bobby Carroll, new A. A. U. flyweight champion, were members of the New York intercity team. The Chicago Golden Glovers winning A. A. U. titles tonight were Willie Muldune, light heavyweight of Cleveland; Daniel Merritt of Cleveland, heavyweight, and Bill Eddy of Flint, Mich., featherweight. Merritt won the heavyweight championship in the Chicago Tournament of Champions; Muldune was runner-up in the light heavyweight class, and Eddy reached the quarter-finals.

Carroll Outpoints Salzar.

Carroll of Newark, N. J., one of seven Negroes to gain the final round, became the 1938 flyweight champion by outpointing Jesse Salzar, Mexican mite from Omaha, Neb., in a fast three round bout.

Speary of Nanticoke, Pa., a bit huskier than he was last year when he ruled the flyweights, gained his second national title in two years, the bantamweight, by beating his Philadelphia teammate, John Aiello, in three rounds.

Eddy fought an uphill battle to whip Jackie Simmons, Kansas City Negro, for the 126 pound title. Simmons, who like Eddy fought in the Tournament of Champions, was superior until late in the second round, when he was floored by one of Eddy's powerful

Intercollegiate Sport Attacked by Professor

Dr. Harold Rugg, Columbia university professor, attacked intercollegiate athletics in an address before the Midwest Physical Educators' association convention last night in the Sherman hotel. Dr. Rugg based his criticism on the following points:

He stated that a comparatively small percentage of the student body gets any physical benefit from intercollegiate athletics; that intercollegiate sports build up a false loyalty to local and petty institutions; that they tend to commercialize bodily education; that they glorify professional coaches at the expense of more useful and more courageous members of the faculty, and that they hamper the studious activities of the participants.

Dr. Rugg asserted that the only ones who advocate intercollegiate sport are coaches, players, managers of athletic associations, concessionnaires, partisan alumni, and heads of institutions which expect to gain standing by athletic prowess.

Among the other speakers on the program was Judge John P. McGoorty of the Superior court, who greeted the visiting educators as the representative of Mayor Edward J. Kelly.

Take a Letter!

"And before I start dictating remind me to order my tickets for the International Golden Gloves bouts in Chicago Stadium, May 18."

You, too, should order your tickets to watch Europe's greatest amateur boxers against the Golden Gloves champions of Chicago. It's simple. All you have to do is mail your check or money order, made payable to The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., to the Golden Gloves Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower. The Prices are:

SEEK SECOND STRAIGHT CUP SERIES VICTORY

Chicagoans Call In Reserves.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., April 6.—Reinforcements hastily summoned from outlying provinces arrived by plane and train today to bolster the crippled Chicago Blackhawks in the second game of the Stanley cup finals for the hocky championship of the world against the Toronto Maple Leafs tomorrow night.

Paul Goodman, rookie goalie, flew in from his home in Winnipeg prepared to relieve English Alfie Moore, the substitute who helped the Hawks in a 3 to 1 victory over the Maple Leafs in the first game last night. Later Pete Palangio, a wing who was with the Hawks last year, reported from North Bay, Ont., where he operates a bus line to the home of the Dionne quintuplets.

Palangio will replace Mush Marsh, who was sent back to Chicago last night for treatment for a groin injury, alternating at right and left wing in tomorrow night's game. Pete is ready to play, having only recently completed the American association playoffs, in which his shooting won the two games that gave the St. Louis Flyers the championship.

Alfie Holds His Job.

Goodman, however, will sit on the bench. No manner of argument could persuade the Blackhawks to switch from Moore after his sensational entrance into the playoffs last night as a last minute substitute for Mike Karakas. Only the return of Karakas, who was sent home to Chicago this morning to receive treatment for a fractured toe, will keep the shy, sandy haired little Moore from finishing the series in the Chicago nets.

Toronto, the self-styled hocky capital of the world, where the 1938 pennant already had been ordered, still was dazed today by the exploits of the veteran minor leaguer, whose only connection with major league hocky is a substitute's assignment with the New York Americans, and the uproar surrounding his appearance in the playoffs.

After the smoke of the battle on the rink and in the ailes, where Manager Bill Stewart of the Hawks was presented with a black eye, a cut cheek, and a bruised head, had cleared, Toronto began to gather the facts which left most fans in this city sympathetic with the Hawks and outspoken in their hope for the Chicagoans' continued success.

Fans Resent Leaf Tactics.

Even Toronto fans, the most rabid of the species, were unable to accept as sporting the attempt by the Leafs to foist upon the Hawks a goalie who had paid his way into the arena, and arrived without dinner straight from an afternoon in a downtown tavern.

Moore played against his wishes and better judgment. The Hawks had asked for Dave Kerr, the New York Rangers' star, when it was learned Karakas could not play. The Leafs decided Kerr was ineligible and selected Moore, who spent the year with the Pittsburgh Hornets in the American league. They notified Moore, but not the Hawks, then put Moore in a separate dressing room, keeping him away from the Chicagoans until Stewart and Business Manager Bill Tobin forced a showdown a few minuates before the game.

"It isnt fair to the Hawks," Moore insisted after the game, in which he had led them to a 3 to 1 victory, "they wanted Kerr and I was picked because I'm a bum."

Stewart and Tobin appreciated the Leafs' stand on Kerr. Stewart said later Moore was his first choice after Kerr, but that he had not spoken to Alfie because the Hawks had been assured by Manager Connie Smythe of the Leafs they could use Kerr in an emergency. The Hawks' only complaint against the Leafs was the secretive manner in which they handled the affair. Stewart insists he still is able to pick his own lineups.

This Should Be Good.

The Hawks are still bitter and tomorrow night's game promises to be another fiercely contested affair. The addition of Palangio and Goodman gives the squad suitable reserves, thus permitting the players to abandon the safety first policy.

Much of the credit for last night's victory goes to Doc Romnes, Carl Voss, Roger Jenkins, who is being used at wing, and Paul Thompson, who gave a superb exhibition of checking. John Gottselig, who scored two of the Hawks' goals, came out of the game with a sprained left hand, but was ready to work out today when a drill was called to loosen up Goodman and Palangio.

The Hawks will return to Chicago tomorrow night for the third game of the series on Sunday. If a fourth game is necessary it will be played in the Chicago Stadium on Tuesday. The fifth game of the series will be played in Toronto a week from tomorrow night, according to the schedule.

RETRIEVER TRIAL SET FOR SUNDAY BY MIDWEST CLUB

Interest in the Breed Is Spreading.

BY BOB BECKER.

The Midwest Field Trial club of Chicago, the first club in the middle west to sponsor field trials for retriever breeds, will hold an informal spring trial Sunday morning on the Thomas M. Howell estate, west of Barrington, Ill. Another similar trial also is scheduled for April 24.

Sunday's event will give amateur members of the club an opportunity to run their Chesapeake bay retrievers, Labradors, golden retrievers, and Irish water spaniels in two stakes—one for young dogs up to 2 years of age and another for all age retrievers. Although competition in the trial is open only to members of the club, all sportsmen interested in the retriever breeds are invited to attend.

Retriever Interest Grows.

Francis Hagon, well known retriever authority and member of the club, will be present to answer questions about retrievers and their work and advise any sportsman on the choice and training of breeds for land and water retrieving. The Howell estate, where the dogs will be worked, is about three miles from Barrington on Brinker road.

This spring test for the retriever breeds is another indication of the growing interest in Labradors, Chesapeakes, goldens, and Irish water spaniels. Since the local club was formed other clubs to promote the retriever breeds have been organized in Wisconsin, St. Louis, Minneapolis, and Omaha, Neb. All of these organizations are the outgrowth of the pioneering work of the local Midwest club, which has held several outstanding fall trials with large entries from the east.

Chicago Dogs Known.

Retriever dogs developed here in Chicagoland made an outstanding record in the trials held last fall at the Rolling Rock club near Pittsburgh, on Long Island, N. Y., and here in the middle west. Such retrievers as Tyke of Barrington, owned by William Walker of Park Ridge; F. T. Ch. Glenairlie Rover, owned by Fletcher Garlock of Hubbard Woods, and Nigger of Barrington, owned by Gordon Kelley of Lake Forest have become well known throughout the country.

Sportsmen wishing details on the coming midwest field trials or information on the various retriever breeds and their use for hunting and in trials may write Fletcher Garlock, president of the club, 135 South La Salle street, Chicago.

rights to the stomach. From there to the end of the third round Eddy had the advantage.

Richard Ford of Lawrence, Mass., a favorite with the crowd, gained the third championship for the east by winning over Allen Morrison of Mattoon, Ill., in the 135 pound title bout.

Put at a disadvantage by Morrison's long reach, Ford concentrated on a body attack. He dropped Morrison with a barrage early in the second round. They fought toe to toe during the third, with Ford giving much more than he received.

Bradley Lewis of New York was the fourth easterner to conquer. In the all-Negro 160 pound final, Lewis beat Buddy Waterman of Detroit. Lewis floored Waterman for a nine count with a body attack early in the first round.

It Takes Casey More than Hour to Defeat Lou Thesz

St. Louis, Mo., April 6.—(AP)—Steve [Crusher] Casey successfully defended his claim to the championship of the American Wrestling association tonight by defeating Lou Thesz of St. Louis in 1 hour 11 minutes 23 seconds.

Eight States to Send Quintets to Hellenic Tourney

Special Mile at Kansas Relays Attracts Stars

Lawrence, Kas., April 6.—[Special.]—One of the best fields in the mile run ever assembled for the Kansas relays is being lined up for the program which will be held April 23 at Memorial stadium.

With the announcement Glenn Cunningham and Don Lash both will compete, invitations were extended today to Gene Venzke, Pennsylvania star, and Archie San Romani, Emporia Teachers' miler. There was little doubt the two would accept.

Added to this field may be Chuck Fenske of Wisconsin, who was timed at 4:08.9 in the Armour Tech relays. Entrance of Fenske in the event depends on whether the date of a dual meet in which he is to participate is changed.

Len Winter Is Named Coach at Columbia

Dubuque, Ia., April 6.—[Special.]—Len Winter, coach and athletic director at Central college, Pella, Ia., for the last 10 years, today signed a three year contract as head football coach and director of physical education at Columbia college.

Under the terms of his contract he will become athletic director and head basketball coach in 1939-'40, succeeding the Rev. Daniel B. Coyne.

Winter, who only recently announced his resignation at Central, will succeed Johnny Niemiec, former Notre Dame star. Niemiec was dismissed as coach a year ago but was rehired after a petition, signed by a majority of the students, sought his retention. Niemiec said he plans to return to his home at Bellaire, O., where he will become director of physical education at an industrial plant.

Father Coyne, in announcing the selection of Winter, said that the athletic board chose the former Grinnell college star after a long investigation of prospective candidates.

In his 10 years at Central, Winter produced four Iowa conference basketball championships, and although his football teams never won a title, they finished in the first division seven of those years.

Columbia has long been known as a proving ground for ex-Notre Dame stars. Included on the list of previous coaches are Gus Dorais, Elmer Layden, Eddie Anderson, and Jerry Jones.

WASHINGTON GIRL SWIMMERS WIN IN TELEGRAPH MEET

The University of Washington yesterday was declared the winner of the national women's intercollegiate telegraphic swimming meet, sponsored by Mundelein College for Women. Washington scored twenty-two points.

The University of California at Los Angeles took second place with seventeen points; Northwestern university, was third, with 16½ points; Wright Junior college, Chicago, fourth, with 15½ points, and State Teachers college at Slippery Rock, Pa., fifth, with 13 points.

The University of Washington placed first in the major division of the meet, competing with other schools having more than 1,000 women students. Other leaders in this division were Northwestern, with 21 points for second place; the University of California, third, with 20½ points; Wayne university fourth, with 17½ points, and the University of Iowa, fifth, with 12 points.

In the minor division, which includes schools with fewer than one thousand women enrolled, State Teachers college, Slippery Rock, placed first with 27 points. Skidmore college, Saratoga Springs, N. Y., and Wright Junior college took second and third place with 24 and 21 points respectively.

With 14 points each, Washington university at St. Louis, and Oberlin college tied for fourth place. Mundelein tied for fifth place with the University of Pennsylvania, with 7 points.

Poloists Play for Sherman Title Tonight

The Chicago Shamrocks will battle the Cleveland 1st cavalry tonight for the western Sherman cup class polo title in the 124th Field Artillery armory. Fort Sheridan and the Chicago Black Horse troop will engage in a playoff for the Metropolitan Polo league junior championship.

To the winner of the Cleveland-Shamrocks game goes the right to meet the Blue Hill farm team, eastern Sherman cup champions, for the national title in that division.

Invasion of Chicago by two of the eastern championship teams started yesterday with the shipment of twenty-four ponies and will continue this afternoon with the entraining of the Ridgewood, N. J., and Blue Hill farm players. The Ridgewood Polo club will compete in the six to twelve goal division, and Blue Hill farm in the Sherman or zero to five goal class.

Herbert J. Lorber, chairman of the tournament committee, announced that the senior series will get under way next Wednesday in the 124th armory with Detroit's Gold Hats meeting either the New York Optimists or the New York Athletic club, depending upon which of the two eastern teams wins the rubber game in a senior series Saturday.

SWIM STARS OF NATION GATHER FOR A. A. U. MEET

Ohio State Makes Strong Bid for Title.

Columbus, O., April 6.—[Special.]—Swimming stars from all parts of the country began arriving in Columbus today for the National A. A. U. meet in the Ohio State university pool Friday and Saturday.

The Buckeyes are host to the event for the second time since the new fieldhouse was erected, the first being in 1934. They have serious hopes of taking the team title.

Ohio State has defending champions in four of the ten events, Al Patnik in both the high and low board diving and Johnny Higgins in the breast stroke and individual medley.

Two Big Days Ahead.

Preliminaries and finals in the 220 yard free style, 220 yard breast stroke, 300 yard medley individual event, 400 yard relay, and low board diving events will be held Friday. On Saturday afternoon preliminaries in the 100 yard free style, 150 yard backstroke, 500 yard free style, 300 yard medley relay, and high board diving will be held, with the finals Saturday night.

Charley Hutter of Harvard probably will not defend his title in the 220 yard free style, but his teammate, Bill Kendall, will compete. Kendall is the new collegiate champion. His strongest opposition will come from Tom Haynie of Michigan, John Marionis of Yale, Ralph Flannagan of Miami, Fla., Andy Clark of the Detroit A. C., John Patton of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Bob Johnson of Ohio State.

Higgins Defends Title.

Ohio's Johnny Higgins will defend the 220 yard breast stroke title he won last year against Don Hough of Princeton, Al McKee of Ohio, William B. Erizzi of Harvard, Ray Kaye of the Detroit A. C., and John Haigh of Michigan. Higgins also is champion in the 300 yard individual medley.

Patnik is favorite in the low board diving, with serious opposition expected from Al Greene of Chicago, Elbert Root of the Detroit A. C., and Jim Patterson of Ohio State.

Michigan will risk its championship in the 400 yard relay with Harvard, Ohio State, the Detroit A. C., and the New York A. C. as serious rivals.

Adolph Kiefer of Chicago will have trouble in the 150 yard back stroke with Al Van de Wegh of Princeton in the race.

One of the closest races of the meet may develop in the 500 yard free style between Flannagan, and Kendall of Harvard. Tom Haynie of Michigan is defending champion, but the company this year seems much too fast for him.

Navy Crews Entered in Poughkeepsie Regatta

Annapolis, Md., April 6.—[Special.]—The United States Naval academy's varsity and junior crews will compete in the Poughkeepsie regatta June 27. Rear Admiral Wilson Brown, superintendent of the academy, announced that the Navy's entry in the races was approved today.

BACK TALK COSTS INDIANS A GAME BY FORFEIT, 9 TO 0

5,000 See Umpire Award Giants Tied Contest.

Longview, Tex., April 6.—(AP)—Five thousand Longview fans got a look at big league baseball today and probably will remember it. The New York Giants beat the Cleveland Indians, 9 to 0, by forfeit when, in the middle of a ninth inning argument over a decision, Umpire Claude Tobin awarded the game, then tied 4 to 4, to the Giants.

When Oscar Vitt, the Tribe's manager, charged out of the duggout to ask Tobin why he had ruled Joe Moore's long fly to Julius Solters in the crowd in left a double when Solters had caught the ball, the crowd rushed out to get an earful.

Tobin explained that the team had agreed on a ground rule that made any ball hit into the crowd a double. Vitt protested violently. The crowd took sides. Tobin conferred with Lou Kolls, base umpire, and a little while later forfeited the game to the Giants.

Until the ninth Dick Coffman and Bobby Feller, relief pitchers, engaged in a hot hurling duel. Score:

New York [N].......120 100 00*—9 8 0

Batteries—Humphries, Feller, and Helf, Hemsley; Schumacher, Coffman and Danning. [Game forfeited with one out, last half of ninth, Cleveland refusing to play after argument.]

CARDINALS WIN, 7-2.

Albany, Ga., April 6.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals whipped the Albany class C club of the Georgia-Florida league, 7 to 2, today for their thirteenth victory of the training camp season.

Bill McGee worked the first six innings, yielding one run and five hits. Ray Harrell, who finished the game, was liberal to the same extent. The Cardinals had considerable trouble with a young right hander, Hank Nowak, who held them to one run and two hits in four innings. Score:

St. Louis [N.].........100 041 010—7 12 2
Albany [G.-F.].........000 001 010—2 10 2

YANKS BEAT DALLAS.

Dallas, Tex., April 6.—(AP)—Behind the hurling of Rookie Joe Beggs and veteran Bump Hadley, the New York Yankees finally won today, defeating Dallas of the Texas league, 2 to 0.

Beggs and Hadley gave up five hits but the Yanks could do little better. They got seven, three of them in the fourth when Lou Gehrig's single, Bill Dickey's double, and Tommy Henrich's single produced the first Yankee run. The Yankees picked up their second run in the sixth. Score:

New York [A.].......000 101 000—2 7 2

REDS, RED SOX TIE.

Columbia, S. C., April 6.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds and the Boston Red Sox played ten innings under a steady rain today before Umpire George Magerkurth called the game with the score tied, 2 to 2.

The Red Sox were held to two scattered hits for the first eight innings, before staging a two run rally that tied the score in the ninth. Lee Grissom, during his six inning turn, gave Boston only one hit.

Cincinnati scored in the fifth and seventh innings off Fritz Ostermueller, who relieved Lefty Grove in the fourth. The Sox reached Joe Cascarella, a former teammate, however, in the ninth for four hits and the tying run. Score:

Boston [A.] ......000 000 002 0—2 6 0
Cincinnati [N.]....000 010 100 0—2 8 0

YORK PACES TIGERS.

Clearwater, Fla., April 6.—(AP)—Led by Rudy York, who pounded two homers and a triple, the Detroit Tigers jumped the Brooklyn Dodgers for 11 hits and a 10 to 4 triumph today. It was Brooklyn's seventh straight loss.

Yorks triple was the big blow of the first inning which netted Detroit four runs on three hits. He and Charlie Gehringer clouted homers in the seventh in which the winners again got four runs. York's first homer came in the sixth. Score:

SENATORS LOSE AGAIN.

Orlando, Fla., April 6.—(AP)—Danny MacFayden checked Washington with seven hits today as the Boston Bees beat the Senators, 4 to 2. It was Washington's eighth straight loss to major league teams in the grapefruit league. In addition to his effective pitching MacFayden drove in two runs.

The Senators' rookies again disappointed Manager Harris. Pitcher Ken Chase walked nine and yielded eight hits in seven innings. Rookie Jimmy Wasdell struck out as a pinch hitter, and Rookie Case ended the game by trying to steal second base —which was occupied.

Boston [N.]..........020 001 010—4 10 0

Batteries—MacFayden and Mueller; Chase, Phebus and Ferrell.

WEST, NEWSOM HURT.

San Antonio, Tex., April 6.—(AP)—Two important members of the St. Louis Browns nursed minor wounds today as the club prepared for its final game with Toledo tomorrow and the opening Friday of a six game series with the Chicago Cubs.

Sammy West was carrying the middle finger of his right hand in a splint and Pitcher Buck Newsom was recovering from an eye injury received in a taxicab accident. Both players, however, were in uniform for a light drill.

Sox Will Open Series Against Pirates Today

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

El Paso, Tex., April 6.—The Cubs-White Sox traveling circus train was broken in half tonight, the Cubs' portion heading for San Antonio and the Sox for Sweetwater. The Sox meet the Pittsburgh Pirates tomorrow in the first of an eight game series. The Cubs will not reach San Antonio in time for the game originally scheduled, so the opener of a six game set with the St. Louis Browns will be delayed until Friday. Three of these half dozen battles will be staged in San Antonio.

From now on Manager Grimm will order nine inning performances for his Cub pitchers. That is they'll go nine innings if the enemy doesn't express disapproval. The first to start over the full route will be Clay Bryant on Friday. Bryant is still the leading candidate for pitching the season's opener at Cincinnati April 19.

If his pitching plans aren't upset Grimm will give Tex Carleton the starting assignment next Monday against the Browns at Fort Worth. That's Carleton's home town and his appearance might draw a few extra dollars through the gate.

It's a good thing for the Cubs that the championship race doesn't get under way for another two weeks. If they had to start a pennant fight right now it would be embarrassing because of the pitching ailments. Larry French has arm trouble which is thought to be mild, and both Bill Lee and Curt Davis are question marks. Lee is in San Antonio trying to get his creaky neck loosened up and Davis is still favoring the ankle he turned in practice more than two weeks ago.

Today's battle was more of a struggle against the elements than a baseball fight. Tons of real estate were in the air propeled by a terrific wind. That accounted for a modest attendance of about 1,200. It also was the reason Manager Grimm put his Cub regulars in their dustproof stables and let the Yannigans do the day's work.

Jack Russell, the American league discard acquired a couple of days ago by the Cubs, is expected to report to Manager Grimm tomorrow. Russell is supposed to be in pitching trim as the result of working in Florida and because of mound shortage caused by the Lee, Davis, and French infirmities, he will not have to wait long before being asked to lend a helping hand.

Thornton Lefty Lee and Bill Cox, the St. Paul rookie who Manager Dykes hopes will be of some value during the summer months, will share the White Sox pitching in tomorrow's exhibition with the Pirates at Sweetwater. Mace Brown and Dutch Brandt will pitch for the Pirates.

Managers Grimm and Dykes were called to the plate during the game and each was presented with a serape which is something the Mexicans wear over their shoulders to keep off the chills.

Norman Schlueter, who is fighting Mike Tresh for the third string catching job with the Sox, had to confine his day's exercises to a little running. He was carrying a lame arm which he picked up while making a slide to base during Monday's game at Bisbee, Ariz.

Manager Dykes' appearance at first base during the last five innings today marked his season's debut. The old fellow merely wanted to see if his legs would hold him. He's still fooling around with the idea that he might play regularly at second or third until the injured Luke Appling returns.

Harvard Defeats Navy Nine, 7-4, with Rally in 9th

Annapolis, Md., April 6.—[Special.] —A few spectators shivered through today's baseball game and watched Harvard win from the Navy, 7 to 4. Harvard clinched the game with a rally in the ninth which netted three runs.

Cubs Defeat Sox, 10 to 9, on Error in 9th

senthal singled and went to second on a wild pitch. The fourth ball to Thompson was a passed ball, which enabled Rosenthal to make another free move to third. Steinbacher flied to Stainback and Kimball sprained his ankle backing up the plate. Epperly replaced Kimball, and his first toss was a wild pitch, letting Rosenthal get his third free move on the trip around the bases. Thompson scored, too, on Martin's double to right.

Dobernic Has Trouble.

Dobernic took over the pitching job for the Sox in the seventh and the Cubs made four runs on Mattick's single, Berger's wild toss on a double play ball, Collins' double, a walk to Triplett, and Asbell's double, all before a putout was accomplished. The Sox then tightened and retired the side.

The Sox fattened their lead to 9 to 7 with two out in the seventh when Landrum hit an in-the-park homer to right field.

In the eighth the Cubs got a run home and had runners on third and second with none out but could do no better than tie the score. Epperly was safe on Martin's error and Mattick walked. York doubled to left center, scoring Epperly. Collins fouled to Rensa and Triplett bounced to Lindrum, Mattick scoring the tying run. Dobernic threw out Asbell.

Berger's second error on the potential third out in the ninth inning enabled the Cubs to score. Mesner was safe on Landrum's fumble and Stainback was called out on strikes. Garbark forced Mesner and went to third on Epperly's single. Mattick sent a grounder to Berger, who loosed a bad throw to Dykes, Garbark scoring the winning run. Then York fanned.

DUNKELBERGER IS BEATEN IN NORTH AND SOUTH GOLF

Pinehurst, N. C., April 6.—[Special.] —Charles Clare, New Haven, Conn., today eliminated Bobby Dunkelberger, High Point, N. C., the defending champion, in the second round of the North and South amateur golf tournament. The score was 3 and 2. However, Frank Strafaci, New York, the medalist, advanced by defeating A. C. Giles, Briarcliff, N. Y., 3 and 2. Other results:

Chicagoans Earn Places Among Leaders of A. B. C.

Chicagoans continued to dominate the American Bowling Congress in the Coliseum yesterday. Two members of the Birk Brothers team, which established a new world's record Tuesday with a 3,234, rolled among the leaders and a member of the Burlington Zephyrs, who scored 3,010 Tuesday, also created a major change.

Joe Traubenik of the Birks pyramided strikes for games of 226, 219, and 278 to take third place in the singles with 723. George Notz, also a member of the Birk team, who scored 712 in the five man event, climbed into sixth place in the all-events class with a total of 1935. Notz hit 586 in the doubles and concluded with a 637 total in the individual competition.

Revise Burlington Score.

An official check of Tuesday's five man event scores gave the Burlingtons 3,010, instead of 3,020 as originally listed, placing them in tenth place instead of a tie for seventh. Harold Grogan was credited with a 232 games in the team competition, but it was changed to 222 after the auditor had checked the scores. Grogan preceded his 634 and 658 doubles and singles total, respectively, yesterday with 644 in the team event, taking fifth place in the all-events with an aggregate of 1936.

Chicago's Pabst Blue Ribbons with Adolph Carlson, Joe Sinke, Eddie Zajac, Herbie Freitag, and Paul Krumske, will head another all-star card tonight. Curtiss Candies and Michelobs are also listed.

Expect Score to Stand.

Few expect the 3,234 score of the Birks to be beaten. The former high, 3,199, scored by the Milwaukee Tea Shops at Peoria in 1927 stood high for eleven years.

Yesterdays leading scores:

FINE TOBACCOS ONLY HALF THE STORY
Men don't call PHILLIES "the most enjoyable cigar" simply because of its fine tobaccos. Other cigars also have good tobaccos. The real story is this . . . PHILLIES is free of any bitter, bitey, raspy taste. Why? Because the bitterness and bite are taken out of the PHILLIES tobaccos. An exclusive Bayuk process does it. Don't take our word for this. Smoke at least one PHILLIES and judge it by your own taste. You'll see the PHILLIES box—with the big blue PHILLIES band across the lid—on your dealer's counter.

Traynor Cracks Down; Pirate Playboys Fined

Clovis, N. M., April 6.—(AP)—Manager Pie Traynor today herded the Pirates together, fined several of them for breaking training rules, and sent Russell Bauers by airplane to St. Louis for treatment of an injury suffered in a scuffle.

Bauers was expected to pitch the opening game against the Cardinals on April 19, but injured his knee so badly he may be unable to play for some time.

After Monday's exhibition in Barstow, Cal., the citizens showed their hospitality to such an extent that some of the athletes were feeling playful when they boarded their train late that night.

Six gathered in a smoking compartment and a friendly wrestling match developed. Bauers, reports said, proved to be so powerful that his five companions were needed to pin him. He wrenched the knee falling.

Traynor refused to name those fined.

A home run by Catcher Warren with a mate on base gave the Clovis semipros a 2 to 1 victory today over the Pirates in a five inning exhibition game, ending a streak of eleven straight triumphs by the major leaguers. Score:

Clovis ....020 00—2 5 0

Davis Tells Why He Quit Job with Reds

Bridgeport, Conn., April 6.—[Special.]—"I didn't relish the idea of spending another season sitting on the bench."

Thus George [Kiddo] Davis, upon his arrival here today, explained why he quit the Cincinnati Reds in Savannah, Ga., to go into retirement as far as baseball is concerned.

Tired of Bench.

"I'm sure I could have stayed in baseball a few years more as a utility player," Davis said, "but I could not bear the idea of spending another summer sitting on the bench. I've always tried to be of some value to the club that was paying me and I feel I could not do my club nor myself any good sitting on a bench."

First Owned by Yanks.

Davis was first owned by the New York Yankees who sent him to Hartford to pick up experience. Later he played with Reading, St. Paul, and finally went to the National league where he played with Philadelphia, New York, St. Louis, and Cincinnati. He participated in two world series while with the Giants.

MIRRORS TO LOOK BACK FOR DRIVERS AT INDIANAPOLIS

Indianapolis, Ind., April 6.—(AP)—Mirrors instead of mechanics will help automobile racing drivers in the 500 mile Indianapolis speedway race May 30 for the first time snce Ray Harroun drove to victory in the first race in 1911.

Two rear view mirrors—one on either side of the racing cars—will take the place of the riding mechanic under a new rule, Louis Schwitzer, chairman of the American Automobile association's technical committee, explained today. The rule requires that each car be equipped with the mirrors to do the driver's "looking back."

CASEY ARRIVES TODAY FOR MATCH WITH ED GEORGE

Marshall and O'Mahoney Meet in Semi-Final.

Steve [Crusher] Casey, newest claimant of the heavyweight wrestling championship, will arrive today for a bout with Ed Don George in the Stadium tomorrow. The match is set for one fall with a one hour time limit. Casey will be making his first Chicago appearance since last December, when he won three matches in three days.

Everett Marshall will appear in the 30 minute semi-final against Danno O'Mahoney, who defeated Joe Cox in Syracuse, N. Y., Tuesday. Each of the four preliminary encounters is booked for 20 minutes. They involve Wladyslaw Talun and Jerry Monahan, Pietro Gobbo and Julius Strongbow, Bob Gregory and George Gastovich, Chief Osley Sanooke and Hans Zimbelman.

Lou Laurie, 1936 American Olympic Golden Gloves flyweight representative, will have Pat O'Brien as his opponent in a four round supporting contest to the ten round windup concerning Milt Aron and Johnny Durso in Marigold Gardens Monday. . . . In case he dethrones Barney Ross in their welterweight title bout in New York May 26, Henry Armstrong will meet Ross in a return engagement, probably on Sept. 14. Ross, who knocked out Henry Schaft Monday, will leave today for Waukesha, Wis., where he will rest about ten days before resuming drills for a contemplated tune-up in Des Moines, Ia., April 25 or 26. . . . Bronko Nagurski, who beat Ivan Rasputin in San Francisco this week, is being sought to oppose Jim Londos in International amphitheater April 29. Londos continued his march by throwing King Kong in Reading, Pa., the other night. . . .

Pete Lello, Gary lightweight, who lost a hard fight with Nick Camarata of New Orleans in Marigold arena Monday, will be able to go through with a scheduled scrap against Jimmy Buckler in Louisville, Ky., Derby eve despite an eye cut which necessitated three stitches to close. . . . Camarata plans to depart tomorrow, but he'll be back for a second bout in the north side club next month. . . . Davey Day has been forced to cancel a listed engagement in Marigold April 18 because of an injured right hand, the cast of which will be removed tomorrow. . . . Mrs. Pearl White Ankovitz of 4931 North St. Louis avenue, mother of Charley White, the old lightweight headliner, will be buried today in Waldheim cemetery. Funeral services for Mrs. White Ankovitz, who was 68 years old, will be conducted in the chapel at 3021 Lawrence avenue, at 2 p. m. Besides Charles survivors are Jack, Billy, and Al, all three of whom also were boxers, and Louis, Morris, Harry, Shirley, and Ida. . . . Ali Baba and Joe Corbett have been matched to meet in White City Monday. . . .

John Henry Lewis will defend his light heavyweight crown against Emilio Martinez of Denver in Minneapolis April 25 under the promotion of Tommy O'Loughlin. . . . Willie McNamara, old time fighter, is running for judge of the Municipal court. . . . Lem Franklin, Golden Gloves heavyweight graduate, will head for Detroit today for a six rounder in the Olympia there tomorrow against Paul Ambers, former sparmate for Joe Louis. Jimmy Adamick and Al Ettore are main event principals. . . . A series of intercity matches between amateur boxers from Joliet and Chicago will be held tomorrow in Madison Athletic club. . . . Joe Benna, Inland Steel middleweight, and Steve Modla, Briggs automobile color bearer from Detroit, will clash in Roosevelt High school's new gymnasium in East Chicago tomorrow. . . . F. M.

JOHNSON, STAR OF INDIANA FIVE, WEDS SATURDAY

Bloomington, Ind., April 6.—[Special.]—Announcement was made today of the approaching marriage of William Johnson, Indiana university basketball star and former captain of the Jeffersonville High school basketball team, and Martha Jane Mode of Jeffersonville. The wedding will be held at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon in Jeffersonville, with the Rev. C. C. Callahan performing the ceremony.

Miss Mode is a graduate of Jeffersonville High school and of the Norton infirmary of Louisville, where she now is serving as nurse. Johnson will be graduated from Indiana next year with the bachelor of science degree in physical education.

FIVE NEW TRIER WEIGHT LIFTERS IN STATE MEET

Bill Bonner will lead a five man team representing New Trier High school in the Illinois state team championship meet in the Mid-City Weight Lifting club, 3345 North Clark street, at 2 p. m. Sunday.

The Mid-City W. L. C., looms as a title threat with the addition of Walter [illegible] in the light heavyweight class. This team is strong in all Olympic classes and on the basis of workouts, can break the record total of 3,000 pounds held by the Chicago Weight Lifting club.

Great Haste Wins His First Race at Bowie

Baltimore, Md., April 6.—(AP)—Making his first start of the Maryland meeting, H. J. Bundscho's Great Haste carried 122 pounds to victory by a neck over W. E. Johnson's Master Lad in the Sandy Springs handicap, main event on the Bowie racing program today.

The 6 year old bay gelding, under urging by Wayne Wright, put on a stretch rush to win going away. E. R. Pike's Kenty finished third, half a length behind Master Lad. Great Haste returned $4.80 for $2 and was clocked in 1:14 4-5 for the six furlongs over a fast track.

Wright and R. L. Vedder, the latter the third leading jocky of 1937, who was making his Maryland debut, each rode two winners. Wright also had the mount on Star Porter, George McMitchell's 8 year old gelding, which came up from tenth place to take the six furlong opener, while Vedder scored with Flying Orphan, owned by C. Willing Browne Jr., in the second race and with C. F. Hockley's favored Mystery Miss in the third.

WAR ADMIRAL AND STABLEMATES ON WAY TO RACES

Berlin, Md., April 6.—[Special.]—Seven large motor vans, carrying War Admiral, America's 3 year old champion last year; twenty-one 2 year olds, and two older horses, left Samuel D. Riddle's stables near here today, bound for leading spring and summer events on eastern tracks.

Riddle watched the loading of the vans and followed in his private automobile. Trainer George Conway rode in the van which carried War Admiral, Army Banner, and War Camp. The horses will compete at Jamaica in April, Belmont Park in May, Aqueduct in June, Empire City and Delaware Park in July, and Saratoga in August.

According to Trainer Conway, War Admiral will start in the Brooklyn handicap at Aqueduct and the $50,000 Massachusetts handicap at Suffolk Downs on June 29.

AND TODAY

● Five years ago today, beer came back . . . an old industry was re-established . . . happy days were here again for workers in the brewing and allied industries—and the public. United States Brewing Company, oldest operating brewery in Chicago, was ready . . . ready to supply the demand for carefully made, properly aged Rheingold Beer with all the fine flavor that old-timers remembered so well. Rheingold Beer is keeping old friends . . . making new ones. More and more beer drinkers appreciate the flavor that only experienced brewing, proper aging and careful handling can produce in a glass of beer.

I'D LIKE TO TASTE SOME OF THE WHISKEY YOU MADE 30 OR 40 YEARS AGO, MR. KESSLER

IT COULDN'T COMPARE WITH KESSLER'S OF TODAY. MY PRIVATE BLEND IS THE FINEST WHISKEY I'VE MADE IN 60 YEARS

JULIUS KESSLER'S
"Finest Whiskey in 60 Years"

Best known of all the great distillers today in the whiskey business is Julius Kessler. In his 60 years of experience, he has personally shaken hands with more than 150,000 retailers and bartenders.

When Mr. Kessler says—"this is the finest whiskey of my entire career"—it is a statement that carries weight. For Mr. Kessler, in the old days, produced many of the most famous brands of whiskey in America.

Kessler's Private Blend is a lighter, milder form of whiskey. Try a pint. In a highball—a Manhattan—or drink it straight. Get on the blend wagon with Kessler's—the lighter whiskey with the velvet taste. At bars . . . or package stores ask for Kessler's Private Blend.

WEDDING MILLS GRIND SLOWLY IN INDIANA NOW

Court Dams Golden Flood from Outstate Couples.

BY MARCIA WINN.

There once was a time, prior to Jan. 11, when the flood of money from Illinois couples wishing a speedy, secret or gin-inspired wedding, kept the marriage mills grinding briskly in Indiana county seats along the border. But yesterday there was little left of a once lucrative industry but memories.

Court Ruling Is Downfall.

Its downfall was brought about by the Indiana Supreme court's ruling of Jan. 11, upholding an 1852 statute which restricted the issuance of marriage licenses to women living in the county.

Crown Point, the haven of Chicago couples wishing to evade Illinois' hygienic marriage law, has been hardest hit. For fifty years any one who had the price could get a license in Crown Point. The county clerk made $75,000 a year from the sale of dove decorated licenses alone, issuing an estimated 1,900 a month. His 1937 total was 11,400.

But now:

In January, County Clerk George W. Sweigert of Lake county issued only 301; in February, 268, and in March, 241.

Still Able to Cheat.

"They could be from Chicago and get by with it," a clerk commented, "but if there is cheating now, it is on the side of the couples.

"They have to state where they live, but the street address is not asked. They have to swear, of course, that they are giving the right address."

Formerly from 60 to 70 couples a week would descend on Crown Point in the early morning, arouse a clerk, pay him a fat fee for a license, then hurry to one of the marrying justices which litter the town.

Few Issued at Night.

Now, however, only three or four licenses are issued after the office closes at 5 p. m. Those are issued by appointment only, and none after midnight. The week-end business, too, is not merely dull; it is at a standstill.

Elsewhere in Indiana the story is the same. In South Bend, where 3,686 licenses were issued in 1937, business has dropped 63 per cent since the Supreme court ruling. In March, 1937, 221 licenses were issued; in March of this year, 142.

In Vincennes, Ind., although the number of licenses issued showed a gain over 1937, Circuit Clerk Paul Enmeier said he has turned away more than 100 Illinois couples. "It is the law," he said, "and I am enforcing it."

In Richmond, Ind., County Clerk Russell Robbins has issued only 257 licenses this year, compared with 783 for the same period in 1937. His loss, however, is Ohio's gain, not Illinois,' for Ohio couples wishing to evade their state's laws, came to Richmond.

Kentucky Business Falls Off.

In Jeffersonville, where five justices of the peace formerly earned $60 a week apiece by performing hurry-up marriages, usually for Kentucky couples, business is approximately one-tenth of what is was last year. Before the slump, 250 licenses were issued a month. Now it is 25. Only one justice is seeking renomination.

In Valparaiso, business is 50 per cent of what once was normal, but residents say residence in the county is not difficult to establish. This is done by obtaining a receipt from a hotel or boarding house operator.

"And I'm not compelled to act as detective," says County Clerk Lewis W. Keller.

ESTATE BATTLE DRAWS ROMANCE FROM OLD DIARY

Testify to Brainard's Wedding in 1900.

A worn diary in which he had recorded his first marriage thirty-eight years ago was the center of interest yesterday in the legal fight for the estate of Charles H. Brainard, a construction engineer. The hearing was before Master in Chancery John Sbarbaro. As witnesses told of the first marriage in 1900 an intent listener was the woman who contends that she was married in 1929 to Brainard without knowledge that he already had a wife.

Brainard was killed on March 8 last year while installing machinery in a mine at Clay City, Ind. He left no will. His estate is estimated at more than $40,000.

Claim to Be Legitimate.

Claimants on one side are Mrs. Gertrude Brainard, who asserts she was the legal wife, and four of his brothers and two sisters. Against them are arrayed two children, Charlotte, 7 years old, and Patricia, 6, who, their lawyers stipulate, were born after Brainard married Laura Farthing at St. Charles, Ill., in 1929. Through Attorneys Lloyd Moody and Harry H. Talcott, each is asking one-third of the estate, as a legitimate child, on the basis that their mother married Brainard without knowing that the union was bigamous.

Attorney George W. Dammann, representing the brothers and sisters, produced as a witness H. L. Hanson of 2731 Harrison street, Evanston, a cousin of Brainard. Hanson testified that he visited the Charles H. Brainards shortly after their marriage in 1900 at an apartment on Crystal street.

Dammann also introduced letters which he said were written from Indiana by Brainard a few months before his death, ordering groceries for Mrs. Gertrude Brainard at 428 Rex boulevard, Elmhurst, where she still lives.

The diary, put in evidence by Attorney Dammann, was identified as Brainard's. In it, for the date June 9, 1900, was the notation: "Work 5:50. Afternoon buying ring, suit, hat, and camera." And for June 20, 1900: "Work 7 hours. Afternoon downtown getting flowers and license. Evening married to Gertie Gullickson at 506 Crystal street."

Relative Describes Visit.

On cross-examination by Attorney Moody, Rollo Gullickson of 908 Greenwood avenue, Wilmette, who had identified the diary, told about a visit he paid to Mrs. Laura Brainard at her present home, 605 Ashland avenue, River Forest, after Brainard's death. The house was owned by Brainard.

"She asked me to come upstairs," said Gullickson, a half-brother of Mrs. Gertrude Brainard, "to get out of hearing of two other women who were there. She said they didn't know she wasn't married to Mr. Brainard."

Upstairs, he said, she showed him her two children, but he denied that he had ever referred to them as Brainard's children.

Younghusband Grounded on Air Stunting Charge

St. Petersburg, Fla., April 6.—(AP)—Sam Magill, manager of Albert Whitted airport, said today he had ordered J. Leslie Younghusband grounded because the Chicago cosmetics millionaire stunted his plane at a low altitude over the heart of the city yesterday. Magill said he would refer the case to the department of commerce for further action.

OBITUARIES

Dr. Eva S. Shaver.

Dr. Eva S. Shaver, who was indicted twice as an abortionist in 1914 and 1915 and was again held for grand jury action on a similar charge in 1925, died yesterday. She was once convicted of manslaughter following the death of a woman from an illegal operation, but won a new trial that dragged through the congested courts of the period for years and finally was stricken off. Her home and office for many years were at 1120 Sedgwick street. She is survived by three sons, Attorney Clarence W. Shaver, Charles D. and Harry Shaver. Funeral services will be held at 716 North State street at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Judge William E. Hailey.

Superior, Wis., April 6.—[Special.]—Judge William E. Hailey, 72 years old, a local resident of Superior for fifty-one years, died yesterday. He was stricken while in Chicago early last month. He was graduated from the University of Wisconsin law school and had served as city attorney and Municipal and Superior court judge. He was appointed County judge by the late Gov. Blaine in 1923. He was a member of the state child labor board.

Edgar Foster Alden.

Edgar Foster Alden, a direct descendant of John Alden of the Mayflower colony and well known advertising executive, died yesterday in his home, 352 Linden avenue, Winnetka. He was 69 years old. Born in Cincinnati, he came here in 1912. Surviving are his widow, two daughters, Mrs. E. P. A. Settle of St. Louis and Mrs. Clyde M. Joice of Evanston, and a son, Stewart B. Alden.

Wellington J. Norton.

Wellington J. Norton, at whose father's dinner table Chief Shabbona of the Pottawatami Indians often sat, died yesterday in his farm home near Shabbona, west of Aurora, where he was born 86 years ago. As a boy Norton played with children of the tribe which camped in his father's woods. His widow, Jessie, early Shabbona school teacher, and a daughter, Mrs. Emery E. Houghtby, survive.

Alvin McCaslin Higgins.

Croton-on-Hudson, N. Y., April 6.—[Special.]—Alvin McCaslin Higgins, 71 years old, died here today. He was a New York attorney, author, and former executive of an independent telephone company. Born in Superior, Wis., he was a son of the Rev. William Rayburn and Mary Condon Higgins.

August G. Diestelmeier.

Freeport, Ill., April 6.—[Special.]—August G. Diestelmeier, 79 years old, known throughout northwestern Illinois as horticulturist and breeder of fine horses, died today at Lena.

Joseph M. Horan.

Joseph M. Horan, veteran employé of Armour & Co., died yesterday morning in his home, 6819 Jeffery boulevard. He was 74 years old. Surviving are his widow and four daughters, Dr. Ellamay Horan of the University of Chicago, Mrs. Cal Sheehy, Mrs. R. E. Daly Jr., and Mrs. T. F. Gilmore of Rye, N. Y. Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow in St. Philip Neri church. Burial will be in Mount Olivet cemetery.

Daniel J. Carroll.

Daniel J. Carroll, 64 years old, engineer who had been employed by the county in the Oak Forest infirmary for years, died late Tuesday in the Little Company of Mary hospital after an operation. He is survived by his widow, Ellen, and two daughters. Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a. m. Saturday from the residence, 7652 South Union avenue, to St. Leo church. Burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Enzo Baccante.

New York, April 6.—[Special.]—Enzo Baccante, painter, sculptor, and former opera singer in Italy, was found dead of heart disease Tuesday night in his apartment. He was born fifty-one years ago in Italy. He sang in operas and concerts in Italy, but gave up that profession soon after the world war, during which he served with the Italian army. In 1922 he came to this country.

Mabel E. Simpson.

Albany, N. Y., April 6.—[Special.]—Miss Mabel E. Simpson, 55 years old, died last night. She was former president of the New York State Teachers association and editor of its magazine Education. Starting as a rural school teacher near Ithaca, she obtained bachelor's and master's degrees in education at the University of Rochester.

Frank L. Swigert.

Haddonfield, N. J., April 6.—[Special.]—Frank L. Swigert, 59 years old, died at his home here today. He was manager of the Media-Contract department of N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc., advertising agency with which he had been associated for twenty-eight years.

William G. Stiegler.

Cincinnati, O., April 6.—(AP)—William G. Stiegler, 57 years old, drama editor of the Cincinnati Times Star, died today of a cerebral hemorrhage suffered while at work Monday.

MILLION DOLLAR ESTATE LEFT BY AGNES H. M'BRIDE

An estate of $1,000,000, left by Mrs. Agnes H. McBride, widow of Walter T. McBride, Detroit manufacturer of railroad cars, was listed in an inventory filed yesterday with Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court. The bulk of the estate, which was first estimated at $300,000, is bequeathed to a son, Walter Paul McBride, of 1390 North Lake road, Lake Forest.

The estate includes $33,300 in cash, $342,000 in United States treasury bonds and notes, and stocks of the Chicago Union Station company, Illinois Bell Telephone company, American Telephone and Telegraph company, Commonwealth Edison company, and Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

(ADVERTISMENT)

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

CREDIT FOR TRADE SUBJECTS URGED BY SCHOOL GROUP

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

A recommendation that academic and vocational subjects taught in high schools be put on an equal basis and that all distinctions between them be eliminated was made yesterday to its members by the commission on secondary schools of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The organization, which represents 2,728 approved high schools and 278 colleges and universities in twenty central states, is meeting this week in the Stevens hotel. The report will be voted on today.

Under a new rule urged in the report courses in printing, typewriting, cooking, sewing, and mechanic arts will be given the same standing as languages, history, mathematics, and the sciences in the accrediting of high schools by the association. If the report is passed this powerful accrediting association will put its stamp of official approval on the new vocational program for Chicago high schools developed by Supt. William H. Johnson.

Seek Modern Viewpoint.

J. Andrew Holley of Oklahoma City, Okla., director of the commission, said yesterday the report permitted the association to catch up with what already is in effect in many communities where local educators have sought to adapt school systems to modern needs.

"The report will remove the stigma attached to vocational schools," Holley said. "It will bring us in step with the times and enable us to evaluate better the varying needs of different communities. For instance, schools in industrial areas stress vocational subjects more than those in other areas, hence they should be judged on that basis."

A. W. Clevenger, of the University of Illinois and secretary of the association, said that prior to yesterday's report all high schools had been judged on the way they prepared their students for college. This basis of judgment, he asserted, no longer covers the present field.

Adoption up to Colleges.

"The high school can no longer remain simply a college preparatory institution," Dr. Clevenger declared. "It must meet the needs and interests not only of those who expect to go to college or university but also it must meet the needs and interests of that larger group of pupils who are not going to college. Until now the association has been concerned primarily with the college preparatory part of the high school program."

If the report is adopted, Holley said, it would not necessarily affect college and university entrance requirements. Each college, he added, sets up its own rules and may or may not accept vocational subjects in place of languages, mathematics, and other academic subjects.

The report also proposes greater state autonomy in the accrediting of high schools by giving new powers to the association's state committees. It proposes that high schools shall be accredited by the association for indefinite periods instead of from year to year.

The association's commission on higher education yesterday declined to term unethical the spending of large sums annually by colleges for recruiting in high schools. The report was sent back for another year's study.

DORA, THE DISHPAN SLAVE . . . She Wins Blessed Freedom At Last! by VIC JORGESEN

BOY, HOW THAT GREASE STICKS!
SHE'LL BE AT IT ALL NIGHT!
DORA, HERE'S TOM—HE AND BETH WANT US TO RUN OVER FOR A LITTLE BRIDGE!
BRIDGE! HOW CAN ANYONE PLAY BRIDGE WITH THIS BEASTLY MOUNTAIN OF DISHES STARING THEM IN THE FACE? I'M A DISHPAN SLAVE, THAT'S WHAT I AM!
BETH TO THE RESCUE
WHAT'S ALL THIS TOM TELLS ME?
I COULDN'T HELP IT, BETH—DISHWASHING'S SUCH A HORRIBLE JOB—TAKES FOREVER—AND SIMPLY RUINS MY HANDS!
THAT'S WHY I BROUGHT YOU MY PACKAGE OF OXYDOL. IT'S SIMPLY A MIRACLE IN THE DISHPAN! CUTS GREASE WORLDS FASTER THAN ANY SOAP I EVER SAW!

"MIRACLE" IS RIGHT! THESE DISHES FAIRLY "WASH THEMSELVES." GREASE JUST MELTS AWAY.
A LITTLE WHILE LATER
HONESTLY, BETH, I FEEL LIKE I'D BEEN LET OUT OF JAIL. YOU CERTAINLY DESERVE A MEDAL FOR INTRODUCING ME TO OXYDOL!
I CALL IT MY "3-WAY" DISHWASHING SOAP! IT SAVES TIME—SAVES MONEY—SAVES HANDS!

"SHEER DISHPAN MAGIC," SAY WOMEN

Of This Amazing Grease-Melting Soap

DON'T let hours of dishpan drudgery cut your evenings short—and rob you of the good times that every woman deserves! Switch to OXYDOL—the amazing new soap that melts grease so fast that dishes fairly seem to "wash themselves." Yet is so easy on hands that thousands use nothing else for washing dishes 3 times a day.

OXYDOL was developed at a cost of over $1,000,000 by the makers of Ivory soap—and is the result of a remarkable formula that makes mild, gentle soap 2 to 3 times more efficient. Melts grease 25% faster than less modern soaps.

That's why so many users say they get their dishes done in a fraction of the time it took before! One quick wipe and dishes gleam—glassware sparkles like jewels! Yet you need never fear the coarse, red hands so often charged to ordinary harsh soaps.

OXYDOL is particularly economical for dishwashing. Tests against popular package soaps show that, cup for cup, OXYDOL gives 28% to 60% MORE SUDS! And one package often goes ⅓ to ½ again as far as even the most modern chips!

So, by all means, try OXYDOL without delay. It will give you a totally new conception of how much faster and easier dishwashing CAN be in this modern, scientific age. You can get OXYDOL at all dealers. Ask for a package today. Procter & Gamble.

FAIR WILL OMIT MAY DIVIDEND ON PREFERRED ISSUE

Wilson-Jones Co. Orders 25 Cent Payment.

The Fair, Chicago department store organization, yesterday decided to omit the quarterly dividend due May 1 on its 7 per cent preferred stock because of prevailing business conditions.

A dividend of 25 cents a share will be paid May 2 on common stock of the Wilson-Jones company. This compares with $1.50 a share a year ago before a two for one stock split. Dividends since the split were a 25 cent extra payment in August and 50 cents on Nov. 12. Directors also announced the board does not expect to consider payment of further dividends until the annual meeting in October, after the end of the fiscal year Aug. 31.

Stock Put on Dividend Basis.

The National Money corporation, 11 South La Salle street, personal finance company, decided to place its class A stock on a dividend basis, with payment of 10 cents a share April 15.

Directors of the American Stove company, St. Louis, voted a dividend of 10 cents a share on 539,000 shares of outstanding stock. Louis Stockstrom, president of the company since 1927, was named chairman of the board, and his son, Arthur, was elevated from secretary to president. R. K. Clark and A. F. Millikan, Chicago, were reëlected vice presidents. The company has plants at Chicago and Harvey, Ill.

Among regular dividends was the quarterly payment of 50 cents on preferred stock of Domestic Finance corporation.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

Snow Covers Farm.

April 6, 1938.

THE surprise blizzard which swept out of the west has played a belated April fool's joke on both the wild birds and the budding vegetation on the Tribune farm by placing a soft but cold blanket over the landscape, burying such early blossoming flowers as the spring beauty and temporarily taking spring right out of the picture. Geese, ducks, wild songbirds, turkeys, guinea hens and even the sheep must have been surprised to find the wind bringing snow to cover the the green fields.

But this snowfall will not damage the budding wild crab trees, the haws, and other trees on the farm, according to Dr. George Fuller, professor emeritus of ecology of the University of Chicago. Dr. Fuller, who before the snow came, had walked over the farm to inspect the growth of many shrubs, said the quick change in weather wouldn't injure the wild flowers and the native trees and shrubs, although the lilacs in the yards of the farm cottages possibly would be damaged.

If the temperature does not drop below freezing for any length of time during the next few days the snowfall will really be a protective covering for the early flowers, Dr. Fuller said.

Snow Hard on Birds.

The birds are going to feel the effects of the snowfall more than the wild flowers. When the ground is covered by snow, the robins, meadowlarks and songsparrows find it none too easy to get food. But the snowstorm makes it even more difficult for the first purple martins which have come into Chicagoland. These birds must have insects for food. The first warm days of late March and early April did bring out insect life. Cold weather and snow, however, are anything but a stimulating force toward the development of insectivorous food for birds.

Just about twelve hours before the snowstorm struck the farm we were walking through the woods checking the number and kinds of birds that were noticeable. We found the yellow winged woodpeckers sounding their notes from tall trees in the woods, in spite of the cold raw wind that was whistling through the timber. But the surprise of the late afternoon was seeing a flock of ruby crowned kinglets along the stream which flows through the east woods. There must have been fifteen or twenty of them flitting nervously through the wild crab and willow trees near the water's edge. These little olive green birds look something like warblers, but they are much tamer.

Crowned Kinglets Arrive.

The kinglets that we followed with our binoculars were so fidgety and nervous that we had a difficult time keeping the glass on them for any length of time. Not one second did any bird rest from its constant search to find insects on the branches of the trees. One of the birds dropped down rather close to us so we could see its bright red crown very plainly. The kinglets may winter as far south as Guatemala. If those on the farm have come from the warm tropical woods of Guatemala they'll need some frostbite remedy this morning!

After looking at the ruby crowned kinglets we walked along the creek to see how far advanced the mandrakes are. The snow temporarily has hidden their sturdy green stalks, but it can't take away the unusual progress of some of the plants, due to the very warm weather that preceded the spell of cold April days and the snow. Much to our surprise we found several small mandrake plants standing five inches high and several even had unfolded their umbrellalike leaves. The ones that have opened their leaves to form a protective covering must have had some tip on the weather so that they could be prepared to turn the soft wet snow with their "umbrellas."

SIGN WITH C. I. O., ORDER BY NLRB TO INLAND STEEL

Decision Headed for High Court Test.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 6.—[Special.]—The national labor relations board today ruled that refusal of an employer to sign a contract with a union constitutes a violation of the Wagner labor act in a case involving the Inland Steel corporation of Chicago. Within an hour after the decision was given the ruling was started for a Supreme court constitutionality test.

In its ruling the board gave a new interpretation to the labor act by holding that bargaining in good faith carries the added obligation on the part of an employer to sign an agreement on understandings reached with employés.

Contention over signed agreements led to the "little steel" strike last summer, which was lost by the Steel Workers' Organizing committee, a C. I. O. affiliate. The ruling of the board today upheld the position of the C. I. O. that employers are required to sign contracts with employé groups.

Prepare for Court Fight.

Attorneys for the steel company immediately obtained a certified copy of the board's decision for a court challenge of the ruling. Because the ruling is based on the theory that signed agreements are implied in the labor act, attorneys said they will carry the case to the Supreme court if necessary.

The decision is expected to be the forerunner of a batch of similar decisions against other independent steel companies which have refused to sign contracts with the C. I. O. affiliate. The N. L. R. B. cases were brought against the companies by the C. I. O. as the "little steel" strike collapsed under the weight of public disapproval of C. I. O. tactics.

In its ruling in the Inland Steel case the board ordered the Chicago corporation to bargain with the S. W. O. C. and to sign a contract with the union if agreement is reached on wages, hours and other conditions of employment.

Insist on Written Agreement.

The board made it clear that employers are not compelled to agreement upon any particular terms with the union under the act, but that they are required to accept the procedure of collective bargaining and that refusal to reduce to a written agreement understandings that might be reached was not an acceptance of the collective bargaining obligation imposed by the act.

The case was precipitated by the flat assertion of the Inland Steel corporation at the outset of negotiations with the C. I. O. affiliate that it would sign no contract with the union regardless of the nature of understandings that might result from the conferences with union representatives.

The breakdown of negotiations brought the strike at Indiana Harbor, Ind., and Chicago Heights, Ill., last May 26. The strike which began at Inland plants extended to the Republic Steel corporation, the Bethlehem Steel corporation and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company. The "little steel" companies held the labor act did not require signed contracts and declared that they could not enter into contracts with the C. I. O. because the organization was irresponsible.

Plants Reopened July 1.

The strike ended last July 1 when the plants were reopened and workers trooped back to their jobs. The C. I. O. was forced to surrender in the face of a country-wide condemnation of C. I. O. terrorism, which reached its climax in the Memorial day riot at a South Chicago steel plant.

The board held that an employer could not refuse to bargain with employés merely because he viewed employé representatives as irresponsible. It added that irresponsibility is irrelevant in determining whether understandings must be embodied in written agreements.

The board held that the company's allegation of irresponsibility showed distaste for having in its plants an effective labor organization. Summing up its position the board said:

"We can reach but one conclusion. Under section 8 [5] of the act, the employer is required to accept the procedure of collective bargaining. The nature of this obligation must be determined in light of the historical meaning of the term collective bargaining and the spirit and purpose of the act. As we have seen, the reduction of collective agreements to writing has become an integral element of the collective bargaining process.

Rap Refusal to Confirm.

"In addition, from the viewpoint of harmonious and coöperative labor relations, as well as of business practice, the importance of reducing collective agreements to writing is obvious. The respondent can advance no reason for refusing to conform to such practice except those solely anti-union in character.

"It follows that the respondent must comply with this requirement to the same extent that it must meet, negotiate in good faith, and accept the other conditions of collective bargaining procedure. We think it plain that any other interpretation of section 8 [5] would be contrary to the whole spirit and purpose of the act."

NEW YORK SAVINGS BANKS GET RIGHT TO SELL LIFE INSURANCE

Albany, N. Y., April 6.—(AP)—Sale of life insurance by savings banks beginning next Jan. 1, a plan designed chiefly for persons in the lower income groups, was authorized today by Gov. Lehman's signature to a bill he had recommended to the 1938 legislature.

The law makes insurance an over the counter commodity, available to state residents at savings banks which elect to enter the business. Solicitors and collectors are excluded from the sales system. Purchasers will be limited to a maximum of $1,000 in any one bank, or $3,000 in the aggregate underwritten by three or more banks.

Rates charged by Massachusetts savings banks for the same type of insurance have been cited as indicative of what may be charged by New York banks. A policyholder in Massachusetts pays a $12.84 annual premium for $1,000 of straight life insurance at the age of 10; $16.18 at the age of 20, with annual dividends of $6.58; $23.90 at the age of 35, with dividends of $7.22.

PUBLIC HEARING OF WHITNEY CASE ORDERED BY SEC

Washington, D. C., April 6.—(AP)—The securities commission today ordered a public hearing to be held April 8 on the failure of the firm of Richard Whitney, former New York stock exchange president. The commission said Whitney would be examined in New York City before Samuel O. Clark Jr., commission trial examiner. Later the hearing will be moved to the commission's Washington offices.

The commission said it had been conducting an inquiry into Whitney's conduct "to determine whether there have been violations of federal criminal statutes in addition to admitted violations of state criminal statutes." This inquiry has not been completed.

Seeks Ouster Records.

New York, April 6.—[Special.]—Supreme Court Justice Julius Miller today reserved decision on a motion brought by Joseph D. Frankel, expelled member of the New York Stock change to compel the exchange to produce the records of the proceedings which resulted in his ouster in 1933. The motion was made in connection with a suit filed in April, 1934, against Richard Whitney, as president of the exchange, for damages of $5,000,000.

STATE REQUESTS LIQUIDATION OF CASUALTY FIRM

An order to show cause why the Builders and Manufacturers Casualty company, Chicago, should not be liquidated was issued by Judge James Fardy in Superior court yesterday on petition of the office of the state attorney general, acting for the Illinois insurance department. The petition said the company's capital of $200,000 was impaired to the extent of $193,000. Judge Fardy's order is returnable Saturday.

At the Chicago office of the insurance department the company's capital impairment was attributed mainly to shrinkage of security holdings. A bulletin issued by Best's Insurance Reports recently said the company's security depreciation last year was $83,930.

The company is licensed to do business in eight states. The present firm, a stock company which succeeded the Builders and Manufacturers Mutual Casualty company, began business June 5, 1937. As of that date it reported total admitted assets of $1,793,020.

EXCHANGE FEE PLAN APPROVAL IS INDICATED

Approval by Chicago Stock exchange members of plans for splitting brokerage fees with nonmember dealers and admission of corporations to exchange membership was indicated yesterday. The proposals were submitted to members Tuesday by T. R. Benson, president.

Both changes would require a revision of the existing rules of the exchange and would mean a departure from stock exchange practice of the past.

Exchange officials said that the reception of the proposals by members was favorable, indicating that the necessary rules revision would be approved.

R. P. Boylan May Head N. Y. Stock Market

New York, April 6.—(AP)—A former president of the Chicago Board of Trade was reported in brokerage circles today to be among a trio receiving final consideration for nomination as chairman of the board of governors of the New York Stock exchange, the highest ranking policy making officer.

Robert P. Boylan.

The nominating committee, which is scheduled to announce its slate next Monday, was said to have narrowed its choice for chairman to the following:

Robert P. Boylan, former head of the Chicago Board of Trade, now on the floor of the stock exchange for the firm of Clement, Curtis & Co.

Liberal Is One of Group.

William McChesney Martin Jr., floor member for A. G. Edwards & Sons, St. Louis, known in Wall street for liberal leanings and member of a group which recommended far-reaching administrative changes, including a salaried executive head.

The names of these three came to the front after definite word that Charles R. Gay, now president, at his own request, was out of the running.

Followers of the exchange's affairs noted with interest that the three were associated with commission houses having wide dealings with the public or had out of town affiliations.

Campaign Against Old Guard.

The "liberal" wing which had been campaigning in opposition to the "old guard" for new exchange leadership mostly has included representatives of some of the big wire houses depending on extensive public patronage.

Selections of the nominating committee will be put up to the membership for approval early in May and then the new board of governors, reduced in numbers under the new program, will select the president to serve as a professional salaried executive under the board. An official slate of thirty-three candidates for governors must be chosen.

TEXAS UTILITY FILES $19,500,000 OF NEW LOANS

The San Antonio Public Service company, a subsidiary of the American Light and Traction company, has filed a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange commission covering $17,000,000 of 4 per cent first mortgage bonds, due in 1963, and $2,500,000 of 4 per cent serial notes, due 1939-'48.

The proceeds would be used to redeem $5,500,000 of 6 per cent first mortgage and refunding bonds, series A; to redeem the $11,000,000 5 per cent first mortgage and refunding bonds, series B; to redeem $984,000 of 5 per cent first mortgage bonds of the San Antonio Gas and Electric company, and to redeem $984,000 of 5 per cent first mortgage bonds of the San Antonio Traction company. The remainder would be used for general corporate purposes.

The Mellon Securities corporation and Dillon, Read & Co. will head the underwriting group.

Byllesby Asks Exemption from Holding Company Act

Washington, D. C., April 6.—[Special.—The Byllesby corporation, Wilmington, Del., has filed an application with the Securities and Exchange commission under the public utility holding company act for an order declaring it not to be a holding company.

Intermediate Credit Bank Loan Is Sold at Premium

New York, April 6.—(AP)—Charles R. Dunn, fiscal agent, today announced the sale of $24,000,000 of federal intermediate credit bank 1½ per cent debentures maturing in six to 12 months from April 15. The issue brought a slight premium over par.

STEEL INGOT OUTPUT FOR FIRST QUARTER LOWEST SINCE 1934

New York, April 6.—(AP)—Open harth and Bessemer steel ingot production during the first quarter of 1938 totaled 5,447,351 gross tons, or 31.57 per cent of capacity, the American Iron and Steel institute reported today. The quarterly output was lowest since that of the final quarter of 1934—5,056,784 gross tons. It was 22 per cent lower than for the last quarter of 1937—7,018,713 gross tons—and 62 per cent below the first quarter last year when 14,354,969 gross tons were produced.

Ingot production during March totaled 2,011,840 gross tons, 33.84 per cent of capacity, an increase of 18 per cent over February's 1,703,245 gross tonnage [31.73 per cent of capacity]. The March total was 61 per cent below that of March, 1937, when output reached 89.90 per cent of capacity with 5,216,243 gross tons.

The weekly ingot production average for March was 454,140 gross tons, compared with 425,811 for February and 1,177,481 for March, 1937.

U. S. AIRCRAFT EXPORTS SHOW FEBRUARY GAIN

Washington, D. C., April 6.—[Special.] — Total aeronautical exports from the United States in February amounted to $5,152,583, an increase of 61 per cent over January exports and a gain of 74 per cent over February, 1937, the department of commerce reported today. Aeronautical exports in the first two months of this year totaled $8,342,864, compared with $4,648,498 in the 1937 period. The largest increases were made in airplane parts and parachutes. Exports of parachutes increased from $924 in the first two months of 1937 to $42,529 in the 1938 period.

Exports of all goods to Mexico in February declined nearly $800,000 from the corresponding month last year and imports from Mexico were valued at $1,267,000 less than in February, 1937.

With a drop in total world imports from $277,709,000 in February, 1937, to $163,085,000 in the corresponding month this year, import trade declined with all important geographical divisions. Exports rose from $233,125,000 in February, 1937, to $262,733,000 last February.

DOLLAR VALUE RISES; LONDON SILVER LOWER

The dollar advanced moderately in terms of leading European currencies yesterday. The French franc closed 0.01 of a cent lower at 3.08½ cents, and the pound sterling slipped ¼ of a cent to $4.96¼.

The Netherlands guilder lost 0.02 cent, the Swiss franc 0.01 cent, and the Belgian belga 0.00½ cent. Pressure on European money was attributed to uncertainties over the fate of Premier Leon Blum's financial program in the French senate.

The price of silver closed at 42.44 cents an ounce in London, off 0.31 cent. The United States treasury renewed its bid of 43 cents an ounce for foreign silver.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported the engagement of $600,000 of gold in England for shipment to the United States.

LISTS 10 MILLIONS OF LIABILITIES, HOLDS $23.50 CASH

Jacob L. Kesner, once one of Chicago's largest real estate owners, who recently filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy, yesterday scheduled liabilities exceeding ten million dollars and listed only $23.50 cash on hand.

The Kesner schedule, filed by his attorney, Julius Moses, in the clerk's office of the United States District court, disclosed total liabilities of $10,103,054. Of this amount $3,599,462 is secured by real estate collateral and the remainder, approximately $6,500,000, is unsecured.

Car, Truck Shipments Rise, but Are Below Year Ago

New York, April 6.—[Special.]—Motor vehicle shipments in March totaled 235,000 cars and trucks, a gain of 16 per cent compared with 202,872 in February, but 55 per cent below shipments of 519,022 in March, 1937, preliminary estimates of the Automobile Manufacturers' association disclosed today.

AUBURN AUTO'S LOSS FOR YEAR IS $3,424,612

The Auburn Automobile company and subsidiaries, now being reorganized under section 77B of the amended bankruptcy act, yesterday reported for the year ended Nov. 30, 1937, a consolidated net loss of $3,424,612. This included deductions for depreciation, amortization, equity in losses of subsidiaries, guaranteed preferred dividends on Lycoming Motor preferred stock and extraordinary losses resulting from the discontinuance of automobile manufacturing. The loss in the preceding fiscal year was $1,522,844.

Once an important company in the automobile industry, the Auburn company no longer manufactures cars. When its affairs were directed by E. L. Cord, stock of the company was the subject of wide fluctuations in the stock market.

Gross sales last year amounted to $3,416,198, against net sales of $8,288,264 in the year ended Nov. 30, 1936.

The balance sheet as of Nov. 30, 1937, showed cash of $76,521, inventories of $387,023 and total current assets of $740,412. Current liabilities totaled $845,373 of which the largest item was $458,000 of accumulated sinking fund requirements on the convertible 4¾ per cent debentures. Total assets were $3,896,270. As of Nov. 30, 1936, current assets included $969,293 cash and $2,211,031 inventories and current liabilities totaled $1,003,471, while assets totaled $9,203,568.

The report stated that as of Feb. 28, 1938, the Cord corporation owned 1,526,913 of Auburn's convertible debentures and 65,124 shares of Auburn capital stock.

Checker Cab Manufacturing company and subsidiaries reported for the year ended Dec. 31, 1937, net loss of $308,170, against a net profit of $650,644 for 1936. For the three months ended Dec. 31, 1937, net loss was $33,485 against a net profit of $44,181 in the last quarter of 1936.

R. H. Macy Profit Lower.

R. H. Macy & Co., Inc., reported net profit of $4,179,959, equal to $2.52 a share, in the fiscal year of 52 weeks ended Jan. 29, compared with $4,604,908, equal when computed on the same share basis to $2.72 a share, in the preceding fiscal year.

The Mead corporation, manufacturer of paper and paper products, reported for the fiscal year ended Dec. 25, 1937, net profit of $1,841,000, equal to $2.39 a share, against $955,020 or $1.22 a share in the preceding fiscal year.

The Woodward Iron company for the quarter ended March 31, 1938, had a net profit of $287,390, equal to $1.06 a share, get a net profit of $400,166, equal to $2.25 a share, in the first quarter of 1937.

Walgreen Co. Sales Decline During March

Sales of the Walgreen company, large drug store chain, were slightly smaller last month than in March, 1937, the company reported yesterday. It was the first time since November, 1936, that sales had not been larger than those of the corresponding month of the preceding year.

Most other chain store organizations reported substantial declines in sales. The fact that Easter buying boosted business in March of last years and not this year, because of the lateness of the holiday, contributed to the size of the declines. Only two—Sun Ray Drug company and Western Auto Supply company—of the eleven chain organization announcing figures were able to show a gain over a year ago.

Month's Decline Is Small.

Walgreen sales amounted to $5,564,704 last month, 0.8 of 1 per cent below $5,610,190 in March, 1937. For the three months ended March 31 sales were 1.4 per cent ahead of those in the first quarter of last year, $16,369,202, against $16,150,746.

F. W. Woolworth company reported sales were 11.1 per cent less in March than in the corresponding 1937 month, amounting to $22,054,722, against $24,814,538. The three month total was $61,266,092, or 3.1 per cent less than the $63,222,862 sales in the first quarter of 1937.

March sales of the S. S. Kresge company were $10,561,188, a decline of 16.4 per cent from $12,634,506 a year ago. For the three months through March the decline was 8.9 per cent.

Western Auto Supply.

Western Auto Supply sales in March were 3.9 per cent higher than a year ago. The increase for the first quarter this year was 2.5 per cent. Sun Ray Drug had a March gain of 9.2 per cent. The three month total was 8.1 per cent above the first quarter of 1937.

R. H. Macy & Co., Inc., reported sales of $90,980,960 in the fiscal year of 52 weeks ended Jan. 29, compared with $87,239,606 in the preceding year. Sales including those of affiliated stores were $135,871,800, compared with $130,411,311 in the preceding year.

J. J. Newberry sales dipped 17.2 per cent in March and 8.6 per cent for the first three months this year. Respective declines for G. C. Murphy company were 17.6 and 8.1 per cent.

TRADING IN MARCH STORAGE EGGS RISES TO NEW 1938 PEAK

Trading in and deliveries of March storage packed egg contracts established a new record on the Chicago Mercantile exchange this year, Lloyd S. Tenny, business manager, announced yesterday. Trading involved 7,356,000 dozens of eggs, and deliveries of 3,996,000 dozen were made in settlement of the contracts.

The record interest in the March delivery was attributed to the spread that existed at times between prices of the future contract and of current receipts. The March future ranged between 18⅜ cents and 20⅛ cents a dozen, and fresh eggs in the Chicago wholesale market ranged between 15 and 22½ cents per dozen.

RAILWAY COURT TO BE PROPOSED BY ROOSEVELT

One Step in Plans to Aid Carriers.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 6.—President Roosevelt will propose the creation of a special unit with judicial or quasi-judicial powers to speed reorganization of railroads and expedite solution of other railway problems, it was learned today.

The unit, which may take the form of a special court or a board within the interstate commerce commission, will be the most important feature of his impending special message to congress, which will seek relief for the 26 billion dollar railroad industry.

The creation of the unit is recommended in the report which the President ordered prepared by three members of the interstate commerce commission after meetings with representatives of railroad management, labor, and financiers.

Prepared by I. C. C. Members.

Roosevelt has been studying the report and discussing it with interested groups since it was submitted to him during his ten day vacation at Warm Springs, Ga. The report was prepared by Interstate Commerce Commission Chairman Walter W. M. Splawn and Commissioners Joseph B. Eastman and Charles D. Mahaffie. The report has not yet been made public.

The three commissioners urged the creation of a court or special board to cut through the law's delays toward voluntary reorganization. It was suggested that congress provide that appeal from the unit's decisions be direct to federal Circuit Courts of Appeal, so that creditors would be afforded an avenue for speedy settlement of their problems rather than the cumbersome method which exists at present.

Other Parts of Plan.

Other features of the plan are:

1. Establishment of a transportation board which would be purely a study body striving for the formulation of transportation policies looking toward coördination of all forms of transportation and the elimination of unnecessary duplication. The board, it is believed, conceivably may grow into a transportation department.

2. Facilitation of loans. One suggestion is abolition of the present requirement that the I. C. C. must pass on the question whether a line needs reorganization before it can get money.

3. Easing of provisions for R. F. C. loans to railroads.

4. Modification of the bankruptcy act to facilitate reorganization procedure, particularly with a view toward preventing a small group of security holders from delaying reorganization.

5. Recommendations for accomplishing consolidations.

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 6.—With demand drying up, small offerings were sufficient to weaken stock prices today. Net losses in most instances ranged from fractions to around two points. The turnover was 475,760 shares, smallest in three weeks.

Most of the day's business news was held to be of little consequence as far as price making was concerned. On the other hand, Wall street paid a good deal of attention to the railroad situation and its effect on business in general. It was held their precarious position will act as a check on the market.

Opening prices were irregularly lower and losses were extended until around midday. Toward the close prices moved up feebly from their lows.

Stocks which were in most demand on Tuesday were under the greatest pressure today. U. S. Steel common, Bethlehem and National showed the way with losses of more than one point each. Other steels lost fractions.

Coppers were weak as a group, American Smelting, Anaconda, International Nickel and Kennecott losing 1 to 2 points. Motors followed other leading industrials, but the majority held their losses to fractions. Chrysler, however, gave up 1⅜.

Further affected by an estimated drop in car loadings, carrier shares gave ground. Southern Pacific dropped 1 point and New York Central lost ¾. Somewhat smaller losses appeared in the majority of others.

American Telephone and Telegraph again was prominent, this time for reversing its recent climb. At its lowest point it was down 3 points, but it came back toward the close to shave its loss to 2⅛ points.

New York Bonds.

New York, April 6.—(AP)—The bond market resumed its downward trend today after four consecutive rallying sessions. As measured by the Associated Press averages the utilities alone of the four major domestic groups withstood increased offerings and emerged with a net gain of 0.2 of a point.

Bond brokers said realization that the nation's railroad problems would not be solved as easily as some had believed touched off renewed liquidation in that group.

United States government obligations followed the general trend, but here and there buyers were willing to bid for specified maturities and there were a few gains of 1-32d to 5-32d point.

German General Electric 6s advanced 2 points to 45; Poland 7s were 1⅝ higher at 65, and Italian 7s were higher by 1 at 78.

Chicago Stocks.

Stocks closed irregular on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday after the lightest trading in any full session this year. Only 11,000 shares changed hands, compared with 17,000 Tuesday. Of the sixty-two issues traded twenty advanced, seventeen declined, and twenty-five finished unchanged.

Marshall Field common, the most active issue, closed unchanged at 7⅛, and Commonwealth Edison common, the next most active issue, eased ⅛ to 23¼. Trane company common fell a full point to 14½.

Bank Stocks.

Except for First National and Continental Illinois National bank shares, Chicago bank stock quotations yesterday were unchanged from Tuesday. First National slumped $7 a share to $167 bid, $171 asked. Continental eased $1 to $57 bid, $59 asked.

WHEAT WEAKENS ON EXPORT SAG, CROP OUTLOOK

Favorable reports on the outlook for the winter wheat crop including additional moisture received over the larger part of the producing area, and a continued slow export demand resulted in all deliveries of that grain selling yesterday at new low levels for the season. The May option declined 1 cent a bushel at its weakest time to 80⅞ cents, the lowest price for that delivery since 1934. Houses which frequently act for exporters took the buying side on the break, and a rally followed. The general wheat market closed ⅛ to ½ cent net lower.

Liquidation sent soy bean futures 4 cents a bushel lower, the permissible limit for one day, and into new low ground since June, 1936. The market has been out of line with soy bean product prices, it was said.

Corn declined early, then rallied on buying attributed to exporters and closed ⅛ to ¼ cent higher. Oats were ⅛ cent higher to ⅛ cent lower. Rye was ⅜ to ½ cent lower. All deliveries of rye sold at new lows for the season.

Commodities

Crude rubber futures were firm yesterday, but nearly all other commodity prices continued to sink below their low points of last week. Rubber closed 0.08 to 0.13 cent higher with the May contract closing at 11.09 cents a pound compared with its close at 11 cents on Tuesday.

Copper was irregular and most other nonferrous metals declined. Copper futures closed 0.03 cent higher to 0.06 lower with the May delivery at 8.57 cents.

The Dow-Jones commodity futures index closed at 48.88, off 0.19. The Associated Press weighted index of 35 wholesale commodity prices advanced 0.16 to 68.14, the first rise since last Saturday.

Butter and egg futures slipped into new low ground for the season on the Chicago Mercantile exchange, the November delivery on storage butter closing at 26⅜, a drop of ½ cent. Weaker cash markets and reports of increased production were adverse factors. Losses in the cash market ranged to a full cent on grades below 92-score, and extras were fractionally lower.

Refrigerator eggs for October delivery declined ⅛ cent a dozen, and the April and May contracts in the storage packed firsts each closed ⅛ cent lower. The cash market was irregular.

BUSINESS IS FAIR, SOME FIRMS TELL STOCKHOLDERS

Discuss Present Trends at Annual Meetings.

Business of several large companies in the first quarter of this year is holding up well as compared with the first part of 1937, company officials told stockholders yesterday at annual meetings. Earnings estimates made for other companies indicated substantial revenes despite the recession.

Robert Mandel, chairman of the board of Mandel Brothers, Inc., told the stockholders at the company's meeting that sales in the first two months of its fiscal year, which were without the stimulus of Easter buying, were but 3.8 per cent below the volume for the first two months of 1937. Making a comparison, he said unofficial figures of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank indicated that department stores sales in Chicago for the two month period were down 12.6 per cent from a year earlier and department store sales for the entire Chicago federal reserve district were down 14 per cent.

Showing Considered Good.

Commenting on his company's small decline in sales volume in the two months following Jan. 31, Mandel said a considerable part of the drop could be attributed to the fact that Easter is in April this year whereas in 1937 it was in March. Since the Easter business is one of the best periods of the year for a department store, he said, this year's sales showing is viewed as favorable.

Mandel estimated that inventories in the two months ended March 31 were about $400,000 lower than in the corresponding 1937 period, due to a well sustained sales volume and liquidation of stocks since the end of the last fiscal year. He added that expenses are running about $30,000 less than they were a year ago.

First quarter sales of the American Tobacco company were substantially ahead of sales in the first quarter of 1937, Paul H. Hahn, vice president, said at the annual meeting of the company.

Hahn said the depression has stimulated sales of smoking tobacco.

Albert H. Gregg, president of the American Cigarette and Cigar company, a subsidiary, was elected a director to succeed Frank Riggio, who resigned, and Hiram Hanmer, head of the company's research department, was elected a director to succeed the late Roland R. Richards.

Foresees Drop in May Orders.

April business of the Niles-Bement-Pond company, manufacturer of machine tools, is expected to equal the new business transacted in March, while the May orders probably will run below the $521,000 of new orders obtained in May, 1937, Creighton R. Burt, president, told stockholders. He said the company expects its foreign business, which constitutes about half of its total business, to hold at current levels. March business was better than in the first two months, and the first quarter profit totaled about $301,000, against $399,000 a year ago.

Earnings of the National Cash Register company in the first quarter of 1938 were estimated yesterday at about $600,000, or approximately 35 cents a share, against $817,884, or 50 cents a share in the first quarter of 1937.

United Artists corporation in its fiscal year ended April 1 increased its cash receipts $6,017,000 above the year before, George J. Schaeffer, vice president and general manager, stated. He said cash receipts reached an all time high in the first quarter of 1938.

Business Bits

Paul Fielden, president of the National Association of Credit Men, will speak at a meeting of the Credit Women's club of the Chicago Association of Credit Men tonight in the Merchants and Manufacturers club in the Merchandise Mart.

Charles L. Arnold, Cincinnati, director of the Kroger Food foundation, will speak before a luncheon of the Chicago Federated Advertising club this noon in the Morrison hotel. His subject is "Modern Paths to Consumer Acceptance."

Election of Donald P. Hess as president and a director of United American Bosch corporation was announced yesterday. For the last two years Hess has been associated with the Ebco Manufacturing company.

In recognition of his twenty-six years of service Joseph Schneider, oldest National Tea company store manager, was given a banquet last night at the Union League club by officials and members of the supervisory staf of the company.

Three brokerage firm personnel changes were announced yesterday. Richard E. Vollertsen, formerly president of Vollertsen & Co., has become associated with Sincere & Co. Evar L. Lindler, previously with Riter & Co., is in charge of the Jackson & Curtis trading department. William B. Healy now is associated with I. Newton Perry & Co.

Karl G. Hauch, Charles L. Kluss, J. R. Wheeler, and Reynold S. Smith Jr. and associates announce formation of Karl G. Hauch & Associates, Inc., to provide facilities for investment research, analysis, planning, and supervision of investment accounts for banks, financial institutions, and indivduals. The firm will not participate in underwriting or dealing in securites.

The American Petroleum institute announced appointment of R. C. Osterstrom of the Pure Oil company and H. B. Pullar of the Berry Asphalt company as Chicago members of its 1938 committee on testing methods and specifications. F. W. Sullivan Jr. of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana has been named a member of the 1938 program committee of the institute's division of refining.

ROTHSCHILD FAMILY SUES FOR U. S. ASSETS OF CONFISCATED BANK

Baron Eugene de Rothschild.

New York, April 6.—[Special.]—The Rothschild family filed suit in Supreme court here today to save American assets of its Vienna bank from confiscation by the German Nazi government.

The suit, for $3,260,183, was filed by Baron Eugene de Rothschild, head of the Paris branch of the family, against his brother, Baron Louis von Rothschild of Vienna, and the Viennese banking firm of S. M. von Rothschild. Baron Louis von Rothschild was arrested shortly after the Nazis seized Austria and the deposits of his bank were confiscated.

Supreme Court Justice Frankenthaler issued a writ of attachment which has been served on several of the city's largest banks, tying up all funds of the Vienna bank on deposit with them. The complaint charges that the $3,260,183 represents money and securities which Baron Eugene de Rothschild had on deposit in his brother's bank on March 10, the day of the Austrian annexation.

'STORM MARKET' BOOSTS PRICE OF ALL LIVE STOCK

All live stock and most classes of meats sold strong to higher on yesterday's "storm markets." Supplies at the stockyards were drastically reduced by heavy snows in areas tributary to Chicago. Prospects of light receipts for the remainder of the week due to forecasts of more snow caused all buyers to bid for meat animals at the higher prices.

Hog receipts were cut below any corresponding period on record. Although storms were mostly to blame for the light run, the recent price declines were also an influence. The supply of about 6,000 hogs for sale after "directs" had been deducted was cleared quickly at 10 to 25 cent higher prices per 100 pounds. Largest gains were in light new crop stock.

The market for cattle reached the highest price levels of the year, practically all classes except top steers and best hefers selling at the new 1938 peaks on small receipts. Advances ranged from 10 to 25 cents, stock above $9 showing more gain than cheaper steers. Beef cows, hefers, calves, stockers, and feeders were strong to 25 cents higher.

Lambs were strong to 10 cents higher in a lively session. Four carloads topped at $9.10.

STEEL OUTPUT DIPS THIS WEEK, SAYS IRON AGE

A decline of 3 points in steel production this week to 32½ per cent of capacity reflected the irregular flow of business under present uncertain conditions, Iron Age said yesterday.

"It seems unlikely that April production will rise much, if any, above the March rate," said the review. "Without support from the automobile industry and the railroads, and with only moderate aid from building construction, the steel industry is largely dependent on the miscellaneous industries, of which the farm implement and tractor manufacturers are giving the best support, relatively."

Chicago output dipped 1½ points to 31 per cent of capacity.

Steel scrap prices have declined again, reflecting the uncertain outlook and dropping off of export orders which had been acting as a prop for prices. The Iron Age composite is at $12.83 a ton, 9 cents under the lowest level reached in 1937.

POWER OUTPUT GAINS SLIGHTLY IN LAST WEEK

Production of electricity in the United States last week increased slightly from the preceding week and made a better showing against year ago figures, the Edison Electric institute reported yesterday.

The total output was 1,978,753,000 kilowatt hours in the week ended April 2, a decline of 7.8 per cent from the 2,146,959,000 kilowatt hour production of the corresponding week in 1937. In the week ended March 26 output was 1,975,239,000 kilowatt hours, a decrease of 10.2 per cent from the corresponding week last year.

The electricity output of the Commonwealth Edison company group in the Chicago area amounted to 121,517,000 kilowatt hours. This was 11.3 per cent below the 137,049,000 kilowatt hours in the corresponding 1937 week. The March 26 week output of 123,342,000 kilowatt hours was 11.5 per cent less than in the corresponding week of last year.

Board of Trade Suspends Marks, Laser; 3 Members

Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday suspended Marks, Laser & Co., and three members of the firm from privileges of the exchange for failure to pay a $27,500 judgment obtained against the company by the Bunge North American company. The judgment was awarded by the exchange's arbitration committee which held Marks, Laser & Co. was liable for a loss incurred by Bunge North American in the disposal of 500,000 bushels of cash rye for the account of Marks, Laser & Co.

Cheese Making Restrained by Kraft's Patent Suit

Danville, Ill., April 6.—(AP)—Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley issued today a temporary restraining order preventing the Middle States Cheese and Butter Manufacturing company of Shelbyville, Ill., from producing a certain type of cheese upon which the Kraft-Phenix Cheese corporation of Chicago claimed patent rights.

MEXICO TO PAY FOR OIL PROPERTY OUT OF EXPORTS

Would Apply 20 Pct. of Receipts on Debt.

MEXICO CITY, April 6.—(AP)—The Mexican government announced today that 20 per cent of gross receipts from sales abroad of its excess crude oil would be used toward payment for properties it expropriated from American and British companies March 18.

The announcement came as two foreign promoters—Francis W. Rickett of Great Britain and Bernard E. Smith, New York stock broker, were negotiating with Mexican officials to buy a part of the government's oil output. Unconfirmed reports were that Rickett and Smith were near an agreement with the Mexican government for purchase of some of the oil which has been collecting in storage tanks since President Lazaro Cardenas issued his expropriation decree.

Ordered by President.

The government press department disclosed that the president himself had ordered the government company formed to handle export oil sales to deposit 20 per cent of receipts in the National Bank of Labor credit. The deposits would "constitute a fund for indemnification and be used for payment for the expropriated properties," the press department said. The value of the seized properties has been estimated at $400,000,000.

Payments to the companies, it added, would start "as soon as agreements are reached with the interested companies fixing the amount to be paid." It was said the finance ministry later would fix the percentage of domestic sales to be devoted to the same purpose.

In Guadalajara yesterday Archbishop Garibi y Rivera urged Catholics of Mexico to raise a fund to help reimburse the oil companies for their seized property. Archbishop Luis Martinez of Mexico City gave his approval of the appeal.

Value of Peso Rises.

The value of the peso climbed sharply today, closing at 4.00 and 4.10 to the dollar in comparison with yesterday's close of 4.25 to 4.30. Some bankers credited the peso's rise to reports that Rickett and Smith had brought $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 to Mexico as a guarantee for an expected oil purchase contract.

Government sources asserted Mexico had received more than fifty offers to buy oil since the expropriation, but that none of the offers had been accepted.

Reliable quarters said Rickett and Smith had offered to pay 63 cents a barrel for 25,000,000 barrels of crude oil, which would total $15,750,000.

The world market price for crude oil averages about one dollar a barrel. It was presumed Rickett and Smith would have to pay an export tax, currently 25 cents a barrel, making the total 88 cents per barrel.

W. R. Davis of New York City, who some months ago sold the Mexican government $1,080,000 worth of drilling and pipe line equipment in return for government oil, disclosed he was negotiating for $2,500,000 more oil from wells operated by the government before expropriation.

Investors' Guide

Consider Safety.

Investors' Guide: I am a stenographer working for $15 a week. I find that I can save approximately $2.50 a week. I would like to invest the money I save and I wonder if you can give me any suggestions.—Miss R. G.

Answer: A person in your position requires safety of principal first of all. Until you accumulate a large enough fund that you can afford to take some degree of risk, we urge that you do not give too much consideration to the rate of interest you receive. Think only of the safety of whatever investment you make.

Our suggestion would be for you to place your funds in a savings account in a good bank or in postal savings until you have accumulated enough money to buy a safe bond. You might also care to consider an endowment insurance policy or an annuity.

Gulf States Steel.

Investors' Guide: The Gulf States Steel company has a 4½ per cent bond which has recently sold for about 88 cents on the dollar. Please tell me about this bond.—T. T. T.

Answer: Gulf States Steel 4½ per cent bonds of 1961 are secured by a direct first mortgage on almost all the property formerly owned by the Gulf States Steel company. The property includes all the lands and interest in lands and plants, improvements and equipment comprising the Gadsden, Ala., works. Coal and iron properties also are pledged. There are $7,000,000 of the bonds outstanding.

As of April 7, 1937, the Gulf States Steel company was merged with the Republic Steel corporation and the bonds were assumed by Republic. Republic covered fixed charges 2.83 times in 1937 and 2.95 times in 1936.

General Motors.

Investors' Guide: Last fall I bought ten shares of General Motors stock for $40 a share. As you know, it has gone down below what I paid for it. Would it be a good idea for me to buy ten more shares and thereby lower the average price per share of the stock I hold?—W. B. D.

Answer: You should consider a second commitment in General Motors stock as an entirely new purchase which should be considered independently of your first purchase. Your decision should be based on whether you think General Motors is a good purchase at its present price.

Your guess is as good as ours on whether this stock will advance or decline. It has been a lot higher, as well as a lot lower. It sold as high as 77 in 1936 and as low as 7⅝ in 1932.

Union Bag and Paper corporation, said first quarter profits of his company may be greater than the $326,917 which it earned in the three months ended March 31, 1937. He said bag sales in January and February this year were approximately equal to the corresponding months last year and that March business ran ahead of February this year.

Earnings of the Chase National bank, New York, in the first quarter of 1938 were estimated at 44 cents a share, against 51 cents a share in the corresponding 1937 period.

TRADE PROGRAM IS INCONSISTENT, FRAZIER CHARGES

Washington, D. C., April 6.—(AP)—Senator Frazier [R., N. D.] told government tarif experts today that the administration's reciprocal trade agreement program is inconsistent with the government's farm and relief policies.

Opposing concessions on seed potatoes in a revised trade agreement with Canada, Frazier characterized as "insane" a situation whereby he said "one department of government is paying farmers to reduce their acreage of potatoes while another department is planning to let more in from Canada."

Charles W. Holman, secretary of the National Coöperative Milk Producers' federation, testified it was "foolish for the government to be buying surplus dairy products for relief distribution and then let down the import bars to permit further surpluses to be created."

ROPER ADMITS FEAR OF U. S. ACTS HITS RECOVERY

Washington, D. C., April 6.—[Special.]—Fear of what the federal administration may do next is one of the factors in the attitude of business and industry which retards recovery, Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper said at his press conference today.

"Do you believe it is the duty of the administration to arrest that fear?" he was asked.

"I believe it is the duty of everybody to do all that they can to develop confidence," he replied.

Roper asserted that one way to aid recovery would be "to pass the necessary legislation as quickly as possible and let the people know the legislative program is through."

Although he said he favored "constructive spending" by the government, Secretary Roper emphasized that it was more the function of government to "prompt" the spending of money than to do the spending itself.

STATE DEMANDS 7% RETURN FROM ILLINOIS CENTRAL

Accounting Suit Asked by Gov. Horner.

Atty. Gen. Kerner.

An answer is expected from the Illinois Central railroad today to charges by Gov. Horner yesterday that the carrier is not paying the state 7 per cent of the gross receipts from its charter lines, as is required under an 80 year old special charter.

The governor said he had requested Attorney General Otto Kerner to bring an accounting suit against the road. He added that in seeking to determine the accounting methods by which it computed its payments to the state, a number of questions had been put to the road, but that these interrogatories had not been fully answered.

Answers Unsatisfactory.

"The answers," the governor said, "failed to satisfy us that the methods it employs in computing the earnings of the charter lines are equitable and fair. For this reason, and because the answers of the railroad company concerning its system of accounting have been unresponsive and evasive, I have asked the attorney general to bring suit.

"If the company had not evidenced so much reluctance to demonstrate its method of accounting and had shown a greater willingness to coöperate, suit might not have been necessary."

In the absence of L. A. Downs, president of the road, J. L. Beven, senior vice president, said yesterday no statement could be made, but that one probably will be made today when Downs returns to the city.

Several Disputes in Past.

At various times since the special charter between the state and the Illinois Central was signed in 1857, disputes have arisen as to how much the carrier has owed and the accounting process by which it was computed.

"The railroad," Gov. Horner explained in a statement accompanying his announcement, "was chartered by act of the general assembly in 1857. The state at that time granted it more than 2,595,000 acres of land, in consideration of which the road agreed to pay the 7 per cent of gross revenue, and its charter lines were forever exempted from taxation as an aid to assist it in constructing its system.

"In subsequent years a portion of the lands so granted the company by the state have been sold for approximately $30,000,000. In early days the computation of the 7 per cent was easily determined. With the growth of the company, the construction of connecting lines, and the extension of its rails beyond the boundaries of the state, the leasing of trackage from other companies or its acquisition of controling interests in other companies, and all the other developments consequent upon the expansion of the system into one of the nation's largest railroad systems, the computation of the account has become an involved and complicated problem."

the elimination of duplication of various facilities as well as advancing steps for consolidations to follow.

Since his return here Roosevelt has conferred with representatives of the industry. Their reaction to the report has been that it does not give an early solution of the present problems. The committee was ordered to confine itself to the immediate plight of the roads and to disregard the long range problems as much as they possibly could.

Railroad representatives put a batch of suggestions in the President's lap. Others have come to him from various directions. Any message he may send to congress will probably be tempered by all the suggestions which have been given him.

One suggestion—a proposal for an outright subsidy for the railroads—was rejected yesterday by the President. He said the government could not afford to grant such a subsidy because every other industry would come forward with palms outstretched for federal money.

Criticism Delays Publication.

The criticism which has been directed from within the industry at the I. C. C. report is believed to be responsible for its suppression to date. Roosevelt said the report would be made public during his stay at Warm Springs. When it was not released within a week he said that it would be made public on his return to the capital. Yesterday he said that it would probably be made public when his message goes to congress. If it is withheld until such date it will most likely be neglected, as attention is focusing on the message itself.

No hint was given as to when the message itself can be expected. Advisers close to the White House have urged the President to forget the message and let congress digest what is now before it.

Employment on Railroads Drops to 927,308 in March

Washington, D. C., April 6.—(AP)—Class 1 steam railways employed 927,308 persons in March, a decrease 12,355 or 1.3 per cent from February, 1938, and a decrease of 173,695 or 15.8 per cent from March, 1937.
